DIRECTOR’S REPORT:
Important Dates: The Friends Book It! 5K Walk/Run is May 18. All Libraries are closed May 27. On June 8, RCL kicks off the Summer Learning Program at RCL-Roseville with events for children from 10:00 a.m.-1:00 p.m. and a teen event from 4:00 p.m.-7:00 p.m.

Community Resource Advocates Impact – Pete Hedberg, Circulation Supervisor at RCL-Maplewood, coordinates the twice-weekly Community Resource Advocates (CRA) program at RCL-Maplewood and RCL-Roseville. This program has a transformative impact on patrons. Here is a recent account from our key program partner, David Katzenmeyer, of People Incorporated:

Roughly two years ago a young lady experiencing homelessness came into Maplewood CRA. At the time we helped her get connected to youth outreach services (YMCA) and were able to help her get into a more stable situation. I hadn’t seen or heard from her in at least a year, until about a month ago when she came into Maplewood CRA asking for help. She was 7 months pregnant, living in her vehicle (often parking at the Maplewood Transit Center overnight), and (amazingly) maintaining part time employment. Unfortunately, when you are pregnant, it can be complicated to access shelter or housing because you fall in between the families and the singles systems. Without going into much detail, it took several calls and lots of advocacy to figure this out, but we did and we were able to get her referred to a transitional housing program that accepts women who are pregnant. She just officially moved in yesterday, one month from her due date, and she was beaming as she was telling me about it. She can live there for two years while she works on finding a more permanent solution.

To me, the most powerful part of this story is that when she came into CRA for the second time, after not seeing her for over a year, she told me she came in because she knew there would be someone to help. It is just a testament how powerful the consistency of the program and everything that the people who support it at the library do to support it can be. It has made an immense impact in the lives of many, and in this case, was instrumental in giving a young lady a chance to start out motherhood in a more stable and comfortable situation. Anyway, working with this person has been a powerful and rewarding experience for me, and I just wanted to share that with you all who helped make it happen, and as a way to say thank you.

Thank you, David, Pete, and all partners who support Community Resource Advocates at the Library!

Summer Learning Program – From June through August 17, the Library’s Summer Learning Program will inspire children and teens to read, explore, create, and discover. This year, we encourage all participants to use the Beanstack Tracker app or website to track activities and prizes. The Library offers fun learning opportunities and chances for giveaways for all ages. The Summer Learning Program is made possible by major support from the Friends of the Ramsey County Libraries, with additional support from MELSA, the Arts and Cultural Heritage Fund, the Twins, and the Minnesota State Fair. Kudos to RCL Children’s and Teen Librarians and Communications staff for producing this dynamic set of programs and all of the stunning promotional materials, which are hot off the press!

Public Health Collaborations – The Library has initiated exciting new collaborations with Ramsey County Public Health. The Children’s Team has developed a partnership with Ramsey County Public Health nurses, who will help promote 1,000 Books Before Kindergarten at home Well Baby Visits. The Library is also discussing opportunities for Public Health staff to join the Library’s Community Resource Advocates drop-in programs, in order to help support patrons experiencing homelessness, chemical abuse, and other public health concerns.

Summer Meals – The Library is pleased to once again offer free summer meals at RCL-Maplewood and RCL-Roseville. This federally-funded program is an extension of the school lunch program, which helps children receive the nutrition they need to achieve. Anyone 18 years old or younger is eligible on a first-come, first-served basis to take part. The Library partners with Youthprise and St. Paul Public Schools to deliver the program. RCL-Maplewood will serve lunch and afternoon snack Monday through Thursday. RCL-Roseville will offer a late, cold lunch Monday through Friday at 3:50 p.m. See the Explore article for full details.

Honoring Retirees and Years of Staff Service – The Ramsey County Board of Commissioners, along with County Manager Ryan O’Connor, celebrated Ramsey County retirees and staff reaching milestone years of service at a reception on May 13 at Keller Golf Course Clubhouse. At this fun event, nine Library staff were recognized for having reached milestones of 20, 25, or 30 years of service in 2018. Two Library retirees from 2018 with more than 21 years of service were also recognized. Cheers to all for your service and recognition. It was a pleasure to celebrate with you!
FRIENDS OF THE RAMSEY COUNTY LIBRARIES REPORT:

Friends Take Trip Down Memory Lane—40th Anniversary Gathering - More than 75 guests attended the Friends 40th Anniversary Celebration held on April 22, 2019 at Ramsey County Library-Shoreview. The informative and entertaining speakers—Norman Vinnes, Metta Fridley, Heidi Holland and Nancy Guerino—provided a window into the challenges of 1979 that gave rise to the Friends organization. Since that time, the Friends have contributed more than $3.5 million to support Ramsey County Library programs, services, amenities and collections. In 2018, the Friends contributed more than $179,000 to help make an extraordinary library system even better.

Willems made a motion to accept the Friends of the Ramsey County Library donation of $33,000 to enhance the Library’s collection, and the Friends’ grant of $29,000 for history and community well-being programs and books for the 2019 Summer Reading Program. Hakes seconded the motion, which was unanimously approved.

OUTREACH & ENGAGEMENT UPDATE:
Carly Sanft, Outreach Librarian, and Marcus Lowry, Engagement Team Chair, were present to update the Library Board on recent and upcoming activities.

Outreach to underserved communities continues to drive the engagement strategies. Services to new and settled immigrant groups, seniors, and non-library users are the current focus. Staff strive to understand the broader geo-political and historical context of the region, and how that impacts communities’ experiences both within and beyond engagement with libraries.

Pop-Up Library activities - The Pop-Up Library is preparing for a busy summer season, while establishing new partnerships and bringing library and technology services to new locations and events.

To increase awareness of Ramsey County Library and its services, the team is expanding its reach to include more cultural and city-wide events. Staff recently attended the Southeast Asian New Year Celebration where they were able to connect with hundreds of local residents from seven different SE Asian cultural groups. In an effort to reach non-library users and immigrant groups, staff will attend WaterFest at Phalen Lake Park, Slice of Shoreview Days, and New Brighton’s Stockyard Days.

The Pop-Up Library is expanding its outreach offerings to provide popular children’s programming in non-traditional library settings to strengthen racial equity and accessibility. In collaboration with Ramsey County Parks and Recreation, the City of Arden Hills, and the City of Roseville, they will offer both afternoon and evening STEAM programs at several county and city parks throughout the summer. They will also lead several storytimes for children attending the Mounds View Festival in the Park and White Bear Township Days.

The team is bolstering outreach efforts for seniors by bringing technology help right to their homes. In addition to connecting with seniors and caregivers at senior resource fairs in Shoreview and Maplewood, the Pop-Up Library is bringing drop-in tech help to the Ramsey County Care Center, RosePointe Senior Living, Terrace Heights Mobile Home Park (MHP), and several other senior housing facilities on a monthly basis. Residents have the opportunity to get one-to-one assistance for their personal devices, or stop by to ask a librarian general technology and information questions.
Select Ramsey County department collaborations:
- RC Corrections - in partnership with SPPL, bi-monthly visits to county corrections with library resources and Parent’s Read program.
- RC Environmental Health - master gardener classes, compost recycling kits.
- RC Lake Owasso Residential Care - library and tech services to residents with developmental disabilities.
- RC Public Health - visiting nurses program promoting 1000 books before Kindergarten.
- RC Care Center - senior resource fair, library and tech services to residents.

The Library Board discussed the goals for the outreach & engagement visits, which can differ for each site. Recruitment of volunteers from sites visited or the local community was also discussed, with plans currently being developed.

Commissioner Reinhardt noted that one of the first Pop-Up Library events attended by staff was the dedication of Ramsey County’s Tuj Lub Courts at Keller Park, and commended the staff for their work.

LITERACY PROGRAMMING UPDATE:
Children’s Services Coordinator Ann Wahlstrom was present to update the Library Board on two initiatives underway, 1,000 Books Before Kindergarten and Beanstack/Summer Reading Program.

1,000 Books Before Kindergarten
She provided background on why the children’s team adopted the 1,000 Books program:
- From the American Academy of Pediatrics (AAP) website: Begin daily shared reading as soon as possible after birth, which “…stimulates optimal patterns of brain development and strengthens parent-child relationships at a critical time in child development, which, in turn, builds language, literacy, and social-emotional skills that last a lifetime.”
- Also according to the AAP, more than 1 in 3 children start kindergarten without the skills they need to be successful.
- Children introduced to reading early tend to read earlier and excel in school.
- Reading is essential for later success in life.
- We want children to be lifelong library users.
- Program is broken up into 5 increments.
  - After 100 books, kids receive a free book
  - After 250 books, kids receive a free book
  - After 500 books, kids receive a free book + magnet + book bag
  - After 750 books, kids receive a free book
  - After 1,000 books, kids receive a free book + t-shirt + certificate
- 1,103 total system wide enrollments.
  - MP - 131
  - MV - 54
  - NB - 120
  - NS - 38
  - RV – 382
  - SV – 235
  - WB - 143
- 13 kids have completed the program.
- Kids under age 5 participating in this program over the summer are also eligible to participate in our main Summer Break reading program.

Beanstack and Summer Reading Program
- The goal of the children’s team is to create a program that facilitates summer fun and learning, and is easy to use for patrons and staff. They will encourage use of the Beanstack App with all families.
• Beanstack Program Details
  o Earn four badges to complete summer reading program and win a free book and entry into weekly prize drawings o There are four types of badges to choose from:
    ✓ Time spent reading
    ✓ Book titles
    ✓ Activities
    ✓ Library program attendance
  o To earn a badge, go to the "Activity Badges" tab in Beanstack, click on the badge you'd like to earn, then complete 3 of the listed activity options.
• Battle Creek Waterpark passes will be given out at “registration” similar to last year.
• State Fair Tickets will be awarded in drawings as “Family Packs.” Drawing prizes also include “Family Pack” tickets to Twins Games and SeaLife Aquarium.
  o The State Fair is no longer giving RCL as many tickets as in years past.
  o “Family Packs” are more equitable to our patrons.
• Use of Beanstack App for tracking the summer reading program will be highly encouraged by staff.
• Paper Activity Logs will be available to those who choose not to use the App and will be similar to activity logs from years past.
• For all kids ages 11 and under.
• TEEN program details:
  o 1st book review will win a bookmark and a State Fair ticket.
  o Weekly drawings: $10 gift card to Target or Barnes and Noble.
  o Next year’s goal is each teen winning a book instead of a State Fair ticket, if funding support can be obtained.

The Library Board discussed the two programs, and suggested potential partnerships and learning-based prizes that could be awarded for the Summer Reading Program.

APPOINT PDQ REVIEWER(S):
Ramsey County is engaged in a project to modernize job classifications and compensation. As part of this process, all Library staff will complete a Position Description Questionnaire (PDQ). Supervisors must review staff questionnaires before they are submitted. The Library Board is asked to appoint a member or members to review and submit the Library Director’s PDQ.

The information provided in the questionnaire will be used as the foundation to develop a new job classification system for Ramsey County that:
• accurately reflects the work of each position.
• ensures pay is competitive and fairly structured.
• updates job descriptions to create better professional development opportunities.
• makes the recruiting and hiring process more efficient and effective.

The project consultant will also analyze compensation at comparable organizations and markets to inform their compensation recommendations.

Timeline:
April 29 - May 24: Employees complete an electronic PDQ.
May 28 - June 21: Supervisors review questionnaires, discuss any questions or comments with employees, and submit the final questionnaires. The electronic form is designed so that supervisors cannot edit fields completed by employees. They can add comments to provide clarification on essential duties or add other information. Supervisors will discuss all comments with employees prior to submitting the final version.
Neblett made a motion to appoint Klausing to serve as the reviewer of the Library Director PDQ, after he indicated his willingness to serve in that role. Chiclana-Ayala seconded the motion, which was approved unanimously.

2019 FIRST QUARTER REPORTS:
On a quarterly basis, Library staff presents several reports to the Library Board for information and discussion. The reports include:
- Workplan Report – prepared by Jill Boldenow, Library Director
- Financial Report – prepared by Mary Larson, Financial Manager
- Statistical Report – prepared by Jeff Eide, Planning & Analysis Manager
- Incident Report – prepared by Cheryl Seidenkranz, Property Manager

The Library Board reviewed the fourth quarter reports as presented.

PUBLIC COMMENT DISCUSSION:
Ly-Xiong asked of Library Board members to consider the Public Comment portion of the agenda, to make it as useful as possible. Timing public comments was considered. No new format or timing was adopted.

RAMSEY COUNTY UPDATE:
Commissioner Reinhardt noted that the first year of the budget process is underway, when departments and teams develop budget requests for County Board approval. The second year of each cycle is reserved for performance measurement. She reported that an Equity section was added to the standard Request for Board Action Form, to ensure that all requests are considered through an equity lens. Ling Becker recently started as the Director of Ramsey County Workforce Solutions. A special election will be held to fill the vacancy on the County Board following the resignation of Blake Huffman.

NEXT MEETING:
June 19, 2019—Ramsey County Library in White Bear Lake, 2150 – 2nd Street, 6:30 p.m.

ADJOURNMENT:
Ly-Xiong adjourned the meeting at 8:30 p.m.

Respectfully Submitted,

Mary Larson
Library Board Coordinator

New Legal Resources — Ramsey County Law Library has allocated $9,000 to purchase materials for Ramsey County Library that will help patrons address legal questions. With these funds, RCL has purchased a new database: Minnesota Legal Forms Library (Gale LegalForms). This database provides a wide selection of state-specific forms across the most popular legal areas including real estate contracts, wills, pre-marital agreements, bankruptcy, divorce, landlord/tenant forms, and more. Funding will also support the purchase of print materials, including guides addressing neighbor law, estate planning, housing questions, and other common legal issues.

This generous support is an extension of a long-standing partnership between RCL and the Ramsey County Law Library. Through this partnership, RCL has engaged the services of the Volunteer Lawyers Network to offer legal help programs, including criminal expungement clinics. We are grateful for Ramsey County Law Library’s latest effort to enhance RCL’s legal help offerings.

Ramsey County Library Cooling Center Plan — Staff in Ramsey County Emergency Management, St. Paul-Ramsey County Public Health, and Ramsey County Library have produced a plan to use libraries as evening cooling centers in a high heat index emergency. RCL-Roseville and RCL-Maplewood are preferred sites. If the high heat index will last later than 2:00 a.m., alternative overnight cooling shelters will be used. RCL-Roseville and RCL-Maplewood served as cooling centers in 2016. The new plan clarifies how we will continue to support this valuable public safety effort.

Best of Show Communications Award — The Minnesota Association of Government Communicators (MAGC) honored an RCL communications campaign with two Northern Lights Awards on May 22. The submission, Meet Sting: The Greyhound, won the Best of Show award, the event’s highest honor! It also won the 1st place award in the Social Media Engagement category.

RCL’s Paws to Read program went viral in 2018 thanks to a dog named Sting. When Sting had no readers on a winter night at RCL-White Bear Lake, his owner, John, posted about it on Facebook with photos of the long-faced dog. This post was shared several thousand times. Communications staff expanded the viral spread of this story – with more than 100,000 social media shares and coverage by the Today Show, KARE 11, KMSP, WCCO, the StarTribune, Pioneer Press, White Bear Press, the Daily Mail UK, and more. The Paws to Read animals were booked solid for months. Congratulations to everyone who supported this campaign, especially Kristi Saksvig, Pa Na Lor, and Ann Wahlström!
Friends Update—June 2019

Friends Welcome New Board President
The Friends are pleased to welcome Ann Trapnell as our new Board President. Ann is an experienced marketing professional with strong leadership, organizational and strategic thinking skills. Ann joined the Friends in 2013, first serving on the Development Committee. She has gifted the organization with her boundless energy and talents as the Chair of the Friends Gala Committee for the past 5 years. Her community work also includes the MN River Valleys Girl Scouts, Turtle Lake Elementary PTA, St. Christopher’s Episcopal Church, and the IBM Leadership Council.

The Friends owe a deep debt of gratitude to Frank Harris for more than 7 years of service on the Board and 6 years of service as Board President. Frank brought more than 40 years of nonprofit leadership and legal expertise to the Friends and led the Board through steady organizational growth. He also shared both wit and charm as the emcee of numerous Friends events over the years. We are happy to report that while he is passing the leadership baton to Ann, he will remain on the Friends Board of Directors and will serve an additional year on the Executive Committee to support this transition.

Membership Drive Underway
The Friends are celebrating 40 years of library advocacy this year. Since 1979, our members have helped raise community awareness of vital library resources and provided more than $3.5 million to enhance library materials and programs. To build on this legacy, we are launching a campaign to grow Friends membership to 1,000 households over the next three years. Seven new members just signed up at the RCL Summer Learning Program Kick-Off, bringing our total to 692!

REQUEST FOR LIBRARY BOARD ACTION

Meeting Date
June 19, 2019

Action Requested
Approval to Sign Contract

Presented By Chuck Wettergren,
Digital Services Manager

SUBJECT:
BiblioCommons Contract

BACKGROUND:
The Library Board must approve any contract exceeding $25,000. Ramsey County Library seeks to sign a contract with BiblioCommons, to provide a replacement catalog search and discovery system, with year one costs not to exceed $95,000. The Library Board authorized staff in December, 2018, to negotiate the BiblioCommons contract.

Ramsey County Library’s 2016–2018 Technology Plan identified the need to replace Aquabrowser, the current discovery layer that has been in place since a 2009 collaborative purchase by MELSA. Discovery layers provide web-based access and integration of library resources including physical materials, patron accounts, programming, readers’ advisory, eBooks and social media.

The BiblioCommons contract will include a suite of three products including BiblioCore (library catalog), BiblioWeb (integrated website management system) and BiblioEvents (integrated event management system). Funding for this purchase, along with initial annual maintenance costs, will come from MELSA phase monies available to Ramsey County Library. First year costs, including installation, configuration, maintenance and training, shall not exceed $95,000. Subsequent years’ maintenance costs are estimated at $65,000 and subject to cost adjustments not to exceed 6%. The contract will allow up to four annual renewals.

This contract agreement has been coordinated by the Ramsey County Procurement Center of Excellence under a new model that integrates contract review and approval by Ramsey County Procurement, Risk Management, Information Services, the Library, and the County Attorney’s Office. The contract review is nearing completion by all parties. With Library Board approval, the Director will sign a contract upon final approval by the Ramsey County Attorney’s Office.

BOARD ACTION REQUESTED:
Authorize the Library Director to sign an agreement with BiblioCommons with first year costs not to exceed $95,000. Authorization is subject to contract approval by the Ramsey County Attorney’s Office.

SUBJECT:
Ramsey County Library Facility Master Plan

BACKGROUND:
In fall, 2018, Ramsey County Library and Ramsey County Property Management commissioned MSR Design to produce a new Library Facility Master Plan. The project asked for:
- An evaluation of current conditions
- A furnishings refurbishment plan
- An analysis of service accessibility
- Recommendations supporting existing and emerging needs
- Capital priorities and budgets

County staff on the master planning team included: Amado Guevara, Ramsey County Property Management; and Library staff members Jill Boldenow, Lynn Wyman, Jeff Eide, Chuck Wettergren, and Bill Michel. Staff at all libraries contributed input to the project. Staff also helped design and implement public engagement, which included multilingual surveys, listening sessions, and interactive boards at libraries. This process engaged 2,600 public respondents.

In May 2019, Susan Morgan, Architect (AIA, LEED AP BD+C) at MSR Design, delivered the final master plan report, which is included in the board packet.

Jill Boldenow will present key findings and next steps and invite board discussion on the master plan.

BOARD ACTION REQUESTED:

Executive Summary

Ramsey County Library (RCL), one of eight metro public library systems within the greater Minneapolis-Saint Paul Twin Cities area that is a member of the alliance of MELSA (Metropolitan Library Service Agency), is a consistently high-performing, high-impact public library system serving the suburban residents of Ramsey County. Across its seven locations, Ramsey County Library has a higher circulation per capita than other national systems with comparable expenditures (Library Journal America’s All Star Libraries 2017), has a higher number of registered users and visitors than other national systems with similar service populations (IMLS Library Systems FY 2015 Public Libraries Survey), and the highest program attendance per capita and circulation per square foot of any system within MELSA, (MELSA and Library Journal).

Vibrant, healthy public library systems make continual renewal a priority, investing in strategic planning to guide investment in facilities, operations, and resources; these systems then hold themselves accountable by following through on implementation of recommendations. In June of 2008, Ramsey County Library invested in a Facilities Master Plan to guide the next ten years of investment, from 2008 to 2018. Implementation of those recommendations led to new and renewed facilities, targeted collections expansion, and continued changes to operations that have facilitated continued health and use of Ramsey County Library over the past ten plus years including:

- Renovation and expansion of RCL-Roseville in 2010.
- Renovation and expansion of RCL-White Bear Lake in 2015.
- RCL-New Brighton branch was co-located within the newly-constructed New Brighton Community Center in 2011.
- A newly-constructed RCL-Shoreview was completed in 2017.

Other RCL facilities in existence at the time of the last master plan are:

- RCL-Mounds View: the oldest facility in the system, constructed in 1990 without any significant renovations thereafter. It is in need of investment to provide a vibrant, engaging library experience for all ages.
- RCL-North Saint Paul: relocated in 2005 into available built-out space within what was then the North Saint Paul Community Center, though that portion of the building is now leased by a private tenant, which has greatly decreased the volume of visitors to the building.
- RCL-Maplewood: constructed in 2007; while the overall building envelope is in fairly good condition, since its opening there have been significant acoustic and operations issues that require remediation, which led to a pre-design study of potential solutions, completed in 2018 and referenced in this report.
In 2018, Ramsey County Library committed to continuity of strategic planning, issuing a Request for Qualifications for Library System Master Planning services, intended to “provide a framework for decision-making over the next six years (2019-2025)” (Ramsey County RFQ 05/16/18). This process, of which this report is the culmination, is intended to be a holistic plan inclusive of visioning, detailed facilities assessment, comprehensive collections and furnishings evaluations, thoughtful reflection on technology and access, and inclusive of community outreach.

During this master plan process, the design team recommended that a slightly longer view be taken: that to propose full phasing, funding, and implementation of recommendations within a six year window might not be feasible or in the best interests of the system; as such, this report proposes recommendations and implementation within both a six year and a more standard ten year timeline. This adjustment allows for a proposed phasing of projects that include a mix of shorter-term, concentrated effort, lower financial-impact set of projects, and those that require more time, more planning and resources, and may require more extensive capital planning.

This 2019-2025+ Facilities Master Plan provides a framework for continued management and planning around the existing seven branches: Mounds View, New Brighton, Shoreview, White Bear Lake, Maplewood, North Saint Paul, and Roseville, as well as recommendations for how Ramsey County Library can best serve and connect with residents across the breadth of the county, within and outside of library walls. Each of the existing facilities have different issues, challenges, and opportunities: those that have been renewed or constructed most recently do not have the same critical space and infrastructure needs as those in greatest need of renovation and reconfiguration; for some branches, growth and change in community demographics are driving new and expanded needs for tailored collections and services.

In addition to a library-focused process these recommendations reflect review of strategic and comprehensive plans by affiliated organizations, which provide reference points for expectations about the contributions and value of Ramsey County Library, goals and aspirations for civic leadership and service for ever-changing constituent needs, and long-term planning and development goals for each part of Ramsey County. Such plans include:

- The Metropolitan Library Service Agency (MELSA) Strategic Plan 2017-2020
- The Ramsey County 2018 Strategic Plan
- The Metropolitan Council ‘Thrive MSP 2040
- The Ramsey County 2040 Comprehensive Plan (current draft date 05.25.18 and issued 10.31.18)
- The Metropolitan Council ‘Thrive MSP 2040
Introduction

Plan an outcome-based orientation to regional policy (Choice, Place and Opportunity).

- The in-process “Accessible Service Delivery and Facilities” initiative by Ramsey County to establish a vision for connecting Ramsey County residents to County services and resources.

Common themes amongst these civic leadership-led plans include:

- Acknowledgement of Ramsey County as the most dense and second-most populated county in the state (Ramsey County 2040 Comprehensive Plan Full Draft 10.31.18).
- A need to meet service needs for all metro residents.
- Community stewardship of places, resources, environment and economy.
- Active nurturing and cultivation of inclusiveness and equity across income levels, cultural backgrounds, race, age, and education level to address continuing disparities.
- Thoughtful approaches to sustainable development, resource use, and planning.

These themes resonate in planning a meaningful future for Ramsey County Library - as an organization, and as individual branches at the heart of community benefits and lifelong impacts.

Map shows the service regions for each RCL library (orange): regional libraries (RCL-Maplewood, RCL-Roseville, and RCL-Shoreview) are shown with a 4-mile service radius, and the other four branch libraries (RCL-Mounds View, RCL-New Brighton, RCL-North St. Paul, and RCL-White Bear Lake) are shown with 2-mile service radii. Suburban Ramsey County limits are indicated by the red boundary line.

Map adapted from IMLS Digital Inclusion Survey
After careful assessment of the buildings, grounds, finishes and furnishings, an examination of county demographics and trends, analysis of library use and collections statistics, review of newly-implemented, proposed, and prospective Ramsey County government initiatives, and a study of state and national library trends, the consultants concluded that in order to meet the current and future needs of Ramsey County residents, Ramsey County Library (RCL) should invest in:

- Branch-specific facilities renewal: Ensure a welcoming and inviting environment at each branch while increasing system vitality, use, opportunity and engagement. The breadth and scope of facility renewal recommendations vary by branch given their age, condition, and use needs, starting from those with the most critical needs (RCL-Maplewood), the oldest (RCL-Mounds View), and the most heavily used (RCL-Roseville).

- Branch-specific furnishings renewal: Throughout the system, furnishings in both public and staff spaces are due for renewal to varying degrees, to address issues of comfort, durability, ergonomics and use. Priorities are replacement of heavily worn items and the replacement of staff furniture to support current needs.

- System-wide investment in exterior signage: Wayfinding to library branches was identified in patron surveys as a key issue. Detailed assessment documented inconsistencies in where signage is located, its appearance (re: identity for Ramsey County Library, and as a Ramsey County organization), and visibility from common approaches. A unified graphics and signage standard for Ramsey County will increase ease of access by current and prospective patrons and visitors.

This report also encourages continuance of existing Ramsey County Library initiatives related to programming, equity, and outreach, in ways that build on detailed feedback received from this process via outreach surveys and listening sessions. This strategy aligns with and support the library’s strategic priorities (as outlined in 2019-2021 Strategic Planning):

- Facilitate access by removing barriers
- Foster literacy and lifelong learning
- Maximize learning and exploration through dynamic use of technology, library space and community space.
- Work proactively with partners to support community well-being.

Introduction

Project Goals

EMBODY THE RAMSEY COUNTY LIBRARY MISSION:
CONNECT community,
INSPIRE curiosity,
CULTIVATE learning.

REINFORCE THE RAMSEY COUNTY LIBRARY GUIDING PRINCIPLES TO BE:
Welcoming and Open to All
Equitable and Inclusive
Free
Bold and Fun
Relevant
Accountable and Resourceful

The functional goals of the project are: to have a feasible, actionable, contextually justified set of recommendations that can guide and shape positive development and investment by the Library for the next six to ten years; to facilitate prudent changes with long-term benefits; and to maintain and enhance Ramsey County Library’s exemplary performance.

Proposed scope has been prioritized for phased implementation in order to coordinate with availability of capital funding. This Facilities Master Plan frames detailed recommendations within the following categories:

Vision and Strategy: Overarching aspirational guides for the system as a whole.

Buildings and Grounds: Detailed recommendations for: critical life safety, accessibility, wayfinding, and operational needs; for necessary evolution in space planning and use, and for discrete infrastructure and component needs.

Collections and Programs: Data-driven evaluation of system-wide and per-branch material collections and system-wide programming.

Finishes and Furnishings: Holistic review of finishes and furniture throughout front of house and back of house at every branch, including assessment of comfort, choice, ergonomics, and condition.

Technology and Access: Vision and practicality-driven guidance about technology in service of operations, ease of use, directness of access to materials and resources, and impact on staff and patron use.

Community Input: Reflections on data gathered through a variety of input methods intended to reach a broad set of library users across the county.

The benefit of clear and defined project goals is their ability to guide both process and outcomes in ways which hold both design and owner teams accountable to project intent, and to help guide implementation of recommendations in the future.
Process

A fully-realized Master Plan process is one that involves broad participants: staff, patrons, community stakeholders; one that assesses broad characteristics of the system and of the community through research and data-gathering; and one that recommends a grounded path aligned with operational and financial feasibility. This comprehensive process included several methods of learning about the Ramsey County Library community and system including:

- Staff listening sessions with each branch.
- Stakeholder surveys shared online, on paper, and at pop-up library events in English, Hmong, Somali, and Spanish.
- In-library input boards used for specific issue polling and the gathering of write-in information.
- Public open houses in English with interpreters available in Hmong, Somali, and Spanish.
- Architectural, interior, and MEP (mechanical, electrical, plumbing) onsite assessments of each facility.
- Working sessions with the Board and key staff, including a dedicated session with the Sr. Building Services Manager in Ramsey County Property Management.
- A technology-specific working session with staff and leadership from Digital Services and Library Administration.
- Multiple data points from local, state, and national library, learning, and demographic resources (refer to Sources Cited)

All input gathered throughout the process has been incorporated into this report, in some cases summarized in the body of this report, and in others full and un-edited within the appendices. This content has directly informed development of the proposed recommendations and phasing, which were reviewed in draft form with the project committee January 10th, 2019 in advance of completion of this document.

As with any future-oriented plan, the recommendations herein must be reviewed periodically to ensure that they still align with county demographics and library usage patterns at the time of implementation. We recommend that each facility be studied in-depth at the time investment and implementation occur to ensure any emergent or unforeseen issues are identified and addressed in addition to the strategic recommendations.

Ramsey County Demographics

SUMMARY

Ramsey County is centrally located in the seven-county Twin Cities Metropolitan Area, home to the state capitol and a rich diversity of 17 suburban municipalities, each with their own distinct character and identity. The county has experienced population growth within the last decade, and between immigration from rural areas to the urban core as well as immigration to the state to areas with strong civic and social support, Ramsey County continues to be an attractive location for citizens and transplants alike.

The Twin Cities Metropolitan Area is one of the top 50 in the United States for overall population (Institute of Metropolitan Opportunity), and Ramsey County’s specific attributes of access, opportunity, nature, diversity, and services are a resource and a draw. In general, Ramsey County residents are more diverse and younger than both adjacent Hennepin County and the state overall. The median age in Ramsey County is 34.9 years, with almost 39% of the population between the ages of 18 and 44 (U.S. Census Data). The median age varies slightly between those identifying as white on census data versus those identifying as part of one of Minnesota’s cultural groups. Using statewide data as a reference, the average age of whites is 41, while the average age of Hmong is 22, African American 27, Somali 22, Ethiopian 26, Mexican 23, and Vietnamese 36. (Minnesota State Demographic Center; The Economic Status of Minnesotans 2018).

21.9% of Ramsey County residents 5 years and older live in a home where another language is spoken, with the most common languages being Hmong (6.47% of the overall county population), Spanish (5.09%), African languages (including Somali, Swahili, Yoruba and others) (2.93%), Other Asian Languages (including Burmese, Karen, Turkish, Uzbek) (1.84%), Chinese (0.97%), and Vietnamese (0.65%). From a population standpoint, this means around 24,931 people speak Spanish in Ramsey County, 14,341 people speak an African language, and 31,737 people speak Hmong (2011-2015 American Community Survey, U.S. Census).

Growth, development, investment, and vision for Minnesota municipalities are developed following the requirements of the State of Minnesota Statute §473.859 Comprehensive Plan Content; this legislation sets standards for the formatting and content of comprehensive plans to guide “public and private land use, development...” and shall “specify expected industrial and commercial development, planned population distribution, and local public facility capacities upon which the plan is based” (MN Statute 473.859). There are standing comprehensive Ramsey County County-Wide Goals Graphic adapted from Ramsey County Comprehensive Plan 2040 plans for Ramsey County overall, and for each of its municipalities; while these share commonalities, they are each references for distinct needs and opportunities, and should be used as a reference point for alignment with the mission, vision, strategic priorities and guiding principles of Ramsey County Library.

Ramsey County has set forth a county-wide vision for “A vibrant community where all are valued and thrive,” with a mission to be “A county of excellence working with you to enhance our quality of life” (Ramsey County Comprehensive Plan 2040). Inherent in these statements is that the services offered by the community support and facilitate meeting such goals, and the public library is an institution which promotes quality of life through equitable access to resources, inspires creativity and lifelong learning, and provides a safe, welcoming environment for the whole community.

Recommendations for development, investment, and change outlined within this report for Ramsey County Library by necessity require context: substantiated reference points for demographics both current and projected, for use, growth and development patterns, and relevant information about the role of public libraries nationally and locally. What follows is a summary of the research executed in support of this process, including insights from the community outreach performed as part of this process, including an online and paper survey, as well as open-ended questions posed on in-library participation boards. That content is provided within orange boxes throughout this next section.

Data sets utilized for analysis include:
- U.S. Census Bureau (2017 and 2018 estimates and historic data from 2010 to present).
- American Community Survey (ACS) (2013-2017 releases including 1 and 5 year estimates)
- National and state data compiled by the Minnesota State Demographic Center, the Metropolitan Council, and Ramsey County government.

The following demographic analysis was performed using 2017 and 2018 census data for the county as a whole, inclusive of Saint Paul. A customized data set for suburban Ramsey County is not current, though the following statistics from 2013 summarize suburban Ramsey County:
- 215,927 people; 10% foreign-born
- 6.3% unemployment rate and 8.8% below poverty rate
- 94% high school graduates, 40% college
- 86% White, 8% Asian, 5% black, 1% other

POPULATION & GROWTH
Ramsey County is the most densely populated county in the state at 3,281 people per square mile. Ramsey County has seen consistent, modest growth at an average of around 1.1% per year, or approximately 5,000 people per year.

Over time, the growth rate of Ramsey County, previously and typically less than that of nearby and larger Hennepin County, has increased to a similar rate: 6.3% for Ramsey County between 2005 and 2015 similar now to Hennepin County’s growth rate of 6.9%. This rate of growth is expected to be maintained with continued densification of the Twin City Metropolitan Area.

It should be noted that Ramsey County continues to lead in number of persons per household, with 29.7% of households with one or more people under the age of 18, and a household size of 3.22 people. 26.8% of grandparents report being responsible for grandchildren, with 10.8% of those being responsible for grandchildren for 5 or more years. These statistics are lower than both state and national averages by 2-3%, but are higher than the same values for Hennepin County, which has 28.6% of households with one or more people under the age of 18, and a household size of 2.4.
How might population statistics impact planning?
Consistent and predictable growth indicates a healthy community, one that will continue to increase in population in ways that affect demand on social resources. The nuances of population relating to household size and composition highlight opportunities to serve and support Ramsey County families.

36% of RCL Survey responders are between the ages 18 and 45, which is reflective of overall Ramsey County population.

AGE DEMOGRAPHICS
In Ramsey County the median age is 34.9, compared to a national median age of 38.75 years old. Amongst the 7-county metro area, Ramsey, Hennepin and Scott counties are the only counties with a median age below 36, with the rest of the metro area with a median age between 36 and 39 years old.

14.1% of residents in Ramsey County are over the age of 65, and demographic research suggests that currently there are concentrations of 65+ residents within the county, with only 9% of residents in St. Paul over the age of 65, with the most significant concentrations (greater than 20% of the population) in New Brighton, Roseville, the southern half of Arden Hills, North Oaks, and the northeast portion of White Bear Lake. Elsewhere in the county the percentage of those 65 and older ranges between 5% and 15%.

7.0% of the Ramsey County population is younger than 5 years old, 16.3% are between the ages of 5 and 17, such that 23.3% of the population is between infancy and the end of high school.

How might understanding age impact planning?
Identifying the specific makeup of county residents provides a framework for specific learning and library use needs; understanding that the county has a robust population of children and younger adults suggests opportunities to engage and build committed library users who can remain dedicated consumers over time.

RACE, ETHNICITY AND LANGUAGE
While Minnesota and its communities are weighted to a majority (84.3% White for the state, 63.1% for Ramsey County), the diversity of racial and ethnic backgrounds is incredibly rich. Ramsey County residents are from 115 different countries, with an overall foreign-born population originating from Asia (55.26%) and Africa (19.95%) higher than those same categories at either the state (38.31% / 21.74%) or the national levels (30.07% / 4.56%).

Of all residents in Ramsey County five years old and older, 21.76% live in homes where another language is spoken:
• Hmong 6.47%
• Spanish 5.09%
• African Languages 2.93% (Somali, Swahili, Yoruba etc.)
• Other Asian Languages 1.84% (Karen, Burmese etc.)

More Ramsey County residents speak a language other than English in comparison to Hennepin County (16%), Dakota County (11%) or at the state level (11.6%).

While census methods are evolving to provide more nuances in self-reporting race identity - current overall categories are White (63.1% for the county), Hispanic (7.4%), Black or African American (11.2%), Asian (14.0%) and American Indian (0.3%), race and ethnicity categories still provide context for related demographic issues that form an overall picture of community commonalities and disparities including... level of education, poverty, household income and others.

How might race, ethnicity and language impact planning?
With county and library goals surrounding equity, access, welcome and learning, it is critical to understand the nuances of the breadth of who is being served, to explore the best ways to offer materials and resources, and to provide representation in staffing and services in ways which encourage exploration, nurture learning, and connect Ramsey County citizens to Ramsey County Library resources and materials.

POVERTY, INCOME & UNEMPLOYMENT
15% of people in Ramsey County are living below the poverty line, a number that is higher than the 2017 poverty rates at the state (9.5%) and national (12.3%) levels. Within suburban Ramsey County exclusive of Saint Paul, the 2013 poverty rate (later data not available) was 8.8%. "In Minnesota, as it is true across the nation, race is associated with the likelihood of living in poverty" (MN State Demographic Center, 2018).

Within Ramsey County, poverty disproportionately affects youth; of those living below the poverty line: 21.5% are under 5 years of age, and 22.7% are between the ages of 5 and 17. Another 18.4% are between 18 and 34 years old, with a more modest poverty rate of 7.9% for those 65 years or older.

As with state and national trends, poverty levels have some correlation to educational attainment and to race; for those below the poverty line:
- 32.7% have less than a high school degree
- 14.3% are high school graduates or equivalent
- 32.9% are Black or African American
- 26.2% are Asian
- 21.6% are Hispanic or Latino

Mounds View has the lowest household income in suburban Ramsey County $56,753, and it is declining.

Household Income by Location in Ramsey County

The unemployment rate of Ramsey County has been declining over the last decade from a peak of 8.3% in June of 2009 to 2.4% in May of 2018. During this same period the state and national rates have also dropped, though the national unemployment rate has been above 4% for the last five years.

Within suburban Ramsey County, unemployment rates are highest in Maplewood (2.9%), White Bear Lake (2.8%), and Saint Paul (2.8%), with Shoreview, Roseville, and New Brighton with slightly lower rates of (2.4%).

How might understanding poverty, income, and unemployment impact planning?

A public library is an institution which grants free access and use of materials, programs, and resources in service of learning, entertainment, and “the goal of stimulating individual learning and advancing society as a whole” (George Eberhart, ALA 2010).

Those with the greatest economic risk and uncertainty are most in need of the resources and value provided by the library; in conjunction with other data, statistics surrounding poverty, economy, and unemployment identify at-risk groups and individuals in ways that highlight opportunities for the library to best serve and support those most in need of no-cost resources.

By necessity, a public library carries the burden of meeting a range of needs and expectations for materials, service, and programming; individuals and groups expect that their specific and unique needs will be anticipated and accounted for.

From RCL Survey Respondents, 36% indicated that they would like to see more Employment and Training Services offered at their library.
Ramsey County Transit Infrastructure

Although library services are expanding to provide resource and materials access digitally and on demand outside of the library, this does not diminish the value of physical facilities, or the need for these facilities to be located to provide fair and equitable access to as many citizens as possible.

“We like to get to more than just one library, but distance is an issue. ...Access (metro transit, parking, bike racks, etc.) is important.”
- RCL Survey Respondent

Ramsey County is 170 square miles, and home to almost 550,000 residents, in conditions ranging from a dense urban center (Saint Paul) to rural residential with rich natural environments (North Oaks). 43.4% of Ramsey County households have two cars and 24.3% have only one car, such that a majority of residents have some degree of transportation independence. Only 6.55% of residents commute via public transportation; more detailed statistics about public transportation use within specific municipalities was not discovered at this time.

For municipalities outside of Saint Paul, the majority of Ramsey County can be described as follows in regards to transporation potential:

Moderate density but tends to have a less traditional street grid that can limit the effectiveness of transit. Transit service in this area is primarily commuter express bus service with some fixed-route local service providing basic coverage. General public dial-a-ride services are available where fixed-route service is not viable. [Ramsey County Comprehensive Plan 2040]

Ramsey County Library branches rate the following for walkability, public transportation coverage, and bikeability, according to Walk Score [Values are given from a branch’s location to nearby areas, and are not indicative of the proximity of the library to all residential areas within the municipality. Values below 50 indicate some infrastructure, but not a robust network to support transportation choice.]:

Pedestrian Level of Service (PLOS) is used to evaluate a location for comfort and safety for pedestrians, including an assessment of nearby traffic speeds and land uses. Ramsey County has a mix of levels: closer to arterials conditions are poor to hostile (high speed limit with narrow or no road shoulders), while within certain residential areas (defined in green tones in the map) conditions are fair to good (with either wide residential streets with wide shoulders, or sidewalks with low speed limits. Oftentimes areas with low PLOS are areas of concentrated poverty, which directly impacts residents’ ability to access jobs, food, health care, and other resources such as a public library.

The U.S. Department of Transportation notes that “negative health effects related to the transportation system can fall hardest on vulnerable members of the community, such as low-income residents, minorities, children, person with disabilities, and older adults” (U.S. DoT Mission/Health/Equity).

Out of all locations, only the Roseville branch of the library is served by several Metro Transit routes; White Bear Lake has a single express bus route but no regular route options; and the other RCL branches have only one to two route options. Express routes have limited service, with buses typically only running in a single direction during peak hours, such that these routes do not provide useful service for Library users.

Ramsey County continues to build a Regional Bike Transportation Network (RBTN): a system of trails connecting through the 7-metro counties; at present this network is incomplete throughout Ramsey County, connecting portions of White Bear Lake and Maplewood with Saint Paul, connecting White Bear Lake west to Shoreview, Arden Hills, and New Brighton, and partial trails from Mounds View and Arden Hills into Roseville and from Roseville to Saint Paul.

Identifying and understanding transportation infrastructure acknowledges one type of impediment between residents and library use. Responding to these varying conditions requires different approaches to service, outreach, and partnership.

Ramsey County Schools

23.3% of Ramsey County residents are school age or younger: over 126,000 students in primary or secondary school. Literacy and educational attainment levels are indicators of specific future outcomes including “better health, increased civic engagement, decreased violence and crime, and other factors linked to sustainable [viable and renewing] development” according to UNESCO.

For the 2018-2019 school year there are 85,817 enrolled students within Ramsey County schools; for the purposes of this report, detailed analysis is listed for only those districts within the service areas of the Ramsey County Library: the Mounds View school district, the North Saint Paul-Maplewood school district, the Roseville school district, and the White Bear Lake school district.

For school districts within the Ramsey County Library service area, there are approximately 37,107 enrolled students. One measure of general need that is used to calculate anticipated social support needs for children and families is the number of students eligible for a free or reduced lunch (FRPL), which is based on national income eligibility guidelines. Overall, 40% of students within the library’s service are eligible for a free or reduced lunch, but this varies by municipality:

- 31.2% of students within the Mounds View
- 31.2% of students within the Mounds View
- 31.2% of students within the Mounds View

Increasing early childhood literacy is an ongoing goal for Ramsey County, wherein only 42.9% of enrolled 3rd graders are proficient in reading, which is the lowest level within the 7-county metro region, which otherwise range from 54%-63%, within range of the state’s average of 60%. Reading proficiency at the end of the 3rd grade is identified as a predictor of future academic and overall life success, so continuing to contribute to early literacy programs and materials has long-term value for the library system and the county.

Ramsey County faces many challenges to academic and life success: the on-time four-year high school graduation rate is 66.5%, which is the second lowest in the 7-county metro area (average 77.77%); overall students in Ramsey County have a performance on state assessment tests (reading and math) which is 2-9% lower than students across the state; 32% of Ramsey County residents have equal to or less than a GED or high school diploma; as a positive: 72% of Minnesotans stay in MN for college; the top three majors within Ramsey County colleges and universities are General Business Administration and Management (4.66%), Nursing (3.49%), and General Psychology (3.1%).

Ramsey County libraries are a much-used resource for materials, reference support, study, and collaboration space for students and learners of all ages and backgrounds.

DEMOGRAPHICS OF LIBRARY VISITORS

In general, women are most likely to see libraries as a valuable asset to the community, and are also more likely than men to have visited a library in the past year.

Perhaps surprisingly: millennial adults are the most engaged in libraries out of any age group: 55% of those who have been to a library in the past year are between the age of 16 and 29; 45% of those 36-51 and 43% of those 52-70. Overall, in-person use of libraries has remained largely stable over the past few years, with an average of 46% of adults 18 and older having visited a library in the past 12 months.

Trends within library usage cover a number of different user types: high usage by those with a college degree and by those who fall into lower-income brackets, high usage by parents and by young adults.

TRAINING TO DISCERN TRUSTWORTHY INFORMATION
Adults continue to view public libraries as a valuable resource for both reliable sources of information, but also for assistance in discerning reliable online information.

8 in 10 adults believe public libraries help them find information that they consider trustworthy and reliable. 6 in 10 adults would find decision-making easier with training on how to find trustworthy information online.

Of those surveyed, Millennials (ages 18-35) were the highest to rank public libraries as places to learn new things, to get information with decisions to be made, and as a resource for vetted information and resources.

Library Service for the 21st Century

The public library is an institution that has morphed from book-centered to technology-hosting to community and creativity-centered over the last few decades. This evolution is iterative and cumulative: books and materials are still a primary draw, with added expectations for technology access and training, community programming and hands-on learning as opportunities that are seen as foundational offerings. This evolution to a richly varied service model is essential in allowing public libraries to continue meeting the needs of the changing expectations of a wide-range of users.

According to a survey conducted by the Pew Research Center in April of 2015:

89% of Americans ages 16 and older agree that libraries contribute to their communities by providing a safe place for people to spend time.

87% agree that public libraries create educational opportunities for all ages.

79% say that a public library provides a trusted place for learning about new technology.

65% say that public libraries serve as a gathering place for addressing community challenges.

A primary goal of the American Library Association’s Center for the Future of Libraries is to identify emerging trends in library service and community expectations, and they have identified the following trend categories for what may or should lie ahead for libraries:

• Society: Continued evolution in services and expectations that draw on trends in business, culture and learning in ways that promote increased connections, a greater sense of curiosity and a user-focused experience with ever-increasing ease of use.

• Technology: Expansion in hardware and software resources that foster exploration, learning, collaboration, and promote equity and access through hands-on and virtual engagement.

• Education: Incentivized learning, the library as a bridge for flipped (out-of-the-classroom) learning, and game-based learning that encourages different modalities of learning.

• Environment: Library facilities and resources supporting community resiliency: the capacity for rapid response to physical, social, economic, and environmental distress and disasters.

• Politics & Government: Digital infrastructure facilitating real-time feedback and input, and partnerships between the library, government, and businesses to support community investment.

• Economics: The library as a home for shared resources: alternative lending and a place for shared services and co-working.

• Demographics: Nurturing an organization that responds to the distinct needs and expectations of a more nimble and often more isolated aging class, those transitioning from school years to adulthood, and those for whom the digital world has as much presence and meaning as the physical world.

A misconception that libraries are dying or underutilized overlooks the varied and substantial ways in which libraries support the physical, social, cultural, and academic health of a community: from long-term residents to newcomers, from new parents to single professionals, from English speakers to polyglots making a new home.

Now more than ever, library users seek assistance in accessing the vast network of information and distilling it into relevant and valuable knowledge. They want help converting information into resources that serve their personal needs (e.g., education, business, lifetime learning, and enjoyment). At the same time, patrons are interested in a richer experience: ways to connect with others, opportunities for hands-on learning and exploration that are a refuge from a tech-heavy lifestyles. Libraries and their staff are resources for understanding complex issues, for exposure to new ways of learning and navigating the world of information, and as arbiters of truth and legitimized content in a world flooded with unverified content.

More than an institution, the public library is a social compact. It is an ethic of service that has been in place for more than 250 years. As our society evolves and local institutions become more sophisticated in providing tailored services, public libraries need to transform themselves in order to provide the best services possible—and evolve as the community evolves.

The branch library is a true community resource, programmed, designed, and configured to meet individual users’ and the community’s needs. Because it is a local library for the local public, its primary role is to provide equitable access to library services and collections to all the members of the community as a stand-alone library and as a key part of a library system. Branch libraries provides an environment for studying and learning, finding and interpreting information, social and community interaction, business incubation and development, cultural awareness, networking, and quiet contemplation. A public library system serves everyone in the community regardless of age, gender, ethnicity, cultural background, or economic status. As such, it is a true embodiment of democracy and openness.

As public libraries have rapidly evolved over the past decade, some of the newer roles they have undertaken have an impact on the spaces within the branch library. Public library branches are places in which information is converted to knowledge, the community comes together to foster creativity and develop content, and people engage in public discussions about topics vital to themselves and the community in general. These new roles require new technologies, collections, and other resources. They call for bold concepts for the branch library facility so that it can meet current and future needs in response to ever-evolving roles.

The following approaches are ways in which libraries can respond to the key areas of evolution identified by the Center for the Future of Libraries:

COMMUNITY COMMONS [SOCIETY]
The public library as the third place, a community commons.

› Increased need for flexible community spaces.
› Common area amenities such as food cafes and vending machines.
› Casual seating in flexible/movable seating patterns.
› More electrical outlets and power stations to support increased use of mobile technology.
› Flexible displays supporting recreational reading and easy downloads.

COMMUNITY-CENTERED [SOCIETY]
Emphasis on community collections and community pride.

› Integration and use of local experts in community programs and offerings.
› Local collections and local authors.
› Digital/physical exhibits showcasing local history, local authors, local makers (artist, creators, and fabricators), and culture.
› Providing physical/digital displays for young writers and artists to showcase young local talent.

LEARNING & CREATION SPACES [TECHNOLOGY]
Providing digital technology and resources to support digital media creation for people of all ages.

› Flexible lab spaces/pods that can accommodate media creation (e.g., video production, music production, and visual media production).
› Partnerships with local tech entrepreneurs for programs and classes.
 › Support the continually evolving ways younger users are accessing information in digital and traditional formats.

THE UBIQUITOUS LIBRARY  [TECHNOLOGY]
Increased use of location-aware/GPS tools to support library services (the “library in your pocket”).
 › Smart wallets for payment of fines and fees.
 › Virtual library cards for circulation and program attendance.
 › Wayfinding aids that are location-aware/GPS enabled.
 › Increased use of mobile applications for service delivery.

INTELLECTUAL CAPITAL  [EDUCATION]
Harnessing and stimulating innovation, ideas, and intellectual capacity as libraries become places for learning, meeting, and creating.
 › Increased program emphasis on new ideas and innovation (e.g., TED Talks and Code Camps).
 › Increased need for flexible program and theater space to host events (capacity for 50-100+).
 › Group workspaces and individual study areas.
 › Community space for creation and fabrication of ideas.

MAXIMIZE EXISTING FACILITIES  [ENVIRONMENT]
Utilizing and repurposing existing facilities to leverage invested capital and development while addressing continually changing needs for housing materials, facilitating dialogue with library staff, and responsiveness to new balances of physical materials, flexible programming space, study and collaboration space, hands-on learning environments, and the retention of quiet spaces for reading and reflection.
 › Protecting acoustic separation of active and quiet spaces.
 › Utilize collection analysis to identify opportunities to regain square footage for other uses.
 › Avoid over-specificity in renovation and construction to allow for gradual changes as use patterns change over time.

ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT DRIVER  [ECONOMICS]
Next steps beyond workforce development and educational development.
 › Space for community educational partners (e.g., college support programs, advanced degree support, skill/trade development, and online courses).
 › Flexible space for community trainings and workshops.
 › Meeting local economic development needs through partnerships and workshops.

LITERACY SKILLS & LIFE SKILLS  [DEMOGRAPHICS]
Library as a central resource and an essential partner in developing and nurturing literacy in all of its forms.
 › Early literacy programs and facilities for children and parents.
 › Homework spaces and services for K-12 students.
 › Digital literacy services and labs.
 › Lifelong learning opportunities.

 › ESL classes and GED classes in person and online.

Ramsey County Library’s current service area strategy is based on an understanding that branch libraries serve citizens within an approximate 2-mile radius, i.e. “within the neighborhood.” Regional libraries: Shoreview, Maplewood, and Roseville, are understood as serving a 4-mile radius, with a broader set of materials and services for both local residents, and as a destination resource for patrons across the system. Ramsey County Library also offers reciprocal borrowing for RCL patrons in adjacent library systems, and for those users within RCL.

The current distribution of library facilities reflects placement, where possible, adjacent to heavily-trafficked roads, public transportation service, and other community amenities and destinations. Residents with cars often frequent more than one RCL facility, depending upon needs, because other reasons bring them close by, or because of particular staff or programs.

LIBRARY PROGRAMMING AND TECHNOLOGY PARTNERSHIPS WITH COMMUNITY CENTERS

Ramsey County Library has existing partnerships with municipal community centers at several of their branches and RCL-New Brighton is imbedded in the New Brighton Community Center and Eagles Nest Indoor Playground. Users have noted the convenience of proximity in being able to efficiently plan their day around the ease of “one-stop shopping.”

RCL survey responders who list New Brighton as their primary library said the following impacts their library visit:

“Convenience. We always come if the library is open and we are at the community center.”

“I exercise at the New Brighton Community Center, so I love having the library there … to [easily] drop off and pick up books and DVDs. The staff is wonderful, very helpful.”

Library Usage Statistics

USERS
From internal benchmarking in the fall of 2018, the Ramsey County Library system has 274,231 cardholders, which is the highest number of cardholders amongst a group of 25 national public library systems of similar service populations, for whom the average number of cardholders is 132,799.

Ramsey County also leads their national peers and the 7-county metro area in visits per capita, at a rate of 6.46, compared to a MELSA average of 4.30 and a Hennepin County visit per capita of 4.35. The Saint Paul Public Library does have a higher visit per capita at 7.14, though this likely reflects the increased population density within the downtown area. Referencing Library Journal’s America’s All-Star Libraries, amongst peers with the same number of stars (3) and within the same operating expenditure range (10$-$29.9m), Ramsey County Library is just below the average for this group of ten libraries, which is 7.0 visits per capita.

Similar to national trends for the same period: fewer people physically visited Ramsey County Libraries in 2016 than 2013, with physical visits down nearly 8%. Virtual visits remain mostly steady, with a 1% increase since 2013.

PROGRAMS
Engagement in library programs continues to grow. RCL has nearly double the program attendance than their local peer libraries.

Program Growth 2015-2017

- Program Quantity: +49%
- Program Participation: +30%

Two programs: the Kindergarten Card Program and the Student Access Card program as part of the ConnectED Challenge, reach students across the county through partnerships and events with Ramsey County school systems to facilitate library-card sign-up, to provide information about RCL materials and resources, and to drive visitorship and use of the libraries facilities.

Ramsey County Library is investing in program development, with an increase of 49% in program quantity from 2015-2017, leading to an increase in program participation of 30% during that same period.

2017 Program Highlights
- Storytime: 32,480 attendees for the year
- Elementary Age: 4,166 attendees at STEAM programs and 1,352 attendees at makerspace labs
- Teens: 17,000 attendees at 1,400 teen programs
- Adults: 16,000 attendees including 2,400 attending adult digital literacy, and 3,250 attending “Life Skills” programs
- Social Issues: Doubling of attendance to 8,217 at race, social issues, and cultural programs

“We visit often for programs in the summer but less during the school year. We would love more programs open during the school year. Weekends or off school days accommodating different district schedules would be the best times. Advertise with school districts.” - RCL-Maplewood Library user
Program quantity and attendance relates to facility size and service population. RCL regional facilities: Roseville, Shoreview, and Maplewood, provide a greater number of annual programs than branch facilities, though the average attendance at programs is quite similar: 28 people/program at regional libraries and 32 people/program at branch libraries. The average attendance at branch facilities is higher because White Bear Lake has the highest average program attendance in the system: 44 people/program. Attendance at programs varies: adult attendance is equivalent across the system, with more teen attendees at branch libraries and more children attendees at regional libraries.

Average Annual Program Quantity (2018)

Of the 2,162 respondents to the user survey completed as part of this planning effort, programs came in as the 6th most-used resource after materials and resources, but were also among the most-commented on items in the survey regarding:
- More program hours during nights/weekends
- More programs for hands-on making for all ages
- More programs for teens and families.
- Programs to connect to community resources
- Programs focused on lifelong learning

"I work with adults with mental illness, and we love when there are more programs during the day time."
- RCL-Maplewood Library user

SERVICES AT NON-LIBRARY LOCATIONS

Survey respondents were asked to identify library services that they would use at a non-library location, as a way to identify opportunities for RCL to explore new methods of service delivery outside of traditional branch facilities. A 65.5% majority of respondents identified returns as being the most-useful service at other locations, while 41.3% would take advantage of being able to pick up hold materials outside of the library.

Those responding via the comment section were split: many felt resources should be directed to facilities proper, while others expressed excitement at the potential convenience of key services in other areas.

RCL Survey Question:
What library services would you use at a non-library location (for example, at grocery store, gym, and/or school)? Choose as many as apply.

- New Books 24%
- Computer Station 24%
- Library Calendar 23%

System Summary

Operations

OVERVIEW
During this process the design team has also received input and feedback about other components of Ramsey County Library services and operations, whether through the branch staff sessions, through the user surveys and participation boards, or anecdotally in passing during our visits to library branches.

As there were no established goals to address broad operations as part of this project, this section serves as a summary of commentary received, with more generalized suggestions for ways in which RCL could follow up to better identify, define, and prioritize consideration of and response to these issues.

STAFFING
While there are discrete staffing issues per branch that relate to each branch’s operations, operating hours, and physical setup, a few common issues were raised by staff voices across the system: expectations by patrons that all staff can answer all questions (service, reference, technology). These expectations are set by visibility of certain service desks to main paths of travel and in some cases to lack of clarity amongst staff about who best to direct patrons to for given questions, sometimes resulting in “ping-pong” of sending patrons from desk to desk.

EQUITY
RCL seeks to advance equity in service, representation, materials, and programming so that library spaces and services reflect the broader demographics of Ramsey County.

- Equity as an issue within RCL is seen relating to race, to culture, to gender identity, to orientation, to age, to physical or cognitive differences.
- RCL weaves equity and inclusion into all operations including collections development, programming, partnerships, staff training, and communications.
- Currently RCL uses artwork as one vehicle to communicate cultural inclusion, but the degree to which this occurs varies by branch, and is one item that is mentioned as valuable by patrons in RCL surveys.
- Community-sharing programming such as international potlucks, have provided a vehicle for patrons to connect across the common ground of food through a method that is more interactive that lectures.
- While non-English speakers are a relative minority in the county, they are well-represented in RCL patronage, and finding the right degree of services, materials, and programming in different languages (which to choose, how to market?) bears further consideration. Patrons and staff noted that in some cases adults may not yet speak English and rely on their children to serve as translators during library transactions. At the same time, materials and programming in other languages supports native speakers, provides resources for those learning other languages, and also offer second and third generation immigrants the chance to connect to their culture and history in the language of their family and ancestors.
- The 2017 “All Are Welcome” survey by RCL explored the degree to which the library, its collections, and its programs are truly welcome to all. Survey respondents overwhelmingly agreed that library staff and buildings are welcoming, and while the website and programs are generally seen as welcoming, these were areas identified as needing greater investment for ease of use, and diversity of representation, respectively.
Collection Analysis
Collection Analysis

Collections Introduction

A major part of creating a library building program is understanding the collection requirements both now and into the future. Working with key library staff, RCL provided collection data for all seven branch locations. The design team analyzed this provided data, as well as the existing collection by sub-part, based upon current total holdings and the provided turnover rates. Using this data, the team made recommendations for adjustments in certain collection types, and projections for future circulation rates. Further, the ideal collection housing (shelving style and height, display, bins) was taken into account. This analysis allowed the team to calculate how much library shelving should be provided in the facility for each collection, and how this fresh perspective offerings opportunities for revised seating, study, and collaboration space.

Turnover rate is an average measure of activity for a library’s distinct collection categories. It is defined as the number of times each unit of a collection would have circulated during the year, if circulation was spread evenly throughout the collection. While this is an averaged number for collections and subcollections, it does represent a measure of popularity: such materials are either in demand, appealing, easily accessed and visible, easily searched or browsed via the library’s catalog or some combination thereof, though that supporting data is typically not tracked but could be understood through additional library-initiated analysis.

For example, RCL’s data shows that Maplewood’s Adult Collection (155,207 volumes) circulated 3.2 times during 2017; this doesn’t necessarily mean that every single item actually was checked out 3.2 times, but that for the collection as a whole, the average circulation was 3.2. Some items will have circulated far more times than that, and some items will have remained in the library and not circulated.

A turnover rate less than 1 indicates resources that sit for the most part uncirculated and remain on shelves. For public libraries a healthy turnover rate ranges between 2.5 and 3.5 on average, with those collections with turnovers above 3.0 indicating a more frequently-used collection.

Understanding turnover rates across branch locations within the RCL system allows general analysis and comparison of collection use. The comparative data can be used to strategically to manage collections to better align with usage patterns and desires.

As the nature of library service continue to evolve over time, it is important to reflect that any trends indicating decreasing circulation or collection turnover rates reflect increasing utilization of other library services, that the consistency of these numbers over time may appear volatile, and may best be understood at the branch level in respect to detailed understanding of particular user bases.

Circulation Factor is best understood as an “in-circulation” factor: a measure of the quantity of a specific collection in circulation, and thus off-the-shelf and out of the library, at a given time.
For example, typical circulation rates for Adult Fiction is 30% whereas Adult New Books is 50%. Adult New Books are popular and oft-requested - out of that collection in an average best-case scenario 50% of volumes are off the shelf at any one point. This number is used to determine the number of shelves required for a collection type as well as to identify when a collection is not circulating as often as might be expected.

The design team recommends that Ramsey County Library utilize circulation factor data to assist in identifying collections that are low or non-circulating, to allow for assessment system-wide of how best to circulate materials, and to identify potential opportunities for balancing under-utilized collections with increased space for study and reading.

GENERAL SHELVING OBSERVATIONS

Throughout the RCL branch locations there are some similarities in how collections are handled. These similarities are interesting to note: for example, at many of the branch locations the bottom shelf is rarely used to house materials when the shelving is 6 shelves or higher. The media collection is typically housed in mostly overcrowded, low millwork units rather than on shelving. At most locations, the Children’s collection is stored and displayed in millwork bookbins which are sized for easy browsing by both children and adults. Overall, shelving units, including book ends, are in relatively good physical condition throughout the system, with expected wear and aging at the floor.

RCL branch locations have found unique ways to address collection storage including different ways of featuring popular and new book collections. For example: popular materials such as new release DVDs can be rented and are prominently featured at the Maplewood branch, while in North St. Paul, most of their collection is located on bookcases rather than on typical adjustable library shelving.
Collection Analysis

Detailed Collections Analysis

The adjacent data evaluates turnover rates only, was provided by RCL, and analyzed by MSR Design. To contextualize per-branch performance, an analysis of average turnover rates across the system for each subcollection is provided; as a metro, state, and nationwide leader in overall circulation, it is unsurprising that the overall collection turnover average within the Ramsey County Library system is a high 5.1. This number is high in part because of the 11.4 average turnover rate for media throughout the system (videogames, DVDs, CDs), although print circulation (combined adult, youth, and children’s) has a very healthy system-wide average turnover rate of 4.3.

In the detailed per-branch matrix: pink boxes indicate when the turnover average meets or exceeds the overall RCL system average for that collection type. Orange boxes indicate turnover rates that fall below the RCL system average. Highlights per branch:

- Roseville’s circulation for all collection types meets or exceeds the RCL system-wide turnover average.
- Roseville and Shoreview lead turnover rates across a majority of collection categories, with turnover rates that are between 20% and 200% higher than at other facilities.
- White Bear Lake falls below RCL’s turnover average in every collection, and as a branch has collection turnover that is 30% lower than system averages, except for Energy Meters, which circulate at a rate similar to Shoreview, both slightly higher than average.
- Mounds View falls below RCL’s turnover average in all collections (on average 25% lower) except for Video Games (for which turnover is 7% higher than the RCL system average).
- Turnover at Maplewood and Shoreview varies by collection, but with similar amounts of the collection equal to system average turnovers.
- Turnover rates at New Brighton and North St. Paul each have a few higher-than average categories, so these lead the system in circulation behind Roseville.

- Large Print has a slightly higher turnover rate than the adult collection as a whole, but represents one of the smallest proportions of total circulation (1%) given its small holding size (7,496).
- The Juvenile Collection represents 32% of RCL’s circulation, and is the highest-circulating print collection at an average turnover rate of 5.8, though both Roseville and Shoreview far exceed this rate (9.2 and 8.3, respectively).
Turnover values for each collection informs an understanding of general circulation within the Ramsey County Library system: as a whole, collections are circulating at generally healthy rates. Collections with high turnover rates (>4) suggest collections that would benefit from deeper review using the Circulation Factor method, to provide a detailed picture of which materials are actually circulating, at which branches, and whether there is a need for additional material purchasing. These include: Large Print (4.0), Graphic Novels (5.0), Juvenile (5.8), Media (10.8), and Videogames (12.0). This secondary analysis will show how much of each sub collection is frequently circulating.

Per branch, and system-wide, RCL collections and facilities will benefit from sustaining their strategic collection weeding and re-investment. With the low turnover rates at some branches, the next step is to better understand circulation using the Circulation Factor method, to explore ways to better connect users with materials to encourage circulation, and as a final measure, to explore whether strategic weeding will offer additional space for studying and reading.

Storage of media in large millwork fixtures is less efficient than storing on conventional library shelving; there are shelving units with pull out drawers that offer

The flexibility of the existing millwork units is less than typical library shelving, and at many branches, occupies valuable square footage. By strategically weeding collection and rethinking how shelving is utilized, this allows for greater floor space to support other library uses including reading, studying, collaboration, and programming without requiring substantial physical redevelopment.

Digital Services
Digital Services Assessment

The Ramsey County Library has a dedicated, passionate, and knowledgeable Digital Services team. This group leads RCL in providing consistency of digital service and access, in offering a range of learning, engagement, and collaboration avenues, and in continuing to provide library resources that encourage lifelong learning at all ages and skill levels.

This group has been developing and managing content in two ways: practical and discrete, related to specific technical issues and service delivery, and more broadly based visioning about digital services operations. In the last year, the team’s public service dimension has grown, with librarians and CTEPS joining the team to deliver digital literacy and maker programs. The team collaborates on the selection and management of digital assets and the provision of digital services to the public and to staff. During a technology-focused working session as part of this process, three goals were set for Digital Services that pivots focus from technical support to patron-focus:

- Support individual and co-working: provide a more holistic and less ad-hoc support for freelance and co-working patrons re: physical environment and resources, and technical resources.
- Increase educational offerings: continue the RCL tradition of supporting learning for all ages via platforms and resources that encourage self-discovery, offer incremental learning, and connect patrons with resources and knowledge across many learning areas.
- Focus on discovery: contribute to the Ramsey County Library as a place for exposure to new skills, and to be a resource for materials that encourage curiosity about learning and hands-on making.

Planning and investment is already in process towards these goals, and others in support of browsing, wayfinding, access to digital resources, and user interface for the RCL website. Web platform updates are needed and currently in development to provide better discovery and a more responsive display of resources.

A source of constant comment within the system, including via the outreach methods used during this process, is the request for additional access to tech resources: whether for more tech labs or for more one-on-one assistance. As with most public libraries, these requests have an endless source, so organizations must be strategic in expanding services by balancing that financial investment, including the need for additional staff hours, with the direct value to patrons within the system.

Other issues under consideration by the Digital Services team include:

- Digital signage: existing signage is out of date and lacks ease of use for understanding ‘today’s events’ per branch and system-wide, ease for understanding what’s happening in each space, what a current happening event may be, ability to browse for more information. Digital Services acknowledges that funding is available for this scope of work, with the intent of utilizing digital signage to its full capacity; this may entail relocating some units to other locations for increased visibility and use.

- Languages other than English: identifying which resources should be available in which languages, and how best to support those offerings over time, requires focused development. RCL is interested in piloting solutions for quick translation, to facilitate service exchanges and reference responses.

- Technology for study/meeting rooms: currently there is one mobile screen and cart per branch, for ease of providing digital support in study/meeting rooms. RCL Digital Services is exploring other ways of providing technology to support room usage and collaboration. There is interest in a fully-outfitted patron conference room, and this is being considered along with RCL support of business uses.

- Supporting pop-up library events: pop-up open library events reach new people in new places, offering laptop use, wi-fi hotspot, and a traveling collection. Digital Services should continue supporting the most useful resources for this outreach.

- Investments in power infrastructure: modifications to existing facilities to provide more power locations and more powered furniture to support comfort, mobility, and ease of use.

- Support for growing Maker programs: current practices require temporary setup and take-down of delicate equipment in multi-purpose spaces. Digital Services is exploring build-outs to house Maker programs and equipment and improve patron access.

RECOMMENDATIONS

RCL technology should facilitate and encourage learning and exploration both independently and in collaboration. Ramsey County Library Digital Services can continue to focus on visioning, planning, and implementation of a robust technology vision for library service, active learning, collaboration, and integration.

ACTIONS

Explore increasing proportion of budget allocated to technology and electronic expenditures. Focus on: business uses, educational support, and discovery (new skills and RCL resources)

Consider investing in library vending units for a few strategic locations (high-use areas, under-covered areas within the RCL system) for holds, returns, and select on-demand collections.

Continue developing Maker Spaces at regional libraries and develop all-ages programming to facilitate exploration and independent use. Account for necessary increases in staffing to support planning, implementation, and ongoing development.

Continue strategic investing in tools that enhance the patron’s experience and ease of connection with materials and resources: self-checkouts, touchscreens for shelving end caps and wayfinding, tools to support roaming or floating staff, and device loaning.

Implement updates to digital signage system/infrastructure to better support communication of branch-specific and system-wide events and offerings, etc.

Implement new web platform and catalog discovery layer to improve online content access and responsiveness on all devices.
Peer Benchmarking
Peer Benchmarking

Peer Benchmarking: Introduction

Within a master plan report, benchmarking against peer organizations is used to establish context for an organization’s performance, strengths and challenges. This both allows for critical reflection of existing performance while also offering opportunities for visioning and goal-setting in specific areas of improvement and development.

Relevant components of comparison include: service area population, revenue and expenditures (total, collection, electronics), total number of facilities, circulation (overall, children’s, electronic materials), total number of staff (total, MLS librarian, and other), and with other data sets: comparison of circulation, e-circulation, visits, and program attendance per capita. These metrics provide an understanding of how different organizations invest in services, and allow for a simple assessment of comparison: equivalent, higher, or lower values.

Overall, Ramsey County Library is a locally and nationally high-performing system across a number of measures including registered users, visits, circulation, and programming. The American Library Association estimates that there are 9,057 public libraries in the United States, and of those, only 257 have earned stars from Library Journal, which scores libraries on per-capita performance. Within that small number, there are only 4 libraries ranked in the state of Minnesota in 2018: Grand Marais Public Library (5 stars), Ely Public Library (4 stars), Ramsey County (3 stars), and Baudette Public Library (3 stars).

When benchmarking, it is important to contextualize comparisons for relevancy of data: for example, total expenditures have an impact on a library’s ability to invest in staff, collections, and technology, so comparison between libraries with different expenditure categories should be circumspect in drawing conclusions.

PEER LIBRARIES: RCL BENCHMARKING: 7-COUNTY METRO AREA

For internal annual benchmarking the Ramsey County Library system compares against peers within MELSA in the 7-county metropolitan area of Minneapolis and Saint Paul:

• Hennepin County
• Washington County
• Anoka County
• Dakota County
• Scott County
• Carver County
• Saint Paul Public Library

Amongst this peer group, Ramsey County Library is similar to the median service population (RCL 231,811, median 258,440), is on the lower end of total facilities (RCL 7, mean 10), is similar to the mean of total expenditures (RCL $10.9m, mean $10.3m), and has a generally higher total circulation (RCL 4.6m items, mean 2.9m items). The relevancy of adjacent counties and MELSA peers are commonalities of geography, service type, overall demographics, and Minnesota context.
Also used with internal annual benchmarking are the following peers, comparable because of similar service area populations (average 240,602 people), and similar total revenue (average $11.2m).

- Boise Public Library, Idaho
- Capital Area District Libraries, Michigan
- Frederick County Public Libraries, Maryland
- Kitsap Regional Library, Washington
- Lake County Public Library, Indiana
- North Central Regional Library, Washington

While there are some similarities between this group, Ramsey County is on the lower end of total number of facilities (this group averages 11 facilities), so for a smaller overall number of facilities RCL is spending more money and has a higher overall circulation.

Library Journal, a national print and online publication for public and academic libraries, has an annual ranking of public libraries based on “indicators of library service provision” including library visits, circulation, program attendance, among others. Ramsey County Library is a regularly-ranked library, most recently earning 3 stars out of 5.

Compared to national peers within the same operating budget range, and earning the same number of stars, Ramsey County Library has:

- A smaller number of facilities. (Average for the group is 11, RCL has 7).
- Serves almost 18% more people per facility.
- A circulation per capita which is 50% higher than peers within this same category.
- A similar proportion of expenditures allocated to staff and to collections.

Ramsey County Library’s statistics, when reviewed against systems of similar operating expenditure also recognized as high-performing, validates that RCL achieves a high level of service and performance compared to peers whose systems in general are larger in size, with greater capital budgets.

Across the various categories measured, Ramsey County Library in many cases aligns with peers, and in cases where RCL falls below peer averages, it is often as a result of comparison against systems with either more facilities, higher operating expenditures, or both.

Ramsey County Library is a healthy system, with regular high visitorship, consistently high circulation, and programming that has increased over time and is operating to capacity.

In general, Ramsey County Library is a system that is generally smaller than its Library Journal 3-star peers, meaning that it is operating at an extremely high level to be competitive with systems of greater size and expenditure. This is both an accomplishment to be honored, and an achievement level that should continue to be a guidepost for continued planning and operations.

PEER LIBRARIES: RCL BENCHMARKING:

7-COUNTY METRO AREA

Amongst the 7-county metro area library systems the Ramsey County Library:

- Has a slightly smaller service area population: 231,811 vs. the group mean of 271,608.
- Ranks in the bottom half of the group for physical facilities per capita: 1 building per 31,519 residents, compared to an average of 1 per 18,907 people for Carver, Scott, and Hennepin County Libraries. RCL has two fewer facilities than the mean value for this peer group (10 facilities).
- Excluding Hennepin County as an outlier (it has 6x more staff than the average of this group), RCL has a similar amount of total staff, MLS librarian, and librarian staff, as the average of the group. Staff expenditures are also average: 66% of total expenditures are allocated to staff costs.
- RCL spends slightly less on both collection (9%) and electronic expenditures (1%) compared to the group averages (12%, 3% respectively).
- RCL has the third-highest circulation and e-circulation, behind Hennepin and Dakota counties.

VISITS PER CAPITA

Visits per capita are 56% higher at Ramsey County Library than for the mean within the Metro Area. The next highest is Carver County, with 5.5 visits per capita.

RCL 6.9

7-CO. METRO 4.4 mean (incl. RCL)

CIRCULATION PER FTE

Circulation per FTE at Ramsey County Library is 36% higher than the mean circ/FTE for MELSA 7-county Metro Area libraries. This reflects a total overall circulation at RCL that is 60% higher than the mean for 7-county metro libraries.

RCL 40,428

7-CO. METRO 29,679 mean (incl. RCL)
ELECTRONIC EXPENDITURES

Compared to MELSA peers within the 7-County Metro Area, RCL has the third lowest electronic expenditures (behind Scott County ($124k) and Anoka County ($66k)). RCL is spending 1% of its operating budget on electronic expenditures, vs. 3% for peers.

RCL $135,504*
7-CO. METRO $257,843 mean

*This value should be taken in context, as Ramsey County Library’s overall electronic expenditures are part of a collective purchasing agreement within MELSA, so this represents direct purchasing only.

 Mean value is used here as Hennepin County has a $2.4m electronic expenditure, which otherwise raises the average for the group to $493,708.

PEER LIBRARIES: RCL BENCHMARKING: PEERS

Library systems within this group are located across the country: from East Coast to Midwest and West Coast, and represent systems with comparable service area populations (240,000 on average) and similar total expenditures ($10.6m on average) and collection expenditures ($1.37m on average).

Ramsey County Library differs from this peer group in:

- Smaller number of facilities: 7 compared to the average of 11.
- 18% fewer total staff members, specifically within the MLS Librarian and Other Staff groups.
- Slightly higher staff expenditures (5% higher than the group average of $6.8m).
- Significantly lower electronic expenditures: around $200,000 less (40% lower than the peer group average of $335,927).
- Among the highest number of users, with total circulation that is 20% higher than the peer group average, and e-circ which is 10% higher than the peer group average.
- Given similarities and differences between RCL and this particular peer group, RCL is spending more money, with higher circulation, for a smaller number of facilities overall.

VISITS PER CAPITA

Visits per capita are 35% higher at Ramsey County Library than for the mean of this peer group.

RCL 6.9
PEERS 5.1 mean (excl. RCL)

CIRCULATION PER CAPITA

Ramsey County Library is a consistent leader in circulation, and within this peer group has a circulation per capita that is 90% higher than the peer group mean.

RCL 19.8
PEERS 10.4 mean (excl. RCL)

ELECTRONIC EXPENDITURES

Electronic expenditures for RCL* are 2.4x lower than those for this peer group, though there is an almost $680,000 spread between the highest and lowest electronic expenditures of this group.

RCL $135,504*
PEERS $321,762 mean
Existing Facility Condition Assessments
“I enjoy the quiet, small intimate space at NSP library. Great librarians, too. Thanks!”
- Survey Respondent, RCL-North St. Paul

“Need better signage on Beam Ave and Southlawn and outside library building so that people can find the library.”
- Survey Respondent, RCL-Maplewood

“I think the big, steep stairway in the Roseville building makes it hard for those of us who are not officially handicapped but somewhat mobility challenged. One small elevator is not enough.”
- Survey Respondent, RCL-Roseville

“Let’s use an already new, updated, financed, heated, and conditioned air space building to maximum advantage. Give people a community indoor space during the...depressing time of the dark winter months of the year.”
- Survey Respondent, RCL-White Bear Lake
Existing Conditions Overview

Existing facilities were assessed through site visits for observations about the condition and integrity of the building, of finishes and furnishings and of MEP (mechanical, electrical, plumbing) and lighting systems [refer to full engineering assessment in the Appendix]. Assessments also included review of existing space use and furniture layout within both front-of-house (public) and back-of-house (staff) spaces.

Overall, Ramsey County Library facilities are well-maintained, and given implementation of recommendations from the last facilities master plan, most facilities are relatively recently constructed or renovated, with the exception of Maplewood, which is 12 years old, and Mounds View, which is 29 years old. These facilities have the most pressing issues adversely affecting library programming, services, and use: in the case of Maplewood, substandard environmental acoustics are detrimental to patron and staff experience at all times, and in the case of Mounds View, a facility which given its masonry construction type, does not allow for more standard non-structural interior renovations and replanning of interior spaces to support current collections and program expectations.

As RCL’s physical facilities do not have any significant life safety, structural integrity, envelope (roof or exterior wall) integrity issues, or any outstanding accessibility impediments, the chief focus of any new work is to more closely align space use with desired functionality and flexibility for collections, for reading and study space, to facilitate stronger connections between RCL staff and patrons, and for discrete interventions and renovations to resolve issues of acoustics, and to better accommodate new uses.

Detailed Recommendations

Prioritization and Phasing

One outcome of this facilities master plan is a prioritized implementation plan: one that begins with facilities with the most critical infrastructure, space, and operational needs, and progresses to incremental scope at facilities without critical needs. This will provide the highest value for near-term investment while also framing a system-wide approach to facility, furnishings, infrastructure, and signage investment.

As with other graphics in this report, the most critical needs are identified in red, near-term needs in orange, and those with lowest need in green and blue, which is used for facilities that have been constructed/renovated within the last few years. White is used to indicate issues where no intervention is required as an outcome of this report; these areas should be re-evaluated at the time of the next facilities master plan.

Prioritization and phasing is recommended as follows, but is subject to review and consideration by library leadership, to available funding, and where applicable, subject to coordination with county-wide initiatives and property management.

Prioritized Phasing by Branch

1. RCL-Maplewood: The RCL facility with greatest need, as existing acoustic issues within front-of-house collections and service areas have a regular, daily, negative impact for a majority of patrons and staff. Work to be based on the guidelines and recommendations set forth in the 2018 Pre-Design Assessment.

2. RCL-Mounds View: The oldest unrenovated facility within the RCL system, RCL-Mounds View will benefit from a two-stage process: Stage I is a focused renovation to demonstrate change and improve collections and service areas, with professional services to prepare contract documents for the recommended discrete architectural interventions. Stage II will be a holistic renovation of the facility, intended to improve both front and back of house spaces, and as a significant capital project should be planned for in advance for funding purposes.

3. RCL-Roseville: As the most-visited facility within the RCL system, RCL-Roseville continues to be a centerpiece for the system, in high demand almost ten years after a significant renovation. To maintain a high level of service and use, investment in the facility is recommended in two stages: Stage I will support two key items: already incipient planning... for a flexible Maker Space for all ages, as a centralized resource within the overall system, and reconfiguration of staff operations areas for Digital Services to best support that service area. Stage II, towards the end of the overall implementation timeline, will address evolutions in space needs since the last renovation, to ensure a library that offers the spaces, collections, choice and programs that best support the broader community.

4. RCL-White Bear Lake: A well-kept facility, RCL-White Bear Lake is in good condition, and as such is listed as a moderate-priority. Concurrent with this project, RCL has in-progress plans to address two existing issues: one related to acoustics and sound travel from the children’s area, and the other related to the existing mechanical system.

5. RCL-North St. Paul: As this facility is leased through North St. Paul, the nature of facilities recommendations is different than for most of the other RCL branches. This report has identified issues of location, awareness, and access which are limiting the impact of the facility; a new lease location, if and when one might be available for the library, would benefit both the community and the library.

6. RCL-New Brighton: Another leased location, RCL- New Brighton, is in good condition, and fully programmed and built-out within the existing location. No facility work is recommended as part of this project; the facility should be reviewed for needs during the next facilities master plan.

7. RCL-Shoreview: Completed in 2017, Shoreview is in “like new” condition, without any facility or infrastructure issues negatively impacting operations or service. As such, it is the lowest priority on this list, but a facility that should be considered relative to overall RCL exterior signage for consistency within the system.

SYSTEM-WIDE INITIATIVES

A. RCL System-wide Staff Furnishings: As noted earlier in this report, staff furnishings throughout the system are in need of renewal, and a system-wide investment will allow Ramsey County Library to have a single system type for staff workstations and seating, while still providing more unique front of house furnishings that reinforce the character of individual branches while providing a broader range of choice and comfort. Given persistent issues across the system, it is recommended that implementation of this process be within the next 1-3 years, subject to alignment with other planned projects and subject to available capital funds.

B. RCL System-wide Exterior Signage: While signage can be viewed as less critical than other infrastructure needs, wayfinding to a public building is critical, especially as libraries are often a first resource for newly-relocated residents and for immigrants. At the same time, the vitality of the Ramsey County Library also rests on a strong visual identity, to support and reinforce the library as a rich network of resources and destinations. To assist in longer-term planning and prioritization, it is recommended that RCL pursue an assessment and planning process within the next 1-2 years to explore scope, branding, and coordination with Ramsey County signage guidelines and initiatives to produce a project scope document including preliminary cost estimating so exterior signage renewal can be integrated with other capital projects.
Detailed Recommendations

Based on the outcomes of the Pre-Design Study completed in 2018, reinforced by issues raised during the assessment and outreach process of this facilities master plan, RCL-Maplewood was submitted to Ramsey County in winter of 2018 for consideration for capital investment. This reflects this facility as the most critical priority within the Ramsey County Library, as persistent building acoustics have a negative daily impact on all users and staff. This facility should be the subject of a full design and coordination process, resulting in construction documents for implementation by a construction manager. While a focused renovation process like this typically does not utilize specialty engineers beyond mechanical, electrical, plumbing, and fire protection, it is recommended that any Request for Proposal (RFP) include a request for an acoustic engineer and a lighting engineer, as these are two critical engineering disciplines.

BUILDINGS AND GROUNDS

Key issues identified during the Pre-Design Study included:

- Noise: The existing open space (undivided collections, reading, service, and computing space) allows sound to travel and echo across the entirety of the library. Sound traveling and echoing disrupts quiet reading and working, is a distraction to patrons and staff, and generally contributes to a less peaceful and inviting space for all.
- Worn Finishes: Reading area lounge furnishings in particular are worn almost to the point of failure, which makes spaces less inviting and affects ongoing durability and character of the library.
- Sightlines: Existing service desks are in-line with the building’s core, limiting staff visibility to and from collections and reading areas, which impacts their oversight and minimizes ease of resource use for patrons.
- Lobby and Security Gates: Post-construction installation of security gates has segregated the lobby from the rest of the library, leaving a valuable portion of the building unable to serve primary library programming and use.
- Former Cafe Space: With dedicated outdoor entry, this space could be repurposed for use as a location for Ramsey County service delivery.

A holistic re-planning of the library is recommended to relocate noisy uses (children and teen’s), create acoustic zones, and enhance service flow.

COLLECTIONS

RCL-Maplewood’s merchandizing of popular collections is engaging. The prime location allows users quick access. A similar display and prominent location for a portion of the YA collection would foster an increase in collections use by this group. Targeted weeding of the Media Collection along with fixture replacement are recommended; fixtures housing this collection type are filled beyond capacity. Traditional adjustable shelving with pull-out drawers would facilitate browsing while minimizing the footprint of this in-demand collection.

RCL-Maplewood could support a library locker/vending unit in Little Canada for greater distribution of collection and services across the county.

FINISHES AND FURNISHINGS

This well-used regional branch needs attention. Public lounge furnishings throughout are in substantially deteriorated conditions and need replacement. Staff area furnishings are oversized, inefficient, and are preventing daylight distribution and views throughout the work space. Additional acoustic treatment should be strategically applied at ceilings and walls.
RCL-MOUNDS VIEW

The building does not have any substantial infrastructure concerns: the exterior envelope and structure are sound, and the mechanical system works, albeit with some comfort issues in back of house staff spaces. At one time, this facility had a community garden and welcoming landscape plantings; over time these have languished, though the community is interested in outdoor reading and program space. Inside, tall collections shelving serves as a visual barrier across the library, and collections areas are only defined by their distribution around the building perimeter. RCL-Mounds View can only be accessed by roads at the rear of the building within the residential neighborhood. A curb cut and driveway from Mounds View Boulevard might encourage higher levels of patronage.

COLLECTIONS

After studying the collection analysis data, RCL-Mounds View patrons could benefit from better access to their collection, or more assistance in accessing and navigating the catalog.

Mounds View’s collection falls below the turnover rates in all collection types except video games. Interestingly, programming provided by Mounds View is highly successful. Understanding and supporting this connection between collections and programming may encourage a richer level of patron engagement and use of library materials and resources.

FINISHES AND FURNISHINGS

Mounds View has responded well to their user’s needs for furnishings; however, when a new location and/or major renovation is considered, furnishings that more fully support variety in choice should be priority. Though this branch is small, the users needs are vast and furnishings should support this varied user group. For instance, one attendee at a public outreach session was a wheelchair user, and noted he would appreciate greater ability to navigate the stacks, as this would increase his level of freedom and independence within the library.

Staff furnishings need immediate attention: RCL-Mounds View is functioning with second-hand furnishings and built-in millwork that are not responsive to user ergonomics and current operations. Investment in a furniture refresh would better support daily tasks in both the back of house and at front of house service desks. Application of the recommended RCL standard for staff workstations will facilitate improvements in operations. A more defined staff break room with a selection of furniture would offer choice and comfort during period breaks.
RCL-ROSEVILLE

RCL-Roseville is a vibrant, heavily-used facility within the Ramsey County Library system, and benefitted from a substantial renovation in 2010. As a regional library approaching a decade of heavy use, RCL-Roseville would benefit from a two-stage strategic renovation in key areas to better respond to current and future needs. Implementation of this scope is recommended in two phases: the first, to renovate the Digital Services staff area to support current workflow and operations, to create a flexible maker space for use by all ages, and address the most worn furnishings. This phase would also include select MEP upgrades per the report. The second phase would be a broader design and space-planning assessment to provide additional study rooms, revised collaboration space, and to accommodate new uses such as a maker space. Acoustics have been raised as an issue, but as with other RCL facilities, comments appear to spring as much from behavior/perception (Are libraries spaces for only quiet, or are they spaces for collaboration and dialogue? Perspectives appear to be generational) as from any specific space acoustics issues.

BUILDINGS AND GROUNDS

The existing facility is both well-kept and heavily used. In general the existing building, both exterior and interior, is in good condition with only localized issues with building mechanical and lighting systems. Critical issues are related to space use; the existing building has the capacity for reconfiguration to provide additional study rooms, revised collaboration space, and to accommodate new uses such as a maker space. Acoustics have been raised as an issue, but as with other RCL facilities, comments appear to spring as much from behavior/perception (Are libraries spaces for only quiet, or are they spaces for collaboration and dialogue? Perspectives appear to be generational) as from any specific space acoustics issues.

COLLECTIONS

While RCL-Roseville generally leads circulation for a number of collections, in other areas turnover rates align with system averages, suggesting opportunities to explore other methods of maintaining collections while also providing expanded areas for study and meeting rooms.

In general, turnover rates for the various media collections are 1/3 to 2x as high as system-wide averages, so this collection is still heavily used. Transitioning to more typical library shelving with pull-out browsing drawers would maintain the collection while also providing a more efficient use of space. RCL-Roseville could support library locker/vending units for greater distribution of collection and services across the county.

FINISHES AND FURNISHINGS

Public furnishings get a lot of use and wear; investment in some new pieces would provide greater choice and comfort for a range of users. Implementing a supplementary maintenance plan will help RCL to manage furnishings over time to ensure maximum longevity and durability.

New furnishings for the Digital Services workroom are required, as the existing items were installed used and do not align with current operational workflows and needs.

There is a planned investment in a dedicated but flexible maker space adjacent to the atrium. Investment in storage for supplies, furnishings for support, and acoustic and visual privacy will ensure this space best supports lifelong learning and exploration.

The teen and children’s workroom could be reconfigured with new workstations to better meet existing needs.
RCL-White Bear Lake was substantially renovated and expanded in 2015, and since then has been well-kept, such that there are few issues with the building or furnishings. Collections spaces offer wide aisles for easy access, and there are a range of reading and study areas. In general surveys of patrons and staff did not identify major issues, though there were some comments about space acoustics regarding the open children’s area and its adjacency to the program room and open floor plan allowing noise from that area to reach public computers and reading areas at the rear of the facility. This facility should be targeted for review between 2023 and 2027, a typical age for targeted renovation for space and collection needs in response to issues at the time.

BUILDINGS AND GROUNDS
The facility is in generally good condition, with recent maintenance improvements for issues with the roof and mechanical systems. RCL currently has plans in progress to address two items: an issue with temperature control of the mechanical system, and the need to address sound management and noise flow issues from the children’s area into the rest of the building as sound travels throughout the open space affecting patrons in many areas of the library. It is recommended that an acoustician be consulted for advice on remediation methods including placement and specification of acoustic materials or assemblies. Maintaining the open feel of the library will mean sound management versus true acoustic isolation.

COLLECTIONS
RCL-White Bear Lake’s turnover rates suggest that all collection types are under-utilized, as as turnover rates are below or far below system averages. This suggests the library is most heavily used for programming, reading and study space, and public computer use. Revisiting the display of popular materials in a more retail-like format similar to RCL-Maplewood or RCL-New Brighton might encourage more browsing and checkout of such materials.

FINISHES AND FURNISHINGS
Public furnishings are in good condition. As part of consideration for the whole RCL system, RCL-White Bear Lake would benefit from a preventative maintenance plan to ensure longevity and durability of existing furnishings.

Staff furnishings are in good condition. Replacing built-in millwork with furniture based solutions would increase flexibility and adaptability over time in response to changing staff and operations. RCL-White Bear Lake is in near-new condition, and has been well-kept as a building and relative to general furnishings wear and tear. Limited scope at this facility include investment in refurbishment/renewal of a portion of staff furnishings, and inclusion in any system-wide redevelopment of exterior signage. Exterior building signage relative to the parking lot at the side of the building should be addressed as part of the system-wide signage package.
Detailed Recommendations

RCL-NORTH ST. PAUL

RCL-NORTH ST. PAUL

The three greatest challenges at this facility are visibility, access, and size. With even the modest number of patrons, mostly all weekly regulars, there is not enough space for public computers, there are no study rooms, and a compressed amount of space for children’s, elementary, and teen collections and reading spaces. A recent expansion into a formerly shared community room has allowed for a dedicated children’s area. The library space is clean and well-kept, with high-quality wood finishes. Back of house space is limited, and affects operations as the immediate adjacency between the back of house technical services area and the front service desk affects staff privacy and focus. In the near-term, RCL should invest in finish renewal: carpet and paint, etc. as a facility refresh.

Should there be an opportunity to relocate to another built-out lease location that would offer more space, adjacent public transportation access to multiple lines, and better visibility, it would benefit both the community and the library. Any relocation should increase this branch’s baseline services, including provisions for public computers for adults, teens, and children, enclosed study rooms for tutoring, counseling, and collaboration, and enough space to balance collections with open reading and study areas for all ages.

COLLECTIONS

The existing collection is currently held on millwork shelves rather than traditional library shelving. Though the aesthetic of this is pleasing, the branch could be served better with library shelving, which would provide greater flexibility for reconfiguration and adaptation over time.

The turnover rate for North St. Paul is higher than average for most of its collection types. This may indicate the appetite for greater offerings. Additional review of detailed circulation statistics can inform collection investment aligned with community needs.

FINISHES AND FURNISHINGS

Public furnishings at North St. Paul are well utilized. During several visits most of the seating was in use. RCL should consider providing more space for seating and reading tables at a future location so that more people can utilize the library throughout the day.

Staff furnishings could be improved: the built-in nature of existing furnishings does not allow for adaptive positions according to different tasks and for changing ergonomics throughout the day.

RCL-North St. Paul was originally located in the North St. Paul Community Center in 2005, as a result of a partnership between the Library, the City, and the County, and the successful pairing served as a model for the later project locating New Brighton within the community center. Since then, the community center has closed, and its real estate taken over by a private volleyball coaching company; this has had a substantial impact on library traffic and has eliminated previous shared space for public computers. Through dialogue with staff and library leadership, in conjunction with survey outcomes, it is clear that this branch could be serving more of the community in a more dense urban location with multiple public transportation options to reach patrons who would benefit from connection to library resources, materials and programming to support social and financial health, employment, and educational attainment.
The co-location of RCL-New Brighton in the Community Center in 2011 has been a successful enterprise offering “one-stop” ease of use for patrons. Though modest in size, this is another RCL branch with dedicated users who have strong connections to library staff. The facility is in good condition and is currently at capacity within the leased space. As no critical issues were identified for this facility, the recommendation is for strategic investment in reconfiguration of the staff space, with new staff furnishings and exterior building signage, though the facility could be reassessed in another 2-5 years for potential reconfiguration for collection, space, and programming needs at the time. As Ramsey County explores adjacent co-location of a service center, RCL-New Brighton would benefit from the increased foot traffic in the building.

BUILDINGS AND GROUNDS
The existing facility is in good condition, with the most pressing issues related to workflow in the back of house staff space, and issues with exterior signage relative to wayfinding to the library.

COLLECTIONS
New Brighton’s collection is dedicated to New Brighton library visitors, similar to North St. Paul, the collection does not circulate to other RCL branches. Turnover rates for this location generally align with overall system averages, which suggests a healthy level of use across collection types. Intentional and thoughtful display at the front door of popular collections is a useful strategy to engage users passing by from the community center.

The convenience of New Brighton’s exterior book drop is popular with those who otherwise use the regional branches of Roseville and Shoreview to borrow materials; it is easier to navigate for quick drop-offs than the book drops at the other two locations.

FINISHES AND FURNISHINGS
The public furnishings are generally in good condition though the lounge seating is fairly worn with puddled fabric on the seats. Children’s furnishings are in good condition as well; overall the facility would benefit from a preventative maintenance program to ensure longevity of installed furnishings.

The staff area and furnishings need attention: the space is particularly full for accommodating both staff and volunteer work at the same time, and furnishings are dated and somewhat makeshift. RCL has addressed some of the space issues by creating a branch manager’s office within the front of house service area; this solution alleviates some, but not all, of the space constraints. Staff do not have a break area that is separate from workspace.
As the newest facility in the system, Shoreview is in excellent condition, with no critical operational or infrastructure issues identified that impact patron use and comfort or staff operations. Facility features and accommodations are a draw for users throughout the RCL system. This facility should be targeted for review between 2025 and 2029, a typical time period in which building, infrastructure, or collections and operations issues would warrant strategic re-planning or renovation. RCL-Shoreview has been noted to have similar exterior wayfinding issues as have been noted across the Ramsey County Library system, so inclusion in a system-wide approach to exterior signage and branding would benefit this valuable resource.

No critical items noted, with the exception of confusing exterior signage. Public outreach suggested interest in development of more of an identity for the teen space, and for clarity of the maker space area as being all ages; this report recommends these issues be tracked for more time before action is taken.

COLLECTIONS
RCL-Shoreview’s youth and media collections have a higher turnover rate than system-wide averages, while the adult collection matches system-wide turnover rates. Periodicals and the Young Adult collection have turnover rates that are lower than system-wide averages, so review of display and access could identify opportunities for a retail-approach to encourage browsing and circulation of these collections.

FINISHES AND FURNISHINGS
Finishes and furnishings are in good condition, with a wide range of pieces providing options for choice and comfort throughout the facility.
Ramsey County “Accessible Service Delivery and Facilities”

OVERVIEW

Late in 2018, Ramsey County initiated a task force to study current delivery of Ramsey County services, and to explore potential pathways to distribute services across the county. As of the completion of this report, that work is ongoing; the goal of reaching more residents in a more direct way has ties to ongoing capital planning for Ramsey County Library given opportunities for potential partnerships and building out service space to augment library facilities. Possibilities that may arise from recommendations of the “Accessible Service Delivery and Facilities” Task Force:

- Build-outs at or adjacent to Ramsey County Library facilities to serve as satellite locations.
- Leveraging technology in libraries to support remote access to services.

There is more work to be done for the County to determine which resources are most useful in what locations, and to identify the level of investment in infrastructure and support to facilitate the usefulness of distributed services throughout the county. As Ramsey County continues to grow, and as its demographics continue to evolve, the ability to utilize Ramsey County services at a Ramsey County Library site is a positive opportunity for “one stop shopping” for residents.

RCL facilities that are well-suited for such complementary build-outs as part of implementation of the recommendations of this master plan include:

- Maplewood: the former cafe space has the capacity to be reused as program space or for service delivery given its dedicated outside door and generous open space.
- New Brighton Community Center: adjacency of Ramsey County services to the existing library would benefit patrons of both the library and the community center.
- Mounds View: as a major renovation or addition is recommended, and also given its location near one of Ramsey County’s areas of concentrated poverty, integrating some amount of Ramsey County services within the library facility would serve those at need.
- Roseville: the existing site has capacity for either construction of a new center adjacent to the library or on the property to the north of the library. There is a history of success at this popular location: it is well-trafficked and heavily used.

Ramsey County proposed the categories above for potential integration at/near RCL facilities. For those answering “other,” write-in responses included:

- “None.” Among this group were very emphatic written responses that a library shouldn’t be reduced or minimized with public services. It should be noted that this was the second-highest response overall.
- “Specific requests” for library programs and classes for specific age groups/content types (employment, hobbies, taxes etc).
- “Senior Services” in a more robust capacity.

Supplementing Operating Hours

One of the biggest challenges for public service organizations is how to best provide the greatest amount of service to the greatest number of users within what are typically strict budgets.

Ramsey County Library is currently providing a high-level of service: recognized both through national ranking and through positive public survey and outreach feedback, and is operating at capacity: with a budget balanced between operations (staff, facilities, infrastructure), collections, and programming. What alternatives might be considered to expand library services with least impact to the operating budget?

• Explore technology systems that support secure library-card access control to a discrete amount of library space, materials and resources for use before or after library operating hours.

• Explore library vending machines or lockers to provide on-site or off-site access to holds, returns, new books, or a curated selection of media.

Of those surveyed, a majority of users (almost 47%) listed picking up holds as the most desirable library function outside of regular hours, with access to new books (33%) as a close second for material requests. For non-collection-related library services, programming was the most-requested item (almost 38%), with fill-in the blank responses outlining specific lifestyle needs (after regular work hours, earlier on weekends for parents and caregivers, specialty daytime programming to align with school breaks). Rounding out the top five services most desired outside of regular hours are access for print/copy/scanning (26%) and access to public computers (25%).

These top five desired services could be accommodated in various ways, which have different levels of impact on existing facilities, financial investment, and broadest impact for Ramsey County Library patrons. Any adaptation in service should be considered relative to system-wide use and needs; this could mean piloting after-hours items in a centralized, heavily-used part of suburban Ramsey County (either at RCL-Roseville or another high-traffic area), piloting to provide specific service components (physical materials) in areas with higher poverty and unemployment levels, or starting with a focused feasibility study to evaluate potential locations, potential costs, and alignment with local demographics and needs. Any expanded consideration of the potential services would want to reflect the three priorities identified during outreach:

• Access to materials: How best to provide limited access to targeted print materials (holds and new books)? Utilize vending-style or locker-style equipment at library locations (typically under a canopy, or optionally as drive-up or between sets of doors in an exterior vestibule, space permitting), or at areas within the community that are highly-trafficked: community centers, malls, grocery stores etc.

• Access to equipment: How best to provide secure and safe access to physical equipment after hours? Options include reconfiguration of a facility to provide either a small area that can be staffed for slightly-longer hours, or the use of a proprietary technology to provide library-card-secured access to a secured area (access controlled and video-monitored). Some public libraries have invested slightly more to provide small “satellite” locations embedded in other facilities (malls, community centers); these could be one to two public computers or a copy machine that are either unstaffed within a facility or are staffed at limited times.

• Access to facilities: To what degree is it physically or financially feasible to provide limited access to library spaces after hours? This is the most challenging in some ways, as space management after hours engages issues of personal safety, safety within the space and of equipment and furnishings therein, and entails facilities management and upkeep of spaces out of traditional hours. With similarities to both materials access and equipment access, this can be achieved either through focused renovations that provide limited access to a community space and restrooms after hours, while maintaining security of the rest of the library, or through collaboration or partnership with another facility for library events to be hosted at another location.

The survey process did not define specific potential areas for services, though issues related to short hours disproportionately affect those who are working during the daytime (across economic backgrounds and across Ramsey County). Consideration of potential expanded services such as these are best located either to augment existing high-use library facilities, or to provide supplemental service to areas furthest away from existing facilities, or those in areas of greatest need of library services and resources.

Financial implications vary by method and extent of implementation:

• Providing book drops at high-traffic community locations is low material investment but requires additional staff hours for pickup.

• Remote lockers come in various sizes, with or without integrated library computers or detailed computer interfaces.

• Automated library vending machines vary in size and complexity related to what types of product are accommodated (books, CDs/DVDs etc), and whether content is displayed or concealed.

• Modifications to existing buildings to provide separated and secure areas for after-hours use can also vary in complexity from the addition of doors, card readers and security cameras, to more extensive reconfigurations of existing spaces including changes to building systems (mechanical, lighting, etc).
Projected Facility Cost Summary

Projected costs have two components:

- Projected Construction Cost
  Costs associated with direct construction including materials, labor, and installation.

- Projected Project Cost
  Total projected costs inclusive of construction costs (hard costs) and project soft costs: professional services fees, permitting, technology.

Costs listed are projected, i.e. potential cost values based on the current understanding of potential project scope; actual project and construction costs will vary based on the specific detailed scope developed during detailed programming and design, and it is recommended that these values be revisited during any Pre-Design or Schematic Design phase for a given project to ensure alignment between current project program identified at the time and project goals for scope, extent, and quality.

Costs listed are also exclusive of escalation (inflation) or project contingencies, money which is set aside by the owner as a budget item to account for expansion of project scope during design, or by the construction manager to account for unforeseen issues during bidding or construction. As this report includes recommendations for prioritized implementation, a value of 4% per year should be applied to projected construction costs to account for annual escalation (i.e. increases in material and construction costs).

On an annual basis Library Journal publishes detailed cost information for new construction and renovation projects at public libraries across the country. This data is used as a reference point in conjunction with specific cost data from MSR’s recent library construction and renovation projects from across the country so that the projected construction cost/SF is based on current averages for similar work.

As system-wide furnishings refurbishment is recommended as a single project to take advantage of volume discounts, costs listed in this section are exclusive of any associated FF&E costs. In a similar vein, the recommendations of this report include a system-wide investment in exterior building signage; an overall design effort could establish a graphic language and consistency that could be employed with per-branch investment in new signage, or as a separate standalone capital project to refresh signage at all branches at once.

These costs are exclusive of any future investment in either 24/7 technologies, and also exclusive of any investment in library lockers or vending units. These items are difficult to estimate broadly, as detailed costs relate to specific scope of work, unit size, etc. For reference, depending upon complexity of unit (lockers only, lockers combined with library catalog computer, unit size, need for weather enclosure etc), library locker and vending units can range from $25,000 to upwards of $200,000. As noted in the survey, one of the most popular off-library services would be for returns, and placement of a secure library return station would be less expensive than a full locker or vending unit.

Detailed Recommendations: Finishes, Furnishings & Signage
Furnishings Introduction

The design team visited each of RCL’s branch locations to analyze both the public and staff use of furnishings and to review the conditions of existing furnishings in the public and staff areas. During these visits, the design team observed public behavior, use tendencies in relationship to furnishings, and noted the general conditions of furnishings. The design team also interviewed staff about public use of furnishings. Observations of dedicated staff space also took place. The design team interviewed staff regarding existing use, current work patterns, and general concerns in relationship to furnishings. The conversations and observations provide useful data for the following recommendations. The adjacent chart provides a visual summary rating the needs of each RCL branch which are separated between public area furnishings and staff area furnishings.

Facilities identified as having the greatest need are those where furnishings are most worn or where the type, style, or condition of specific furnishings does not support ergonomics or comfort. Finish and furnishings wear can reflect heavy use, can be indicative of furnishings that were already used when first relocated to a facility, or in some cases, indicate a material or finish specification that does not provide an institutional-level of durability and finish.

KEY

- No intervention needed
- Greatest Need
- Lowest Need

Greatest Need: 4

Lowest Need: 0
Furnishings satisfy much more than simply their functional purpose. Furnishings quickly engage with people at a human scale. They provide opportunities for users to connect and engage, and allow people to find respite and focus. Furnishings support the design aesthetic of a library, they can thoughtfully indicate expectations around behavior, and can even assist in intuitive way-finding. Furnishings should offer choice and accommodate diverse needs.

The condition of furnishings has an impact on the perception of a library. Well-maintained furnishings are more inviting and encourage better behaviors. Furnishings that are in disrepair may deter users from lingering in the library, encourage mistreatment of furnishings and the space and could become a liability.

When considering finishes for furnishings, durability and the ease of maintenance are paramount. In some instances integral or topical stain-resistant finishes can be specified to provide better performance. However, even with added stain-resistant properties, it is imperative that regular maintenance and cleaning be performed per the manufacturer’s guidelines.

Public Furnishings

The design team assessed the conditions of furnishings at each of the RCL branch locations, and recommends replacement, refurbishment, or repair as outlined. For each space type, recommendations have been provided for general character, function, and style of replacement furnishings.

PUBLIC MEETING ROOMS

Public meeting spaces are expected to provide flexibility, with varied furnishings and A/V equipment to support and encourage use by individuals and groups. The furnishings must be durable, lightweight and storable (flip top, nesting tables and stack seating), with storage directly adjacent to the space/room of use. Finishes associated with these furnishings must be durable and easily maintained. A/V that supports active learning and/or training as well as other programming opportunities should be coordinated with these spaces. All enclosed meeting spaces should have the ability for users to manage visual and acoustic privacy. Lighting control can be provided through dimmable electric lights.

STUDY ROOMS

Rooms that support focused work, group study and tutoring are necessary at each branch, and are a heavily-used resource already. Furnishings for these rooms need to support small groups of 1-2 and mid-sized groups of 6-8. Furnishings should be easily moveable so that collaboration can be easily supported. Different types of furnishings within study rooms allow users to select a room setup that meets their specific groups needs. These arrangements can be more traditional with a more typical study table and chairs to more casual lounge-style furnishings that allow users a more conversational/collaborative experience. A/V that supports active learning, video conferencing, etc. can be provided to support the function of these rooms. Visual privacy and acoustic privacy are recommended, in ways that still provide for library staff oversight.
Finishes, Furnishings & Signage

STUDY/READING/LOUNGE
Seating to support various postures and provide choice is an important feature of modern library. This includes traditional study and lounge furnishings as well as furnishings that enhance collaboration, allow patrons to find focus, and support a variety of body types and postures. Study tables for 1-2 as well as small groups of 3-4 can support a more upright posture. Height adjustability should be considered as an option in key locations for these types of furnishings so that users can adjust according to their comfort and needs. Lounge seating that supports users as they connect or find a quiet place to focus should be specified for longer-duration and more casual studying. Access to power and Wi-Fi must be adjacent to these various furnishings. Finishes must be durable and easily maintained.

TECHNOLOGY
Public computers may be grouped to provide efficient staff support and to better manage sound from this active set of programming, or can be separated into small groups for more privacy. Furnishings for these stations should be adaptable so that users can find a comfortable and supportive posture. Height adjustability and ergonomic adjustment are just a couple of considerations that can be provided through the specified furnishings. Additionally, RCL should plan on furnishings that accommodate users bringing their own technology to the library with furnishings that support access to power and Wi-Fi. Laptop lending could provide patrons more options for seating location, privacy, video-conferencing, and comfort. Finishes must be durable and easily maintained.

TEEN & CHILDREN’S
For branches with dedicated teen and children’s areas, furnishings should follow the same considerations as listed earlier. In addition, it is important that these spaces include both child-scaled and typical-scale furnishings for caregivers, tutors, and staff. Additional consideration should be made when selecting material finishes for children’s furnishings given their degree of use, issues of safety, and need for cleanliness and maintenance.

SHELVING/COLLECTION

In general, RCL’s shelving is standardized. This is both an efficient and cost effective strategy that serves RCL well. End panel design, canopy tops (when used) and millwork displays are typically custom and vary from branch to branch. This strategy allows for greater customization and allows the library a unique aesthetic based on the branch location. This however also limits flexibility. Specific strategies related to collection can be found in the “collection analysis” section of this document. Catalog stations and catalog software continue to evolve. RCL continues to explore opportunities to improve the way they reach and direct their users.

MAINTENANCE PLAN

Developing a comprehensive maintenance strategy for furnishings will support longevity of finishes and furnishings. Understanding that replacement and overhaul of furnishings is both disruptive and costly, and should be a planned event, it is critical to focus effort on preventative maintenance, upkeep, and repair of existing furnishings.

If Ramsey County Library does not have capacity for this approach, a third party vendor could provide regular assessment and repair for a modest fee. Furniture manufacturer’s representatives provide this as an added fee service, with the kind of detailed industry experience to best manage durability and function of pieces over time.

REPLACEMENT PLAN

There are locations where complete replacement of a furnishing group is required. In these instances, RCL should consider selections and finishes that are rated for commercial use, provide user-directed choice, and fit the overall aesthetic of the branch. The services of an independent designer should be acquired during this endeavor, and should not be a dealer-provided service. This will allow RCL a comprehensive set of selections to choose from, and will provide benefits for selection, specification, and budgeting.
Staff Furnishings

Staff engage with their furnishings in a much more functional way. This interaction has a direct relationship to employee performance: with furniture selected to best support function, staff can perform more efficiently and effectively. Furnishings should support the physical, cognitive and social needs of staff. They should offer choice and accommodate diverse needs for daily work.

The design team assessed the conditions of staff furnishings at all of the RCL branch locations. The recommendations serve as guidance for RCL in providing replacement and or repair to furnishings.

OPEN OFFICE
Furnishings should support the type of work a user is performing, as well as be flexible to accommodate a user’s specific needs. Staff workspace should support different work styles and enhance a user’s experience while performing tasks related to their daily work. In recent project work, Ramsey County Library (RCL) has adopted a model of the unassigned (or flex) circulation workstation.

This strategy allows greater user flexibility as they change between tasks, and also allows a more efficient use of staff work space. In larger branch locations, assigned workstations are also located within the open office. These workstations support staff whose primary tasks can be executed from a single location. Support areas such as print/copy and supply storage should be centrally located. Acoustics should be considered for staff that need focus for their daily tasks.

PRIVATE OFFICE
There is need for private offices within the library staff workspace. These offices are assigned and sometimes shared for greater efficiency. Furnishings for these private offices should be furniture system based rather than built-in components (millwork). This strategy allows for greater adaptability in the future. System based furnishings support different work styles and enhance a user’s experience while performing tasks related to their daily work. Private offices should also accommodate a space for private meetings. Furnishings should be provided for 1-2 additional guests. Storage furnishings that support the need for dedicated and secure storage should also be included.

STAFF BREAKROOM
This space allows staff to connect, relax, and recharge during their workday. The area is used for meal storage, preparation, eating, and otherwise taking breaks. A sink shall be provided so staff have access to filtered drinking water, meal preparation and easy clean up. There should be a variety of furnishings so that

While connecting with staff throughout the RCL system, staff at 5 out of 7 facilities expressed overwhelming support for more adequate layout space, dedicated breakroom space, and furnishings that fit their needs.
staff can relax in different postures. Finishes for the furnishings specific to this area should be durable and easily maintained. Staff lockers should be adjacent to the staff breakroom. This allows staff to store personal and work-related belongings in a secure way. Where feasible, a dedicated wellness room can provide a quiet, private space for nursing or recharging. Furnishings shall accommodate various postures and provide comfort. The finishes related to this seating should be durable and easily maintained.

MAINTENANCE PLAN
Ongoing maintenance is equally important for staff furnishings. The amount of daily use and wear is similar to the public furnishings, with the added impact of function and wear impacting workplace comfort and efficiency. If pursued as an option, any third-party ongoing maintenance or assessment should also include evaluation of staff furnishings.

REPLACEMENT PLAN
With RCL’s Shoreview project being the most recent branch completion, it would be prudent to consider standardizing on the Herman Miller Canvas product line. Canvas has multiple solutions for systems based furnishings and the capability for easy customization. This system-wide standardized approach is both adaptable and cost effective. Any changes in staffing or employee space needs could be responded to via a standardized furniture line. RCL could consider off-site storage and cataloged inventory through the awarded dealership. Additionally, this system is part of the U.S. Communities procurement contract. RCL is guaranteed the deepest discounting through this program.

Built-in workstation solutions should be replaced with free-standing systems based furnishings to best accommodate flexibility and change over time in ways that are easier and more cost effective to address. Height-adjustable worksurfaces and/or the option to change postures from sitting to standing while working has been shown to provide ergonomic benefits, and should be a consideration as planning and budget allow.

Breakroom furnishings should be functional and encourage posture change, as a means of providing physical respite during the workday. These furnishings do not need to be standardized.

The services of an independent designer should be acquired during a system-wide furnishings refresh endeavor, and should not be a dealer-provided service, as an independent designer will be able to provide more holistic planning, recommendation, and specifications in ways that address the key components of function, comfort, durability, and aesthetics.
Furnishings Recommendation Summary

Recommendations included in the matrix reflect detailed review of existing conditions. As noted, front-of-house public furnishings are in many cases worn or are not providing the best support of study, reading, and collaboration. Across the older facilities, staff furnishings have often been reused from other locations, with configurations and sizing that do not best support operations or ergonomics. Replacement and refurbishment according to the recommendations itemized in the matrix will provide furnishings which best support Ramsey County Library operations for both patrons and staff.

In general, durable, commercial-grade front-of-house furnishings can be provided for an average cost of $30/SF; durable, commercial-grade staff workstations can be provided for an average cost of $27/SF; with these as direct costs, with specification, installation, contingency and inflation as additional costs. In December 2018 a detailed cost matrix for system-wide furnishings refurbishment was provided to Ramsey County Library for submission for capital planning purposes. It should be noted that there is value in purchasing back-of-house furnishings concurrently, as dealers typically provide a volume discount.

Investment in preventative maintenance will extend the durability and function of new, repair, or refurbished furnishings. Whether this is accomplished through periodic review and response by Ramsey County Library facilities staff, or by engaging an outside furniture maintenance program through a dealer or representative, this is an investment which will facilitate long-term function of furniture and will allow for the addressing of issues before pieces are worn beyond repair.

Exterior Signage

A consistent point of commentary for library patrons, both in previous outreach efforts, and throughout this master planning process, has been exterior signage for Ramsey County Library facilities. Exterior signage for the library is inclusive of building-mounted signage, free-standing monument signs, and city/state signage upon approach to library facilities. Patrons have noted that exterior signage is:

- Confusing and unclear
- Difficult to read
- Does not assist with wayfinding

As part of this process, the team surveyed and documented existing sign types and locations, with generalized information about existing conditions (materials and lighting). While Ramsey County Library embraces and encourages the identity of each of its branches, the desire for a more uniform graphic identity has been expressed as a way to provide an underlying common identity between Ramsey County Library facilities. The primary issues requiring resolution are:

- Graphic inconsistency across signs at a given branch, and between branches (Composition, materiality, font style and size)
- Sign placement/type of sign inconsistency
- Clarity of sign content

RECOMMENDATIONS

RCL should confirm Ramsey County expectations and graphic standards for civic signage (ex: more recent signage suggests that the Ramsey County logo should be included). RCL should research process for locating government signs (who determines/suggests locations?). RCL should internally set guidelines for graphic consistency and Ramsey County Library brand identity.

Once this contextual work has been completed, it is recommended that RCL engage either a sign design company, a graphic designer, or an architect to provide a holistic signage design package so there can be a comprehensive, consistent approach to exterior signage across Ramsey County Library.

Appendix A: MEP Engineering Assessment

Representatives from the design team met with the Ramsey County Library Property Manager, Julie Neville (retired 2018) to gain an understanding of facilities management, planned capital projects, and understand issues of deferred maintenance. The current approach to property management is as follows, although it should be noted that this will be affected by the planned Ramsey County initiatives regarding property management. At the time of input dialogue:

- Seven RCL facilities (23 acres of grounds) managed by (1) building manager; (1) maintenance manager; and (1) MM2 manager.
- Current scope of work for facilities staff includes: interior performance and systems; exterior maintenance and groundskeeping; interior furniture and furnishings. RCL staff tracks work and generally subcontracts for execution.
- RCL had an Energy Manager specifically for tracking building performance against county-requested reductions in energy use of 8% per year. [Staff departed Winter 2018]. In 2017, RCL met a 5% reduction in energy usage.
- When Mounds View is closed Tuesdays, it is used as a “home base” for facilities to work.
- Staff use an SRS system to report issues to maintenance.

- Ramsey County Library facilities utilize the same thermostat set points as county buildings (per county standards): 68 degrees in the winter; and 74 degrees in the summer.
- Currently RCL maintenance is performed with 80% green products, and 20% regular cleaners. No significant capital projects or deferred maintenance items were identified. Persistent known issues: exterior signage for wayfinding, ice at front doors, lack of landscaping at a number of branches, perceived distances from parking lots to building entries, noise from children and teen areas, delays in room balancing because of delayed CO2 sensors, were reiterated during this session. Looking to the future two concerns were listed:
  - Impact of changes to operating schedules: Any expansion in operating schedules will increase wear on facilities and furnishings. Any planned expansion of operating schedules should be planned with a corresponding increase in budget for facilities and maintenance or quality of space will decrease from under-maintenance.
  - Evolution of facilities budget: Existing budget is perceived as “tight” already - i.e. does not accommodate landscaping at branches, requires prioritization and deferral of basic maintenance items. This group noted that budget cuts can happen without consultation re: impacts.

As part of the overall facilities assessment, MEP Associates was retained for per-branch assessment of MEP and lighting issues. Given recent construction and renovation of some RCL branches, the team focused their review on Roseville, Maplewood, and Mounds View, which are known to have some outstanding MEP infrastructure issues.

Buildings were found to be in relatively good condition, well maintained, and operating properly. Some maintenance and control issues associated with spot areas noted below.

While the team was requested to provide input on energy performance, only limited data was provided, which was insufficient for any trending analysis. Regarding the county-wide goal toward achieving an 8% energy improvement each year: there are limits on the efficiencies of each building’s system that prohibit continuous efficiency improvements. For example: a system can be tuned and balance to reach its maximum design performance, but cannot be adjusted to perform beyond its capacity. The main area of opportunity for energy savings and related facility improvement is in the area of lighting. All three facilities are using primarily fluorescent lighting and could replace those with LED fixtures, while also replacing existing systems more modern controls to better manage the use of artificial lighting.

This engineering team notes that it would be good practice for the county to consider a recommissioning process whereby, on a rotating basis, libraries are recommissioned to fine tune the operation, and make adjustments to the system operation to maintain building operations and system efficiencies at peak operating performance.

ROSEVILLE BRANCH MECHANICAL REVIEW
• The major renovation to the site took place in 2010, and most equipment dates from then. An exception is Air Handling Unit-1 (of two air handling units in the building) which had some of its guts altered (new fans with VFD etc.), but was left more or less in place and intact.
• The mechanical systems have been well-maintained and per facility management at site they have had relatively few problems.
• Current heating plant consists of Aerco boilers (2010). The boilers have required little maintenance and Owner is please with operation of heating plant.
• Current chilled water plant consists of air-cooled Trane chiller (2010). The chiller has required little maintenance, and in general has been please with operation of the chiller plant with the exception of occasional controller issues related to the chiller.
• Building Automation system – Tridium. They also have an add-on fault-detection program called Skysparks, a continuous commissioning type system which looks for for valves that never close, etc. The facility staff likes the system and is of opinion it has helped maintain the building in operating condition.
• They do have CO2 sensors in high density areas (project is a LEED building). They sensors have been problematic due to ongoing calibration issues, but they replace them as they fail with the newer, no-calibration required, type.
• No renewables on site.
• Setpoints hover around 69/73.
• They have no issue with humidity.
• There is one area that is consistently cold: lower level IT. It was part of the original bldg., and the design included reuse of the original finned tube radiation. It is likely the original finned tube radiation was designed on 180 degree F entering water, and the condensing boilers now produce lower water temperature, derating the capacity of the finned tube serving this space, thus creating a colder space.
• Facility has a lot of perimeter glazing without any automatic shading, so investment in that system could help manage heat gain/heat loss for modest energy performance improvements.

ROSEVILLE BRANCH ELECTRICAL REVIEW
• The utility service is 480/277 Volts, 3 phase, 2000 Amps. This facility has a natural gas generator backup sized for IT only, and its IT data room has a 20kVA UPS with (2) distribution panels for its server racks.
• The electrical distribution appears to be adequate and functioning well in the facility. Library personnel indicated that power outages are “common” (initial investigation showed approximately 3 times per year) and that phase protection equipment has been installed to mitigate frequent single-phase dropping from the utility.
• The primary opportunity for energy savings in this facility is in the area of lighting. Under the LEED Gold certification of the 2010 construction, significant daylight was brought into the building by design. However, probably due to the relative newness of cost-effective LED lighting during the 2009 design, all of the interior lighting is fluorescent, with the exception of one linear LED fixture with color features in the corridor leading to the Children’s area. (The exterior lighting was upgraded to LED under a separate project after construction.)

• In addition, the 2009 version of Wattstopper controls do not appear to incorporate the level of daylight harvesting that is typical of current Minnesota Energy guidelines; for example, a photocell near the windows on the second floor appeared to control only the light fixture immediately in front of the windows and not to lower the level of any light fixtures farther in. Facility personnel described the Wattstopper controls in place as “unreliable”; it is unclear whether this assessment refers to malfunction or to improper programming of some spaces. The Teen Area, particularly, has been reported to have sensors shutting the lighting off at inappropriate times; when lighting is updated, the occupancy and photocell sensing and controls should be recalculated also.

• Switching out the light fixtures for LED would reduce the lighting energy significantly. For the example of the 1x4 hanging pendants, if each has (2) T8 fluorescent bulbs, that is 64W per fixture. An LED replacement with similar lumen output would be approximately 44W, representing a cut of approximately 1/3 of the energy, in addition to substantially reduced maintenance. Although LED replacement bulbs for ballasted fluorescent fixtures are available, this is not a recommended approach, as the level of maintenance required is typically not reduced with these replacements. Even if the overall lighting strategy or fixture types were maintained, replacing the fixtures with LED equivalents throughout the facility is recommended. In addition, the lighting controls should be updated to include current daylight harvesting and occupancy/vacancy switching to the industry standard.

MAPLEWOOD BRANCH MECHANICAL REVIEW

• Controls are an older style of Invensys, which facility plans on replacing in a year or two; a front-end upgrade, with existing control elements to remain in place.
• Three Lochinvar Knight boilers, primary/secondary.
• The secondary pumps appear to run simultaneous, which seem suspicious as they typically operate in a lead / lag fashion. However, its is possible they operate in parallel to provide additional flow if one pump cannot maintain, further study would be required to establish.
• The boilers do NOT have acid neutralization kits, It is an issue that she should probably be addressed as the condensate from the boilers is acidic and can corrode the waste plumbing.
• Air side system consists of four roof-top units and one indoor air handling unit.
• The air handling unit appears to serve the open / stacks area of the library, including buried duct for perimeter wall/window wash.
• The supply ductwork is board insulation in the mechanical room, then a section that had no insulation, then followed by a wrap insulation. The uninsulated portion may be interior lined, or possibly a sound attenuation section, but could not confirm by visual observation If uninsulated, that would be an issue to be addressed.
• A gas fireplace serves the library. There is some damage to wallpaper above the fireplace unit which gets overheated causes the paper to stain and peel. In addition they sometimes lose a pilot light, resulting in a gas odor, and then the firemen get called which is a nuisance. The facility is looking to replace with electric.
• The only comfort complaint on the site is the conference room. It is served by two rooftop units, and facility is of the opinion they are not sized to maintain temperature. Facility questioned if the adjacent 10-ton that serves the coffee shop, which they believed was oversized could serve the area. Further study would be required to establish a solution to that comfort issue.

MAPLEWOOD BRANCH ELECTRICAL REVIEW
• The Xcel Energy utility service is 480/277 Volts, 3 phase, 800 Amps, with a separate meter for the coffee shop in the northeast corner of the building. The distribution has separate branch panels for the mechanical loads, plumbing loads, receptacle loads, lighting loads, and data closet.
• The lighting is controlled with a Wattstopper LIN24 lighting control relay panel, using an indoor timeclock schedule for most spaces with two interior photosensors for daylight controls, and an exterior photosensor with timeclock override for outdoor lighting. Lighting throughout the facility is fluorescent, primarily T8 fluorescent lamps, as was common for its 2006-2007 construction time.
• Again, the primary opportunity for electrical energy savings comes from replacing the fluorescent lighting fixtures with LED fixtures and re-evaluating the lighting zones with an updated control panel. A concern was raised by staff about the light level in the children’s area with the small pendant lights; actual light levels could be measured and investigated for need to use higher lumen devices or a different strategy when switching to LED.
• Issues have been raised with the light levels in the exterior, both for pedestrian access in front and staff entrance in the rear. During lighting redesign, the exterior lighting should also be reevaluated for appropriate levels of night lighting.
• Another recommendation for the Maplewood facility would be an investigation of the usage of and potentially updating some of the floor boxes.
• The separate metering and fully functional commercial kitchen in the front of the building allows for a new restaurant client to take up that space and have its electrical utility usage tracked and billed separately.

MOUNDS VIEW BRANCH MECHANICAL REVIEW
• The air handler is original, but recently (summer 2018) had a pretty significant overhaul, which – at a minimum – appears to have replaced the DX coil (and exterior condensing unit).
• DDC system is Tridium, with an add-on fault-detection program called Skysparks, a continuous commissioning type system which looks for valves that never close, etc.
• The boiler is newer, replaced 5-8 years ago. Lochinvar Knight. The installation included new ECM pumps on primary and secondary sides. However, there is only one boiler. The facility representative said one of the few issues at this site is that lack of redundancy.
• The boiler does link back to older coils and finned tube radiation that were likely not rated for low temperature supply water associated with condensing boilers. Upon review of trends on the interface on the boiler, it was observed boiler supply temperature was at 180 degree F. Facility staff indicated programming may spike the supply water temperature during morning warm-up but the program resets to lower supply temperatures during the occupied hours.
• The water heater is atmospheric draft-type, not a high efficiency burner.
• The roof is slated to be replaced, soon (date not provided).

MOUNDS VIEW BRANCH ELECTRICAL REVIEW
• The Mounds View library is the smallest and oldest of the three facilities reviewed, designed in 1989 and construction completed in 1992.
• The utility service is 208/120V, 3-phase,
600Amps.

• This facility does not have an automatic material handler for returned materials.

• Branch panels are located in an electrical room, with one 220A panel located in the front entryway with mainly 20 Amp single-pole receptacle loads. (Note: this panel was unlocked at time of facility walkthrough.)

• As in other facilities, the interior lighting is fluorescent, primarily 2x4 troffers.

• The exterior parking lot lights were upgraded to LED at some point; these are connected to the Building Automation System (Power TakeOff Energy Management).

• The high central vault has fluorescent troffers also, with four 2x2 sections on a separate, unswitched circuit as night lights. The lights are controlled on lighting contacts in enclosed junction boxes.

• Again, an upgrade to LED lighting and controls including daylight harvesting represents the best easily realized energy savings better seating at the lower desk computers. Seating is good at the raised computer along the walls.

Comfy chairs upstairs in Roseville are too deep for short folks without a jacket or something behind and the different style chairs closer to the fireplace are very uncomfortable. I shall avoid saying much about the disturbing magenta color on many chairs.

More outlets around existing study tables and more individual study tables.

More tables/chairs and cubicles for quiet individual study in Shoreview.

Recover chairs that are worn out.

More hard seating. The soft chairs are filthy.

In library tables for reading digital material.

More study tables; time limits on quiet study rooms.

COFFEE / VENDING

Coffee shop \(\times 24\)

coffeeshop addition to Shoreview

I like that there is NOT a coffee shop

Vending machines \(\times 2\)

I really appreciate the having beverages available.

get rid of coffee shop & use that space for RCL uses since that’s what my tax dollars should be providing.

No eating in library

More healthy snacks in the cafeteria

Direct access to Dunn Bros w/o leaving building

Diminish the stink from the coffee shop; the library should be stink free.

Free lunch on Wednesday for Seniors

ROOMS / SPACE TYPES

More large group rooms / community room \(\times 5\)

Learning circles

an even larger community room and yield/ directional signage within the parking lot’s northeast exit - this area is dangerous

More collaborative space and ability to talk openly, fostering a new kind of library experience

More quiet study rooms \(\times 6\) partner with new brighton community center to provide quiet study rooms

Places to read in a more secluded, relaxing area

Cry room

Quiet areas with soft seating. People in the soft seats can often be on their phones.

keep up the good work! study rooms that can be reserved so i can get spot for 2 hours so my kids can do their work or group project.

quiet computer space \(\times 3\)

Different room for those who play computer games

Homework center

More free meeting room space for small groups of 6-20 people.

larger room for talks and programs

a greater diversity of spaces and areas; social, quiet, materials oriented, private, etc.

phone booth to have private conversations either with or without a public phone, a private phone area or room

Board game playing area for adults.

Meeting space \(\times 2\)

Reference assistance on the main floor
I really enjoy the current facility and accommodations. It’s great to have a large selection of materials (books) for review, and options for seating and rooms to use. The only things that may be improved are a larger meeting space for events (a bit larger than the current large space) and some updates in the teen room. Still, as-is it’s great! (specific to Roseville location allow online booking of community room)

<td>ATMOSPHERE / LIGHTING</td>
<td>Roseville could use a reading area w fireplace, like Maplewood. Less sterile design in all of the renovated libraries. The designs are awful and feel like warehouses. I go in and out of Shoreview as quickly as possible because it's so angular and cold and I never go into Roseville because it's worse. Complete redo to make the library way less industrial looking it isn't the least welcoming get rid if Hall TV add cushion and texture rethink coffee shop which is a dump and cold and uncomfortable children's area cold Stark please! Warmer atmosphere, all the libraries seem so cold to me make the first floor more welcoming. It seems so sterile. Warmer, more inviting, more friendly color scheme throughout would be wonderful, too. With the noise, openness and decor choices library feels like a cold, impersonal giant warehouse. The Sam's Club or Costco type, poor lighting, noisiness and guaranteed migraines.</td>

Better protected bike parking
Improved parking!! It's all far from the entrance; directions are unhelpful; privileging owners of expensive cars is appalling.
10 minute parking for book pick-up \(\times 3\)
Drive up area to pick up items that are on hold without getting out of the car.
Better/more book return (via car) \(\times 8\)
Change to south entrance due to winter weather conditions
Lockers for picking up Hold items that open via library card and accessible outside of normal library hours. Maybe inside first set of doors.
Shorter access to entry from parking lot at White Bear library
Additional parking for 65 and older
More parking closer for non-green seniors
Easier Maplewood outdoor book drop-off.
Two entrances to parking lot. Lot gets full and in and out traffic gets “iffy” better access from north (turn lane for left turn into lot at north end of parking lot)

| The parking lot needs to be re-designed. If this is the busiest public building in the state, it deserves a traffic light on Hamline to serve as a main entrance. While kudos to the lot for being environmental, it needs safe walkways from parking spaces to the building entrances. And a speed bump and MUCH BETTER signage where the book drop enters onto the major tradding lane. Plus wider parking spaces with TWO LINES between spaces to improve separation of vehicles. |
| Disappointed in the driveway and parking lot size at Shoreview. Also it’s difficult when people pull up in front of the library to wait for someone. They block traffic. |
| Better parking signs or traffic signs in south lot so people do not drive the wrong way. |
| The Roseville Library’s drive-thru bookdrop area interferes with pedestrians crossing to and from the library and its north and west parking lots. If traffic flow here could be improved, it would be great. I always worry that children or senior citizens will get run over. |
| Able to return books at the drive through when the library is open. |

Smooth sidewalks (not brick); car-accessible book drop
Better regulation of parking-commuter gets used for a single family.
Accessible door on the south side of the building

NOISE

More quiet in communal areas. I wish librarians would still enforce volume control. Especially on the first floor of the Roseville location. Our world is too noisy, so libraries are the one place one can appreciate a little stillness and quiet. (and concentrated reading, work on the computer, etc.)

| Librarians should enforce quiet in the main part of the library (\times 7) |
| Post rules for acceptable and unacceptable behavior (\times 2) |
| Keep the noise down in the library (\times 36) |
| Children’s area should be in a separate room / enclosed (\times 12) |
| Need more space for kids to be loud |
| Quiet accessible areas for adults/seniors and disabled on main floor (\times 6) |

Cleanliness

| Cleaner chairs, maybe like Shoreview. New ones so they can be kept clean. |
| Things to be clean |
| Tactfully, but forcefully telling people to keep their shoes off the library furniture |
| Cleaner bathroom, always smells bad |
| Better cleaning standards. This library is filthy. |

Check-Out

| At self checkout it would be nice to have a no-reciept option |
| Updated touch screen for check out at Shoreview |
| The desk is at an odd angle and when people queue up for help, the line snakes awkwardly out into the common space making it hard to get to the checkout or the PC’s |
| More self checkout stations |
| A second book dropbox so you don’t have to stand in line waiting to return books. |
| Better book drop off outside and inside, one each is not enough |
| Additional check out stations |
| The self checkout is not nearly as fast/easy as Anoka |
| A way to pick up reserved items. |

Miscellaneous

| Better sidewalk snow clearing in winter. |
| Bigger; Better...more like Shoreview |
| Stairs are a drag |
| Better alphabetizing DVDs by 2 letters in the areas where the collection is large, so we don’t have to paw thought so many titles to find a selection, |
| Alphabetical/categorical listing of all DVDs in racks. |
| Artwork or color in the main part of the library - looks like it’s trying too hard to be sleek and contemporary. I miss the coziness of the old library - the wood, skylights, comfy chairs. |
| Faster transfers of hold items between branches |
| Leaving the collection in the same places. Stop moving things around. |
| The transit stop going east/south is HORRIBLE! |
| I won’t let my daughter take the bus because it’s unsafe at the SE corner of Cty Rd B and Hamline |

› I mentioned loud talking, primarily from youth.
› Nothing. I go to get books (paper) and maybe a musical CD. Choice of books might impact visits -- I read science fiction, not fantasy, and the fantasy collection gets larger and the SF smaller.

Survey Question 5  WHAT ELSE IMPACTS YOUR LIBRARY VISITS? PLEASE EXPLAIN.

› Need more Spanish kids books for my immersion school kids. For kids program days, it gets very noisy because of lack of separation between kids and adult areas. I like to read books in a series: the catalog does not give series order. More catalog sections
› Some of the audio books are badly worn out – need to replace. Also, larger book slot for bigger materials needed @ MV
› Location and availability of resources
› Have the “new” book section
› The extraordinary help and cheer of the library staff.
› I like [that] I can stop in. It’s location is good. Warm, friendly feeling when coming and going. At recent meeting, it was cold.
› The design choices made in the remodeling left the building seeming both bright and dingy; the carpet has been showing stains and wear since installation. But I’ll say again: the parking layouts are not only offensive but dangerous.
› Availability of titles and new releases
› This is a friendly capable place. I deeply appreciate the staff!
› The staff is very helpful and friendly
› This is a friendly, capable place. I deeply appreciate the staff.
› Great service! Thank you.
› Nice librarians. Fun with visit. Great help. Great ideas for books and movies.
› Staff very helpful.
› The great staff (#1!) and the energy! I have motivation to utilize technology to study and can regularly educate myself freely in the fields I like. Without a place for free education, I’d lack the help and inspiration to learn. I feel like I am at school!
› Hours of operation.
› The staff is knowledgeable and helpful.
› How kind everyone is here. It’s close to home and feels comfortable. It’s always welcoming and quiet. I also enjoy the selection of childrens books for my class and the movies. :)
› Children’s area. Resources (we still love books!).
› I would like to see more resources for children, like supporting reading materials. I would like to see more cultural activities and resources.
› I would like to get “book due” messages on the day they are due, not before.
› Programs for kids.
› The staff at all libraries are very friendly and helpful. Plus the library’s collection is surprisingly diverse.
› We love our NB Library!
› I would like to be able to access previously checked out materials through my account. I frequently bring home DVDs I’ve already seen.
› Would like to have evening hours.
› Nothing. I love this library. I enjoy losing myself in a book. Thanks.
› Late hours are convenient for me.
› Closing time is too soon
› The librarians are so helpful
› Children’s area needs to be enclosed – too loud.
› Terrific staff
› I wish no food was allowed in the library. On several occasions, I’ve encountered issues with food at the library (garbage in study rooms, patrons eating loudly at computer stations). Otherwise, the library is fantastic! Maybe have a designated “eating area”?
› We reserve books online mostly and pick up holds. Would be nice to have SMS notices or a mobile phone app to give notices on the phone.
› Convenience. We always come if its open and are at the community center. Hold requests - often receive quickly. / Great customer service.
› All good! This is one of my happy places.
› I exercise at the New Brighton Community Center, so I love having the library there. Makes it easy to drop off and pick up books and DVD. The staff is wonderful, very helpful.
› Increase collections, especially TV series, such as Bosch. / Include pay-per-view shows later. Don’t need to see when presented.
› Terrific staff. Always helpful and courteous.
› Quiet working spaces.
› Some of the librarians are unfriendly

› Too many kids using public computers for non-school activities. People sitting at computers sleeping (so terminals are not available)
› The helpful librarians help when I can’t find a book. They’re super patient and are always happy to help
› The knowledge of the staff. Shoreview has an outstanding and knowledgeable staff. If they don’t have an answer, they are amazing at providing alternative solutions!
› sitting in a comfy chair in front of a fireplace
› More space for children to play
› Helps me with homework
› Screaming kids. Or kids running around.
› People that are too loud - and the children
› Operating hours and staff--- great staff at maplewood and love to see slightly expanded hours (and a new cafe!)
› Do more to keep volume [noise] down --people talking, kids running around. Please!
› Needs better weekend hours.
› It is TOO noisy, so people can’t work.
› Rude people talking loud on their phones.
› Need separate kids area
› We love the library!
› children’s playgrounds should NOT be inside a library.
› Please make the cafe space rent more affordable so that a coffee shop can succeed in the Maplewood space.
› I like it quiet
› Good, helpful staff.
› hours -- wish it was open all day Saturday and Sunday
› hours (convenience)
› Nothing keeps me away from the library. It is my primary source of entertainment.
› You need better enclosed space for the teens. Like a gym in here. Yelling, swearing, running around. Won’t stay to read here. The light really bad for reading.
› Unruly kids in computer area. Disturbing adult visitors. Librarian spoke to them. Disturbance continued. Kids were ignored for hours. As I am leaving kids are still here misbehaving.
› Cafe -- to serve coffee, tea, sandwiches/soup type of food
› I can’t read; We don’t love the library thank you for your good times.
› hours open
› The only thing that has repeatedly disturbed me is the volume of the teenagers yelling, or when a physical fight it about to go down. A shared space should entail shared responsibility, but I don’t know who should be accountable to these kids besides the parents.
› Sometimes the kids section is very noisy - kids make noise when having fun. It is normal. I like that kids have a place to play when snowy and cold outside. But they can be distracting. Why not turn the cafe (that people don’t use) into a play space?
› Rental DVDs. The new ordering system has been less “popular” and the “new release” DVDs are very disappointing. I have been renting movies much less frequently
› love events for kids
› Pop, coffee, snacks, candy, sandwiches
› Separate sound proof room for video game players
› The way younger people act is a joke. It isn’t a library it’s a circus. I know a few people that would be happy to help monitor; myself included.
› Teen room needs walls. Too noisy.
› Drive through to pick up kids
› Negative impacts: Too much race ads; too much gender ads; too much religion ads; too much ethnicity issues; too much nonsense and posters
› Cleaner restrooms; access for soap dispensing for children; hand dryers to work efficiently with children and seniors in mind; lack of quality on toilet paper rolls-- new supplier
› Love having the wall street journal and the NYT available
› Would love to have a better website that uses "good reads" list or offers a book list so I can keep track of what I want to read and what I have read. And makes ordering or browsing available books easier. Also offer readings by local authors of recently published books.
› The fact that the fines are pretty punitive. Other libraries we have been a part of gave us a week's notice to renew our materials, which was more of a buffer. Also, the fines are high for certain items which dissuades us from checking those things out. I've paid 20x the amount in fees/fines over the past year because of this and am now frequenting the library less and less.
› Nap times -- we come when baby isn't sleeping. So, more options for story time, specifically baby & me, would be great!
› Community -- peers, relationships, learning buddies
› Inter Friday hours -- closes too early › Collections. Library staff help.
› Hours of operation on weekend -- please stay open longer :)
› Copy Machine.
› Wonderful staff help.
› Shoreview has excellent/extended hours. No complaints! Stay as is!
› As a tax payer, I do NOT want to pay for extended hours. Cost of library services at non-library location (question 8)) -- get a grip! Need sound barrier for children's area. Food/drink options -- please don't go there!
› More room between rental/recommended stacks and chairs. Not very far-sight friendly!
› Benches outside to read on nice days
› Love this library!
› How busy I am.
› College level lectures such an anthropology, foreign relations, politics, theology, etc
› Audio books in car. Depends on how much I drive.
› I don't think we need to expand hours. Who would pay for additional services or hours/how much would additional services cost? (questions 6 - 9)
› It seems as though there are often “events” occurring that disrupt quiet study/reading at the library (noisy children, etc) The library is often my only quiet refuge to study and write.
› We love kids audiobooks and programs
› Extended hours is not needed
› We come to the library every 3 weeks to get books for reading and get books I have requested.
› Library staff are the best
› Nice staff. Makes us feel welcome. Great location and easy parking (Mounds View)
› My kids like the kids space available at our library (WB)
› Enthusiasm and availability of library staff creates a welcoming presence. Friendly staff is important.
› Consider adding “Responsive Classroom” books
› More guided activities for children (classes, book reading clubs, etc).
› More child interactive things/books
› Children crying, screaming, pounding on keyboards, longer pencils, color printer, drone rental
› Out of house, visit friends, people. the read back program
› Love storytimes. Like the toys for my grandson.
› Play area for kids. Times of storytime.
› Fines too high on DVDs that are late. Longer check out times for DVDs.
› I love that I can request online and pick up near home!
› I enjoy the quiet, small intimate space at NSP library. Great librarians, too. Thanks!
› It's a good distance from my house and makes for a nice walk with my family to check out movies and books.
› I like the accessibility of recently published books that I can get at this library (North St Paul)
› Library hours are nice when they are later in the evening.
› Great program for kids
Survey Question 5  WHAT ELSE IMPACTS YOUR LIBRARY VISITS? PLEASE EXPLAIN.(CONTINUED)

› Times of programs
› NOISE! Public talking should be restricted to the lobby, outdoors, or closed rooms. It is illegal in Minnesota to interfere with others in public with noise or other detraction of the senses!
› I use the library often. Appreciate the resources and helpful librarians.
› Traditional library behavior should be enforced: 1. Low voice. 2. Patron courtesy. NO cell phone rule!! QUIET space to enjoy my reading. No KIDS running wild. :(
› Pleasant, helpful staff. Easy to access resources. Librarians explain how to do library website features.
› Comfort
› Nice employees and a good variety of books
› I love when I find Blu-Ray discs in the DVD Collections!
› Hours! Please open on fridays!

› Hours that library is open is good now.
› Hours! I would be super grateful and would use the library at 9AM
› I love this library!
› Hours -- open on Friday would be great (NSP)
› Children's area--- interactive play and more options for play would be great!
› Friendly librarians
› I love North St Paul's small, cozy size and friendly librarians!
› North St Paul library staff are so friendly and helpful.
› Research for homework and joy. DIY projects at home = research how to do these tasks/skills and to obtain ideas.
› Activities for children -- activities to be involved in on non-school days.
› We as seniors should be able to read fines down. Likes St Paul's mayor who is trying to do away with fines.
› The whole team that works here (North St Paul) are the best and go above and beyond to provide everything and anything. Can't say enough. Absolutely fantastic!!!
› I like using the Ramsey Library System at a local site that is easy to get to.
› The coffee shop, which helps me stay alert while studying
› More quantity of books
› Mostly having quiet for reading.
› The collection is great. Lots of material that isn't found elsewhere!
› Community resources
› Location - close to home.
› Public dwelling
› New non-fiction books
› Loudness in teen room
› Items on lower shelves are difficult to reach

› Allow book/DVD renewal (if item is not requested by others) by bringing it to main desk rather than sending through returns and making the librarian have to go search for it.
› Pleasant, helpful and knowledgeable staff!
› Diversity in patrons and staff
› The library collection could be larger and newer
› Would love more evening and daytime programs
› More evening hours
› The study room and the helpful staff
› Having story time more than once a week
› (1) Drive up book drop offs. (2) Auto-doors on bathrooms for disabled people. (3) child play area in back of building. (4) sun opening at 10
› Late opening times (10AM)
› Hours after 5PM work. Appealing to have early morning hours on a Saturday.
› I love the upgrades at both the Maplewood and White Bear Libraries. THANK YOU!
› Child-care themes-- picking up books to help educate.
› Home decorating books and magazines.
› Computer use.
› Newspapers
› People who has the copier while sending 38 page faxes. Also people who choose to place their feet on the tables and other furniture. In other words, slobs!
› My hunger and having to find a quiet secluded place with outlets to read, study, or do homework.
› New books and movies. Hours.
› Family story time is too crowded. Maybe a separate story hour for daycare groups would help.
› Kids run around
› Children are too often allowed to be noisy in the open space of the library
› Sometimes the computer software. Compare to burnsville.
› Kids yelling all the time. Sometimes it’s too loud.
› Thanks for the RB digital service. I use it constantly.
› Convenience. There are two libraries close to where I work.
› Wifi speed is slow
› Current chairs at the little tables along the wall are not comfortable.
› Maplewood Library needs a second route exit out of parking lot at south end. You can keep the central east side lot entrance if you love it.
› Shoreview’s fine arts is paltry - even impoverished - a bummer.
› The book club room is not senior friendly. We also need/use tables. The large community room or teen area tables are great!
› The Friday story time play has been great for my grandson. Thank you!
› We love activities like “Read to Georgia” that encourage our kids to read.
› Open library at 10AM during the week
› More hours are wanted.
› Cell phone users who talk loudly or at length without stepping outside.
› Cell phone users who talk loudly or at length without stepping outside.
› Noisy kids whose play area is not a separate room.
› Large print selection.
› I enjoy the nice space to read and interesting programs (history, etc). Possibly add science lectures or other topics.
› terrible bigot, anti-anglo hatred, and indoctrination is now a primary role of this library
› Wonderful library, thanks!
› Personally wish there were more study rooms because I get distracted easily sitting int he open.
Thanks for the open area to study, though.
› I think the library is a fantastic use of public money. Imagine if we had to buy all those books to read!
› Would like complete mystery series, not just one or two of a series.
› Children’s play area is too noisy!
› Love the peace and quiet. So rare anywhere today.
› The library is the best deal in town! Keep up the good work!
› I enjoy the welcoming feeling I get when I see the staff because I know they will help me without giving up.
› I love this library! It is great!
› More classes can help
› Nice library staff
› Staff are well informed.
› need for information
› I think the big, steep stairway in the Roseville building makes it hard for those of us who are not officially handicapped but somewhat mobility challenged. One small elevator is not enough.
› Tight turn for drive up book return, poor visibility of entering vehicles for right turn from parking row closest to entrance/exit part of the parking area. (Shoreview location)
› One of the librarian in the children’s area is not friendly. I think staff customer service needs to be improved.
› Hours of operation
› Parking problems. Crowds and congestion.
› The driveway getting in and the street around it involve four turns from highway 96. It would have been nice to turn in directly from 96 when going west. Its annoying, but it’s a done deal. And the floor and it’s echo-y sound is crazy and annoying—like the boards aren’t secured. I suppose you have wiring in there that needs to be accessed.

- I love the service whereby you pull the books for me, I love the recommended books feature on website, the interface between searching and putting in cart could be easier. Otherwise really perfect.

- If the library does not own a book, is there an option to make a suggestion about the library buying this book? I’ve been told that there isn’t. I would love to see that offered at our library.

- DVD’s at Shoreview way in the back of the library. After hours drop box at Maplewood very user-unfriendly to handicapped people—got to get out of car and walk to it. Failed restaurants at Maplewood charged too much and were too ethnic/menu items.

- Nothing, I love the library and value it as a resource.

- We LOVE the library and stop many times every week.

- Sometimes parking - as the lot is fortunately full, which means people are using it.

- Website use. The app is not easy to search on.

- Allowing snacking at the computers is creating a lot of crumbs on the keyboards and sticky rings from beverages on the counters.

- sometimes hours - but you really have good hours

- D&D

- not much. I love my library!

- noise; sometimes it is very noisy in the library and this makes it less enjoyable

- I use the library’s hold service almost exclusively to reserve books. It works well for me.

- Access to resources, access to transportation, and access to librarians.

- I really value Ramsey County’s DVD collection.

- good parking

- Parking lot design is terrible

- I like the second floor of the Roseville library. I like that libraries are the last quiet places in our society where there’s not constant music playing or other noise. It’s always annoying when there are loud library patrons, but it’s usually pretty good here.

- I’d love to be able to pick up book holds without taking my kids out of the care. A library drive through would help

- How easy it is to find books. There are also books on most subjects, unlike other smaller branches in the Anoka system.

- Hours of operation. Realizing that you must keep reasonable hours and operate on a budget, what about investigating whether once a month late hours on a Friday or Saturday would be feasible. I have a busy schedule and knowing that I could get in late in a Friday would be nice. (And I see you have a question related to this below.)

- There is not a cozy place to read at Roseville with warm color lighting

- How crowded or busy it is. If they have my books available, Roseville is a busy/popular location where I have to wait for my books to be available

- These days, my work schedule.

- Hours, staff help, availability of materials/books

- Parking near door.

- Availability of movies and books.

- Ebooks. I’m liking the ebook cloud option.

- I love the online reservation and renewal systems.

- Library staff is GREAT

- Hours/days open. The longer the better

- Available information

- I don’t have a printer so it’s awesome I can print here

- Friday and Saturday night hours

- Security in using computer with others around and if something is left in the computer like a flash drive that it is turned in and saved until the person comes back for it.

- The excellent staff helps me locate materials and most know books.

- The atmosphere is wonderful here. However if the children’s area could be closed off (to reduce noise) that would be wonderful.

- It would be nice to have the general media on the main floor. The stairway is a challenge for many adults and the elevator s/b for those who really need it.
Your operating hours are the best! I know that I can visit the library any day of the week. Sunday hours could be a touch earlier (if you want perfection.)

I wish that you could still renew books ONLINE even if there were more than 10 books overdue. I end up racking up huge overdue fines because I either have to contact a librarian or go into a library to get the items renewed; neither is very convenient. It would be nice to also have an option for a text message or email if your items are reaching their return date. I also wish there was a limit on overdue fees for the reason above.

My wife is a barista at the Dunn coffee shop.

Staff available when I need help ease of checking out and returning library materials. Ease of ordering MNLink materials and speed of getting those materials.

the warm fire and the quiet atmosphere

Often coming to the library for a group meeting. I arrive early to drop off due material and browse collection.

I usually search online for books, then place a request for that material. I then visit the library to pick up my “hold” - and browse for other books.

I am grateful because I can use your library, which is near my work, even though I am a Hennepin County resident. You also, very often, have new titles released earlier than my system.

Hours - I tend to be able to go to the library either early in the morning or later in the evening, so only certain days work.

Times that it is open. Would love to see it open later on weekends.

Already mentioned but when study rooms are full there are few other places to sit/study/plug in a laptop. Bathroom facilities are GREAT along with a place to refill my water bottle. Bulletin boards with community events are a real asset! (Interested in posting an upcoming NAMI class at Shoreview, I found the BB is around a corner and out of sight so not helpful for building and supporting community connections. That is unfortunate! I stopped at the Shoreview Community Center and they have eliminated any kind of BB at all, so particularly at SV, a BB in full public view is needed. It takes some time to monitor and keep up to date but is worth it I think.

Hours the library is open.

My Favorite is new movie Tuesdays when the new dvds are released.

Not open when I want to go there

Interactive kids area and variety of book/dvd choices. Resource librarians that are helpful and nonjudgmental.

When arriving on bike at the Shoreview library on Why 96, you must carry your bike up stairs to lock in on the bike racks.

Availability of books (paper books)

I have a young child and bring him here to play. It would be nice if there were longer hours on fridays

Books and dvd’s

How crowded it is and if the customer service people are helpful (also nice)

I like being around books, being able to check out books & CD’s, using computer/printer!

It is difficult to read several books in 2 weeks when they all come in at the same time on the reserve list. Don’t know how to solve this.

Your programs are so popular there is frequently standing room only. It is VERY NICE you call in the community cable TV folk. Please post the cable TV schedule more prominently on your web site.

Hours

approachable staff

availability of titles I want e.g. Your science fiction collection is sadly lacking, having been replaced with mostly fantasy titles.

the open hours

free public computers, free wifi, a good resource place for basic information needs.

Love the small size and the awesome DVD collection. Great staff. Would not change a thing.

Holiday closings.....

- hours, days open, location
- Convenience. I work at the NB FSC and when I no longer work there I will use the Shoreview branch.
- Help from staff
- Parking
- Availability of materials
- You have terrific staff.
- Proximity. SPPL are closer so I use those almost exclusively.
- which locations have my desired DVD checked in
- Largely the hours that they're open. If my personal library isn't open I'll trek out to another one that is.
- convenience and operating hours
- Sometimes excessive yelling from teenager after high school hours
- checking out books, using the computer, working on homework
- I use the library for a place to hang out and a place to check out materials.
- Amount of Books and DVDs have influences browsing time and therefore popularity of the library
- The design of the interior
- [indecipherable] lane like Roseville library
- Queue for self-check out, availability of staff, requested materials (a larger space to accommodate people, physically would be great)
- We love the library! Clean, fun & friendly
- Too many people don't pay for printing out stuff they abuse it and pretty soon that will be taken away. Too many people stink up books with perfume so I won't check out books I am sensitive to scents.
- While it maybe impossible to control--sometimes it would be nice if it were quieter--even in eves after school & daycare is out. You can dream, right?
- I just feel our libraries are the best! Knowledgeable staff--how to set up book to listen on my phone TODAY! Great computers/printers
- It's the closest one to my school so I can walk here every day after school.
- Hours--open at 9:00am on weekdays would be helpful.
- Ease of finding material and hours of service
- Like BIGGER collections
- Events for my 9, 7 & 5 y.o.
- Longer hours would be more accommodating.
- This place is my getaway! Love it here.
- Hours, Parking
- Sometimes the kids get REALLY loud. It would be nice to have that space more enclosed.
- These are great libraries!
- I enjoy getting children picture books on CD for my children and am pleases with a large selection. I love the drive thru book drop off. My children really enjoy the learning interactive toys but would use other toys if available. The amount of books in the kids section is wonderful.
- Books and DVDs
- Noisy/rude children/teens
- The lighting is awesome.
- $1/day for DVD is too high!
- Weather
- We use both library spaces [checked WBL as #1 and Roseville as #2] & materials (adult & kid) twice a week regularly. We could never afford access to such a variety of resources. All adults in our home use private (quiet) study spaces often and we love to read & play in the kid area w/our girls. We also love the parks access stock checkout!
- Is this a library or daycare? Kids being kids need a separate area away from patrons. So they won't disturb others.
- Child events: story time, live music!!!
- At WBL, the hours. Of all the locations, they are open the shortest amount of time.
- Nice staff on duty, (Which you already have) and clean library, Which you already have).
- I like the rental books.
- I use the computers & the printer's and sometimes the fax.
- Children
- Computer availability. As long as a computer is available I'm happy!
- The employees
- Great library, our family loves coming here!
The libraries are a great asset. Thank you.
Get there as soon as a requested book comes in. Return a book ASAP on my way.
Noise by the computer area, seating and loud phone conversations.
We mainly come to play in the play area for my kids to play with other kids.
The hours expanded
I like the old-school QUIET atmosphere. Sometimes play areas/groups interfere with that. In general, do what you are doing & offering & do it well. No need to offer breakfast!! (as seen at Maplewood).
Printing
Good books
Game Area
Snacks
After hours, exterior return drop box is inconvenient and awkward. ALSO, The website would be much improved if it were intuitive like a smart phone.
Too much noise from teen room.
At the Maplewood & Roseville libraries, the teen sections can get really loud after school. It is important to have a safe space for kids after school, but it could be a lot quieter.
Parents using play area as a babysitter paying no attention to disrespectful kids has gotta stop! Neglegent parents take away the learning, studying in this library. (I have a child.)
More kid toys, more kid crafts
Variety and availability of books.
It’s perfect just the way it is.
I would like more free classes, & music presentations & times for seniors to be interviewed by middle-agers.
I love the walking area behind Maplewood library.
Parking is sometimes too full
You are doing an excellent job!
Please see #10--Some people that I know do NOT go to the library--why doesn’t the staff have name tags?? Why hide their names?? Most other public places I go have first name tags--if one wants compliment or complain. Library is not clean--need lessons on leanness-- clean!
I like the hours at this library.
hours. the early closing on fridays is hard in winter. we end up going to the community center instead.
sunday mornings are hard too - the library opens right around when nap time should be starting.
Sometimes it is quite noisy.
Room for teens is way too noisy
Hours at WBL library
More options with E-Books like Kindle.
I am applying for employment positions; I have no internet at home. So this is imperative to have the Library computer. Thank you so much. 18-1/2 years at my last position so I am a bit out of it. But I’m getting there.
hours open
Most times the resource librarians help me locate materials related to my special interest.
I occasionally can’t find a space to work, but that’s more my timing than the library’s issue. I wrote an entire book there, and when I was on schedule I never had a problem finding space.
TED talks like at Wt. Bear Library
Lecture about history, architecture or science
Warm welcoming facility and staff
Regular visits for kids. My personal visits are limited by the books offered by the library. Easier lending from the University of Minnesota would serve my interest in specialized books. I’ve borrowed from the U of M collections before but it requires special emails to librarians instead of reserving through the online collections.
The hours you are open. It would be nice to have later hours on some days, but I recognize that staff needs time off!
Book club--we meet at library (Shoreview or Rsvl)
Enough computers for easy access. Haven’t had a problem with it thus far... love to keep it that way!
Daycare groups can overcome storytime
Looking for new resources referred online by articles or bloggers. A way to bring online presence to paper! Programs to highlight things for families to do right here.

› Staff demeanor has a significant impact. I frequent several of the branches. Most staff are friendly and helpful, but a few have been visibly impatient with a request for help finding materials, and occasionally downright rude (particularly at the Roseville location).
› We love the summer programs. My kids check out tons of books—especially the graphic novels.
› I like the little cubes that display books to read that are staff favorites or try these. I find new authors that way,
› There needs to be more areas for quiet study, but not necessarily a study room.

› Parking, kids area, computer usage
› It’d be nice to have reference person on the main floor—How about parking spaces for the elderly who don’t have a sticker?
Noise level in Roseville library on 1st floor is extremely loud—find some alternative to muffle sounds of screaming kids—

Noise. Grand staircase at Roseville transmits noise. New Ramsey County manager doesn’t support library staff & branch manager to suppress noise—he used library to produce videos. Shoreview: teen area has best lighting

Staff is always happy to help. Friendly and professional. Your homework and reading (Paws to read) are a lifesaver! Thank you.

That we checkout many available books.

Love coffee shop connection. Drive thru, drop off

Parking should be diagonal rather than parallel. Can’t tell if another is coming until you back out.

OLLI classes scheduled here would be wonderful!

Maplewood library BADLY needs computer upgrade—larger screens

It’s clean, comfortable, pleasant space. It feels good in here.

Capability to do research. Increase online search capabilities such as MNLINK

10:00 is very late to get started.

I love the library as is...I would miss the helpful staff if we choose to be more automative.

community news, ie. community programs or events

I’m there for books only. No other services.

Parking. If it is busy I go elsewhere. Friday evening hours would be nice. More help with e-books and books on “Audible”

Cleanliness, friendly staff & the hours.

I came to this library since I was in elementary school and now I’m 29. I really like all the people the visit the library. The 2 sections w/children’s book downstairs and the adults upstairs.

I have visited libraries in many cities, and this one is great!

Love the libraries, you’re doing a great job!

Electronic resources are lacking, now that 3M is the only option for borrowing ebooks. Lack of a consumer area is a problem too. Lack of access to online Consumer Reports.

The friendliness of the staff, which is outstanding & much appreciated at Shoreview!

If the book is on your shelf.

Prefer not to interact with staff, not friendly at New Brighton, others libraries seem more friendly.

Love a quiet library.

Love everything!

Better mobile app

Many of the kids cds, dvds, and audio books are scratched. We have stopped renting them as they are more often scratched then not.

I can do projects

Great library, love the history/pol programming the seating area by the computers, people visiting and talking loudly on their phones. First floor.

It’s free! Duh!

Has to fit in when I’m running errands.

I look online and choose SV or MV depending which one is carrying the books I (or my kids) want. We like both libraries and visit often.

Used book stores—wonderful addition and option to borrowing.

Availability of new movies, video games, books. Amount of space to use computer for homework.

Disruptive teens in adult areas—glass doors dividing childrens library, a must. Better supervision of teens. Roving security people.

It is great signing up for mnsure, Minnesota care etc, help with computers and technology, social services help

Quiet

Why don’t you say WHY a library is closed for a day on your signs. Such as: Thanksgiving, 4th of July, Veterans Day, etc. People should know holidays such as new immigrants.

The New Brighton branch is small but mighty. :) If they don’t have a book, I just request it online. That’s been helpful. The staff seem great, too.

Good selections of books

ease of access

› I’m retired and enjoy coming to the library to be a part of something vs. being at home alone. Thank you!
The staff - I really appreciate how helpful and knowledgeable they are; I also love the self check out kiosks, this is critical when my children are with me and checking out can be tricky.

Love all the librarians and volunteers - super helpful

I appreciate the surroundings, and the diversity.

pick up local newspapers, periodicals

Hours open

We like to get to more than just one library, but distance is an issue. If we don’t visit Roseville we typically visit the Maplewood location. Access (metro transit, parking, bike racks, etc.) is important.

I leave earlier than planned when children are running wildly. I’m usually there with my own young grandchildren, and it’s important to me that I teach them respectful behavior.

White Bear Lake with no morning hours 2 days a week is not very convenient.

I love coming in for the open Maker Space. Please consider investing in the maker space.

I grew up going here. My current closest library is closed for construction for a year (Anoka Centennial Library) this is the next closest and best option.

Maplewood a great library more daily newspapers from around the country and world like The Washington Post and Canadian and British papers or have them available online w/o restriction.

Content of the collections. I am a college student and am frequently disappointed by the lack of books written by academics (i.e., more than just popular literature).

Parking is an issue

Please enforce quiet in the upstairs study areas or provide a large quiet space for people to go. One group of two people disrupts more than a dozen who are just looking for a quiet place to read.

Love libraries (I hold an MLS degree). I could use a stool to stand on to read the titles on top shelves or to sit on to read titles on the low shelves. Usually visit the coffee shop, a positive feature.

It would be nice if the library opened earlier - like 9 am on Saturdays.

The noise at times is out of hand and not what a library visit should be. It’s becoming a dealbreaker for me. Also, please upgrade browsers on the computers. Seem too slow or can’t manage certain things (I’m not “techie”)

Hours of operation - I had to switch libraries as my preferred library did not have Sunday hours.

lack of study space is the biggest problem

How quiet or loud the library is.

I was exploring aspects of the library. I have yet to use the computer support classes, but I’m aware of them.

I wish there was a 24 hr. location, just open more hours, than the regular library schedule....

I was at Shoreview library this past summer the library I once most used. First a handicap guy was called a retard by a patron was not handled well by the same librarian man I went to about kids throwing things in back area I was told they are good kids, they tattled on me cuz I made comment about picking up stuff they through in back area by computers. He listened to them like I did not matter that I was almost hit in head by a pencil. I have not gone back since. Libraries are not for kids to throw objects and cut up. I miss my Shoreview library but refuse to go there as long as the one librarian is working there. I have a handicap brother I was shocked how it was handled. A new library that seems to allow bad behavior. Plus I rent many books and movies and support library. I felt as if he never believed me took these 4 boys side,

The brightness of the environment. so inviting and easy to read and see everything.

clearer parking and driving lanes in lot - I’ve been backed into twice

I don’t have air conditioning, so I love to visit the library on hot summer days. I wish they were open later on Friday nights and the weekends!

hours libraries are open

Access. There isn’t an easy way to get from Little Canada to a library; other than driving.
Survey Question 5  WHAT ELSE IMPACTS YOUR LIBRARY VISITS? PLEASE EXPLAIN.

› my child does not like the noise and chaos associated with family story time which leaves odd hours for us to visit. books layout in children's area makes specific books difficult to find.
› Late fines. I think the library could be more accommodating toward lower income people who have challenges with transportation and internet access (and so can’t always renew materials on time), and then end up getting “locked” out of using the library for long periods.
› I love this library system. I often stream library materials and I like the CD collection, wish there were more.
› Schedule and working hours. Kids games and activities. Books selection.
› Cannot always find the movies that are in racks.
› Availability of books I want
› Most importantly is the overwhelming stink from burnt coffee, decaying coffee grounds. The Library should be smell free. It is disgusting.
› I really find in inexcusable how loud the teens are. They chase each other around the library, laugh, swear, yell, etc. If they are to be permitted to be loud, then the café area in front should be turned into the teen center so that the noise is away from the rest of the library. I’ve had to go elsewhere many times and it’s a shame because this is otherwise a wonderful library.
› books not available at St Paul Public Library
› evening hours
› Fines, especially for kid books
› What games are coming out/ones that you have. Series that i haven’t read that i have been suggested to me. Basically, if you have something cool I will go to the library and check it out.
› Research materials for a variety of subjects (instead of online resources). Media- especially music cds. It is a great space to relax - nice and open.
› Would like to have computers within the study rooms or have a few rooms where there are computers available so as to be better able to take tests/quizzes without the general noise within the library.
› Studying. Taking kids to read and play. Checking out books.
› Noise level-it is quite distracting with the children and the teens while trying to work on the computer
› Too noisy...people talking in loud voices when I am trying to read something. People should be taught to whisper › Great staff at the makerspace station. They are super helpful and have managed to excite my kids about the 3-D printing options. Thanks for all of your effort.
› Mostly Coming to the Roseville Minnesota Ramsey County Library and Just ONLY and ONLY Working at The Computer Internet Station Inside The Library and Enjoying Hanging Out and Having Something to Eat and Drink as Either for Breakfast or Even Lunch or Just As A Snack at The Roseville Minnesota Ramsey County Library Dunn Brothers Coffee Shop Café FOR SURE FOR GOOD Indeed ALWAYS. Thank You.
› The programs are wonderful I love coming to them when I have availability.
› ice/snow in parking lot and entrance
› At some of your libraries, the kids are misbehaving and staff does not intervene. It can sometimes ruin the atmosphere of the library and drive people away.
› I have 3 kids ages 4 and under, and I often need to pick up a hold but don’t want to bring all those kids in just for 2 minutes. I’ve heard of branches in other states with a drive-thru hold pick-up and would love to see that option here. There’s a lack of open study tables with space to spread out multiple books/papers/computers. The desks upstairs are too small.
› We hate the noisy children and families! Aren’t people instructed in quiet library behavior anymore? Loud telephone conversations are irritating and parents who let their children run around and talk loudly is disruptive. Also we notice a lot of books are mistreated by previous people who have checked out the item. Water and other stains and food residue as well as pages stuck together in books.
is awful and too common!

- Long lines when people are returning library materials
- Friendly staff. I find the librarians kind of snooty at this library. They should be out helping people, not just sitting behind their desk.
- Close to me, helpful staff, like the small size, easy to find things.
- Picking up materials requested through interlibrary loans (MNLINK).
- I enjoy the longer hours, in other towns I've lived, there were much shorter hours and no sundays.
- The drive up book return should have a straight approach. It should not be on the outside of the curve. I shouldn't have to scrape my tires on the curb to get close enough h to put the books in.
- The collection needs expanding.
- Time, day of week, weather
- Sometimes kid events get noisy and can be heard in the single study rooms, and then I gotta leave cuz I just can't do APUSH like that, ya know?
- They should be open more hours like Friday or Saturday nights would think they'd be busy.
- Times - I would like late nights at one of the branches on the weekends. I try to get caught up on work on weekends and usually don't get to the library until later in the day, but it closes at 5 pm. Also, earlier Sunday mornings for at least one of the branches, would be helpful.
- Location good; resources good, including library help; cost; computer; fax, and copying services
- Quiet place to read. Books and CDs
- Hours. I wish there were a few more late night or very early morning hours.
- Warm atmosphere and friendly workers.
- I often drive to a Hennepin library because Ramsey does not have many of the books I would like to read.
- Hours open
- Personal indolence and inclement weather
- Hours - the extended hours are wonderful
- Internet use
- See previous note. It's way too noise to read. Even the study and meeting rooms don't block the noise.
- I am somewhat visually and mobility impaired, the library is not great about accommodating older patrons. It feels extremely youth-oriented and I don't always feel very welcome. I am very, very tech savvy, but I am referring to the space itself.
- The friendly staff
- Staff. I would prefer to interact with friendly staff.
- Periodicals/the used book store.
- Libraries used to be a place that were quiet and place to think, study and do research. Now they are a catch all and unfortunately reflect the lack of respect that is generally missing within society today.
- I don't want to have to listen to other peoples phone conversations and lack of self control while out in public places.
- Nothing the library has control over.
- Card catalog and available reading/resource materials.
- I am an aspiring writer and use the library as both a source for research materials and a place to work. I can't always find a suitable area to work, though, and dislike using a study room due to lack of control of the climate. Last time I used one it got unbearably stuffy and humid. I appreciate the carts and the elevator, as I have trouble enough using stairs (fear of heights) and can't imagine navigating them with full arms. The other issues I have encountered are needing more study materials such as notepaper, paper clips, index cards, pens, etc. And snacks, or even a sandwich or something like that. I don't know if it would be feasible, but think it worth at least considering- a small supply store and snack shop or vending machine, etc. I know there is a coffee shop, but I don't drink coffee and suspect they don't offer much else and certainly not at the most affordable of prices. Plus, it isn't convenient to have to pack up to go to the coffee shop. I am wishing for something convenient, modestly priced and focused on the studying or similar crowd who are at the library for long stretches and need a little something for their bodies or their physical supplies to help them keep going instead of cutting their session short prematurely. Maybe it could even help generate some extra revenue for the library.

› Hours. We spend equal time between Maplewood, which is larger and has better hours, and North St Paul, which is smaller and is closed more often. Sometimes we go to Shoreview or Roseville for their play areas.

› The availability of computers, reading the daily papers, and browsing thru the resource areas of interest!

› Parking is an issue -- the way the parking is structured can make it hard to run in and out with kids since you always have to cross a major traffic area. It was designed poorly. Also, people totally don’t respect the signs about fuel efficient vehicles and van pool, so you basically reserve the best parking for people who aren’t telling the truth! Would love those to be 10 minutes spaces, or reserved for people with kids.

› The library strives to be a safe space for people of color, LGBT folk, disabled people, immigrants, and women, and accomplishes many of its goals for such without being misguided by privilege.

› Noise from the teen area is often extremely too high. Children or teens sitting at the adult PCs get too excited and call loudly back and forth to each other, even if they’re seated next to each other, to the point that it’s a very piercing sound. If there aren’t enough PCs for them in their areas, perhaps those areas need additional equipment. I don’t know if that’s the case, or if they just want to use the adult area for some reason.

› Hours. Current hours are great. Not sure what the future will bring. But do appreciate availability.

› Parking lot space

› ability to browse new selections

› We love our visits!

› The movies and TV shows are often out of order which can make them hard to find. If the ones from each series were together then that would be a good start. Otherwise the whole library system is outstanding.

› We really dislike the constant countdown to closing, and turning the lights off before it is closed which increases the risk of falling down the stairs.

› Awkward entrance through Dunn Bros which is closest to biggest parking lot. Direct entrance to library from that side of the building to the library would be preferred.

› Hours -- I wish the library had later hours on Friday night but I understand staffing needs

› availability of books

› The library is really nice. The pedestrian(and bike) access is a little awkward coming and going from the light at B. If you are walking on the sidewalk, you have to cross the exit drive, walk a little, then cross again.

› germs. Things don’t always seem cleaned off or sprayed down in the childrens area. Especially cold and flu season. Leave spray out for parents to use would be helpful. Or sanitizer stations.

› Parking can be difficult at times.

› The parking lot is not big enough at shoreview

› Available Hours

› sometimes there is just too much noise. would appreciate more quiet. why are print-outs/copies $.20? Hennepin County charges $.10/page.

› weather and my work hours

› TOO MUCH NOISE, CELL PHONES, LOUD KIDS and SCREAMING BABIES!!

› The new(er) library design has TOO much open space and children/teen areas. Further, that open space has hard floors and high ceilings, making the entire library louder than it should be. I visit the library considerably less than pre-remodel, and this is the primary reason.

› Kids using up computers for playing games & other non-educational purposes.

› Not open till 1:00 on Tuesday and Wednesday

› The hours that differ from branch to branch. I find it hard to get to the library in the morning hours, and am grateful for the days of the week at White Bear Lake branch when the library is open till 8 p.m.
› I pre-order my books so I don’t have to spend time at any of the libraries. Like I said previously they are just not “inviting”.
› hours, availability of small study spaces, quiet
› parking, hours of operations
› open hours, would use longer weekend hours.
› There available times open
› Noise/activity level (quiet is preferred), having a sufficient number of YA novels to browse on the shelves, physical attractiveness of the library inside and out.
› the friendly help of staff and the availability of computers and other resources.
› Selection of books and magazines.
› How busy it’s going to be since if there’s more people, I’m less likely to go due to the noise.
› you have a constant anti-anglo theme in your presenters and guest speakers.
› I appreciate the Ramsey County Library System has a location with materials that are not subject to being placed on hold. This allows patrons to reduce their wait time to obtain, read and return new some books more quickly.
› you need angle parking so you can see when you pull your car out. Also, the sharp corner on the north side of Roseville lot is not car friendly, someone always needs to wait for someone else to enter lot due to the sharpness of corner.
› Short or irregular open hours make it harder to plan visits.
› nothing really, I am mobile physically and have a car.
› Site being closed on Sundays afternoons
› I would love the library to have a larger selection of online books.
› My husband would like coffee to be available.
› It’s tough to get to the library at times because I have 3 small children along. The parking situation at many of the libraries means we have to walk quite a distance to get to the door. I try to time my library visits to when I’m alone or when I have another adult with me to help walk kids across the parking lot.
› I do love the coffee at Dunn Bros. I wish they had more seating!
› The Roseville Library closes so early on Fridays -- Fridays are the night when I like to treat myself to a library visit after work, but it closes at 5:00.
› You very often have earlier release of new books, audio books, etc., which I appreciate
› Some of the parking areas are clearly marked as no left turn, but this is widely disregarded
› Ease of ordering books and ease of picking them up
› The books are far from the door and harder to access. It makes them seem less valued and usable.
› The hours they are open, I have needed to go to the library with clients at nine but they were not open until ten. Frustrating.
› Print quality of receipts.
› Open hours, would love book recommendations or a book club
› I always enjoy visiting the libraries because there is always a good selection of materials (books, DVDs, CDs) and the atmosphere at each library is unique, but always welcoming.
› The library hours are very accommodating.
› My children love the coloring sheets and lego table-more of this would be great.
› The amount of books, areas for reading, and overall atmosphere.
› Parking.
› Would like to have the option to NOT PRINT the check out receipt, I just toss them in the recyle bin. Hennepin county asks on check out if you want a receipt to print or not, wish Ramsey county had the same option.
› BOOK CLUBS EVENTS COMMUNITY ART DISPLAYS
› accessible hours parking lot congestion
› I. I rent the DVD/movies often. On occasion I have had to refute the late charges due to the returned items being credited a DAY LATE when they were returned the day or night prior to the library completing their check-in process. This has happened on more than one occasion and it is Survey Question 5  WHAT ELSE IMPACTS YOUR LIBRARY VISITS? PLEASE EXPLAIN.

- Extremely frustrating because it is a simple fix.
- N/A
- I come to the library to read and contemplate, however there are times when I get disrupted by loud kids and noisy workers.
- No bus shelter outside on either side of the street, upon leaving the library it is tough to stand outside in the elements
- Having new books (25 cent to rent is great) to read that are hot items, good books for kids age 10-13 who loved to read but due to tech can’t find anything - would love to have book display geared to that age range
- DVD return...need a better system to show items are being scanned when they are returned....
- I only go to the library to pick up books I have ordered on line.
- The great staff, very friendly and helpful, especially Gary.
- Open hours. They seem to vary with white bear lake being the least available open hours of the ones I visit
- I think the North St. Paul Library is great.
- I got use Ancestry on the library computers, wish we could use it from our home computers if we have a Ramsey County Library card.
- Hours. Would like to see 10 AM opening every day.
- The vibe! I like quiet. Some noise is ok as long as it’s not too disruptive.
- Excellent librarians are a treasure trove of information. We love our White Bear librarians Therese and Ann.
- Hours, voting
- Parking, which works well for me. However, some signage seems to be not currently relevant (it probably was important for funding). Example, all the spots labeled for car and van pools -- is this currently relevant?
- I go when books I’ve reserved online are ready for pickup
- Too few hours being open
- The book collection and if an item is on the shelf or I have to request it and come back later; I also like have an on-site cafe-type option.
- The architecture of the “new” Roseville Library is cold and uninviting. In a world in which technology creates distance and generates a feeling of an uncaring world, we need libraries to be a home away from home, with a warm, inviting, enveloping feeling. This is missing in the new library in Roseville. Next time you have the opportunity to create a new library from scratch, you should include a broad cross-section of the community to be served to comment upon architectural concepts for a new building, and take the feedback seriously to heart in consideration of architectural responses to the resulting RFP.
- Plesant, knowledgeable help from librarians & staff.
- Basic etiquette and civility by other library users.
- The hours of operation. I also do not like that they put new single office in the middle of the collections space, Especislly because there’s hardly anyone in there.
- People who talk loudly on their cell phones about business. that is the only negative ( Or have loud conversations)
- I love the drive up drop off at New Brighton, I like the various open hours at New Brighton as well.
- Access to resources, newspapers, periodicals, computer access! great!
- I usually run in quickly to pick up things I have on hold which means I try to pull up alongside the front entrance, run in quick, check out my item/s then get back out to my car. This is especially important on cold days when I don’t expect to be more than 2 minutes in and out of the building. There’s not a specific spot to do this, but I try to pull up to ensure I’m out of the way of the entry and cars needing to pass by to park.
- The cost of copies is higher than any of the neighboring library systems, which require payment through machine. Many people do not pay.
- The availability of DVDs__Regular and rental.
- Hold items a lot of the time are not on the designated shelves and the rolling carts with items are not by the shelves.

- I am a librarian with a different system, so my issues are minimal, primarily relate to the fact that I can only get to the library when I’m not working, and hours across systems match up pretty strongly in the metro.
- Rental books and books I have reserved
- Library is sometimes closed on days that most businesses are open and I am surprised.
- Parking - sometimes the Shoreview library lot is very full
- Pro: easy to remember evening hours, very convenient to get to Con: history programming isn’t scheduled when working people can attend
- Book & more books
- Looking for aspce my kids can enjoy learn and socialize
- Ease of getting in and out of parking lot. It can be difficult during high-traffic periods.
- I feel like I’m intruding in a children’s school.
- It would be nice if there were short-term (15 min max) parking spots close to the building as I mostly just run in to pick up materials that are already waiting for me.
- Software changes and discontinuation, I download books onto a tablet
- Great help desk personnel.
- I end up reserving many books that I can’t find on the shelves but are available in the system, especially children’s/young adult fiction. I wish these sections has more variety to look around and pick up what a variety of interesting styles and subjects.
- I like the hours, I hope you can keep getting the finances
- I often stop to look at the new books so I love they are on display both for adults and students/kids. I often times request online and pick up my books when they come in so it’s a quick in and out!
- The toys available for the toddlers. Usually the toys at the White Bear location are great and always rotated. Although, we do use the Maplewood library and the toys are sparse and always the same.
- Hours- Open longer on the weekend especially on Sunday.
- coffee and cute librarians
- I like / use the handicapped parking.
- Parking
- I wish I could borrow books for my kindle
- I would really like to have text message and/or email alerts when books are ready to be picked up/when books are almost due. I typically reserve books online and have them sent to the library and then I pick them up.
- Availability of titles. Open hours.
- Parking is sometimes a problem. Space is often full in the library lot. On those occasions, I use the Mounds View District Center lot or Shoreview Community Center lot.

- It is a place where I can find what I need. And even if it is not available at one library I can request it and get it with a couple of days from a different library.
- I love the library!
- When they close because the whole building is closed for cleaning etc. Ridiculous
- On occasion, loud patrons
- longer hours on Friday, Saturday
- misbehavior by teens and kids screaming, teen room is a huge waste of $$$
- Parking. Have tohunt for spaces.
- The book collection could really be improved, I find myself driving to Hennepin County to use their library because they have so many more book titles.
- I work with adults with mental illness and we love when there are more programs during the day time.
- The timing of books coming in.
- Besides the collections, computers, librarians, I also access books, the free wifi, printers/copiers and fax machines. I also access sometimes RCL Maplewood and RCL Roseville. Roseville since the remodel is way to noisy and chaotic. It’s cold and doesn’t feel inviting. Maplewood needs a cafe however not sure how to suggest to make it work. As a patron I’m rare. I’m looking for work and advise others who are also looking for work to NOT use free wifi at coffee houses by only by one cup of coffee and staying for hours. It takes space away from those who are paying customers. Same when I was a student. I've purchased breakfast lunch and sometimes dinner when studying/and or looking for work.

› I seldom go on Tuesdays as it is closed. Irregular hours are also annoying (Open at 10am or 1 pm) it can be hard to remember.

› I can get DVDs here much quicker than at my regular library.

› I do homework in the teen section, but people playing computer games makes it hard to focus. It would be nice if they had a soundproof room to play in. Also it would be nice of Friday hours were extended.

› Noisy people and bad behavior. I realize that libraries are not totally quiet spaces, but sometimes the ruckus gets out of hand

› Actually, almost everything about the Roseville library meets my needs.

› time of day.

› Proximity to my home, children’s books, children’s play area.

› being able to access some websites

› I think all is well with our Library. I enjoy going there.

› The New Brighton Library extended it’s hours which is great.

› The hours that the library is open.

› Large windows and more natural light makes me concentrate and not feel I am in doors the whole time.

› The library holds is really nice, thank you to the librarians who pull my online orders for me. If it weren’t for you id never be able to pick books educational/safe environment for my young (<10) children while I study.

› Hours

› At the White Bear Lake Library, evening and weekend hours like that at Roseville, Maplewood, and Shoreview. Let’s use an already new, updated, financed, heated, and conditioned air space building to maximum advantage. Give people a community indoor space during the cold, boring, depressing time of the dark winter months of the year. Daylight time during this time of the year is very precious and relegated to earning a living. Evening and weekend hours help provide vital opportunity through life changing information that people can get from being at the library. It’s a significant community changing change that appears to me to be a no brainer. In addition, the library does not need to be fully staff over all open times. this additional time (evening and wknd) could be staffed with a very small number of staff. Thank you. Paul Loaney paloaney@hotmail.com contact me if you wish.

› More quiet is an absolute MUST!

› Availability of larger meeting rooms - 8-10 people. Please don’t sacrifice these for ‘maker’ rooms. It is very hard to find a place for a group to meet.

› Parking

› Hours of operation

› Special events the library hosts (read to dog, stuffed animal sleepover, projects & crafts, eclipse party, etc)

› We visit often for programs in the summer but less during the school year. We would love more programs open during the school year. Weekends or off school days accommodating different district schedules would be the best times. Advertise with school districts.

› Borrowing books and kids play

› Proximity to residence is a huge plus. But what deters us from library visits is when one cannot pick up another’s requested library material, even though they are significant others.

› Picking up books/returning books

› This library is on a bus line and seems to have a very lax policy for allowing homeless people to sleep in the chairs. It also has a children’s play area that is extremely loud and not well managed. I don’t go here much anymore because it’s dirty, loud and full of transients at times. Unsafe and gross.

› Activities for children and DVD’s available

› I primarily use the library for books. Reserving books and picking up or going to library and checking out a book I need right away for an on-line class or something of that nature. I used to get a lot of DVDs but not as much anymore.

- I would love to be able to visit the White Bear Library on Sunday afternoons (after church services are out at the adjoining church which shares a parking lot).
- The hours. I wish the schedule was a little different. I appreciate the days they’re open until 8, but I wish they opened at nine or ten each morning.
- Availability of events
- More STEAM classes for children. STEAM programs for 8-14 years old that will take more than just a few children. More 3-D printing classes that accept more than 5 teams of child and parent. The class fills to quickly ie within a day of release of class schedule.
- Play areas! We visit the library for not only books but a quiet and safe indoor play place for kids.
- We often request books for pickup. It works smoothly to check out books this way and I don’t see any issues.
- It’s a library NOT a community/children’s play center. Include more noise abatements features. Expand research capabilities (such as MNLINK), financial research capabilities. Again, it is a library and limit turning a library into a “playground”. WHY a restaurant?? Coffee bar?? PLEASE teach children what a library is... a place to find answers, learn, learn ways to find answers, NOT a place to “Hang Out”, or play. You are beginning to lose library functionality and turn it into a community playground.
- STOP using our tax dollars to build buildings for libraries. Just move to an on line borrowing system. Be more creative without a building.
- I love the dvd’s and 50 cent recent releases I love the automated outside return slot in Roseville, the main area on first floor is very bright with all the white and it seems noises, any way to bring in some color and make it less stark would be helpful.
- noise and distractions
- donation- both giving and buying
- Needing a quiet, clean, space to think and work. I like the quiet hum of activity. I LOVE our library system and use it often for getting books and movies.
- The hours. They are great, especially the evening hours.
- I love the displays of student art work.
- Need better signage on Beam Ave and Southlawn and outside library building so that people can find the library.
- I was going to support the library; I bought a brick too. However, I was there one time only and there was a homeless woman in sleeping by the fireplace in the back with her suitcase. That was the one and only time I went. With the new bus station going in across the street. Wow. It will be really bad. Hours need to be adjusted for sure. Some days short, some days close, etc. My husband and I both said “gee, every time we want to go, the library is closed”. You seem to accommodate stay at home mom and retirees only. Not the working family. Totally need a coffee bar and a cafe. Its not warm or friendly.
- The book return is difficult to drive through as evidenced by all the skid marks on the building and watching people in front of me not being about to navigate the return. I don’t find this new library inviting. I order on line now instead of visiting.
- hours
- Inadequate return slot, dangerous exit aisle from outdoor return slot, poor traffic flow
- Good lighting. Used book sale.
- If my books on hold have come in.
- Hours. They are pretty accommodating - important to keep.
- Sometimes the books I want are not in the Ramsey County collection. I recently got 2 books from Columbia Heights that are not in any Ramsey County Library.
- open hours impact my visit and if they do not have the book I am looking for.
- Ramsey County Library in Roseville is the one to which I go for its programs (sometimes through

Survey Question 5  WHAT ELSE IMPACTS YOUR LIBRARY VISITS? PLEASE EXPLAIN.

› OLLI) and the proximity to St. Paul where I live.
› noisy children/ noisy teen area
› Parking
› would like to use the Shoreview library, but they are all so grumpy! Especially the librarians. All they do is sit at their special desk and point.
› Hours of operations - I would like to see the library open earlier, at least on some days. Not enough comfortable seating scattered throughout the library especially in the room with magazines & newspapers. Periodicals often in disarray/seemingly unorganized making it hard to quickly find what I’m looking for
› I frequently check books for sale in used book section to purchase for an elderly relative. Increasingly I am checking out electronic books.
› crowds, speed of service (self service access)
› I avoid weekends because it’s very busy and I am retired so can easily go on weekdays
› Would be nice to have more independent/art films available to check out. There are a lot of great art films, but they mainly show in Edina or Uptown. Would be nice if we had a place to see these movies in this part of the city--either to check out or perhaps library screenings?
› I really like the Roseville library
› Wish library could have earlier opening times added
› Do not understand the question.
› Library hours are too short on Friday and Saturday
› opening hours
› it would be nice to have more than 3 days to pick up a item on hold
› Hours that the library is open
› I come to library for quiet study spaces, both for private rooms or to use large open study/reading space
› People need to shut up, sometimes I leave because no one will enforce prohibiting loud cell phone or other conversations. Also, some kind of barrier into the kid area to mute the shrieking toddlers would be appreciated.
› Too many fluorescent lights. Trigger migraines for me and can be very difficult for children and adults with various special needs.
› Noise in the library - seems that has fallen by the wayside.
› It’s closed on Tues and only open when I can get there Mon, Thurs or Sat
› I found the redesign, years back, made me less comfortable staying at the library to read or even browse the shelves. It seemed like a warehouse more than a library. I have to admit that I haven’t really explored the quieter areas of the library since those changes were made and so probably don’t even know what to ask for. I really do appreciate having such a busy, well used library in my suburb. I appreciate how easy it is to request books and pick them up easily!
› Adequate parking especially handicapped.
› friendly librarians
› Friday evening closing time could be a little later. Many times I have missed it on my way home from work.
› Primarily just picking up books, or story time with my grandkids
› Children’s area-if there’s enough to keep them occupied while I find books, the availability of best sellers or recent releases
› How cozy it is. Private study rooms.
› If there is a claimed returned item, patron should be given the chance to search the back room at the library.
› Hours If the hours could be extended to earlier open times, that’d be great!
› Length of Hold list on popular titles
› Checking out books and an occasional DVD are our reasons for visits.
› 1. the ability to pick up items from hold  2. staff suggested materials on display  3. easy access to dvd and music collections for on the fly browsing  4. learning to use 3D printing › programs for children during schools’ recesses
› puppet shows, interactive ipads for kids to use › Can’t see the lit up “open” sign very well because of the tree branches at New Brighton. I’d like to see the library open more hours.
› The hours the library is open.
› The Roseville library should have more art dispayed.
› I am observing that this survey is geared to measure the physical space at the library. I find the Ramsey County Libraries to be quite comfortable and space sufficient for meetings, small groups, individual comfort areas, and pleniful access to computers. I am interested in seeing some investments made in materials. We are in an era where it IS possible to be in the comfort of your own home, public transportation, commute, etc where library users can readily listen to digital audiobooks. I spend an extensive amount of time in my car and I prefer to listen to audiobooks instead of the radio. I’m kind of disgusted at the lack of digital audiobooks and lack of apps available thru the Ramsey County Library. For example, using the ONE app (RB Digital) that allows me to check out audiobooks, I recently searched for adult level audiobooks AVAILABLE to check out in the TRUE CRIME genre, and there were only 4 choices available. 2 of them I had already read and the other 2 were about Whitey Bulger. Pretty sad. So I would like to see less money being spent on space and comfort, and more money being designated to digital audiobooks. My second suggestion would be to change the 7 day check-out policy on non-fiction DVD’s. Change it to 21 days. It’s not like my Biggest Loser workout DVD’s are in the same demand as a newer released movie. Sadly, I am not checking out my workout DVD’s much anymore because it is such a hassle to be renewing or returning them every 7 days or pay $1 fine per day/per video. It’s ridiculous. I KNOW that a librarians job and the availability of access/hours/buildings open depends on USERSHIP. You should be concentrating on checking out as many materials as people want. Limiting non-fiction DVD’s for 7 days is hindering your circulation rate, not helping.
› Library fines. Seriously, get up to speed with technology. Text me, call me, etc. Also, I want one app for the library that would allow me to do the exact same thing as the website. Why is this so hard!! I’ve been to other states and they are light years ahead of what we can do in Minnesota.
› Places that have parking spaces at an angle are easier, backing out provides more visibility
› Finding an open computer.
› I primarily use the library to check out books, DVD’s. I also use the remote resources available on my computer ie research databases such as consumer reports/consumer checkbook. I’m new to the area and once settled want to take advantage of programming such as the lifelong learning and TED talks.
› Not much privacy when using computers; people sharing a computer who are chatting. The due date notification system is hit or miss and results in charges when not working.
› need for computer and internet and printing
› When the library is open. WBL library needs more hours.
› I have not come to any storytimes with my children at my main branch because there is not an evening one. I often attend the Monday night Roseville one, but it can get crowded. I would like to attend more programs for adults, but then I’m not sure if I should bring my kids or not. Could there be a small kids table with books nearby during an adult program?
› No open study rooms
› Hours the library is open. Would be great to have the library open on Sunday.
› location close to my work
› hours
› I am seeing more (seemingly) homeless people sleeping in my local library, young people spending the entire day there just using the computers.
› noise

› Crafting mags/beading, crochet, knitting
› Expand learning opportunities, add research capability, have classes to teach kids how to find answers and what capabilities of a true library are.
› Good as is
› Outlets in floors are filthy. Could they be vacuumed more often?
› Again better selection of hardcover books.

Survey Question 6 WHAT SERVICES OR FEATURES ARE MISSING OR SHOULD BE IMPROVED AT YOUR LIBRARY? PICK UP TO 4.

› Adult board game playing area.
› Adult 3D printer access.
› Library carrels
› Nothing
› I am happy with what exists now.
› More tables to work at if don’t need comp.
› Have already responded
› Better computers/programs
› Classes for tai chi, yoga, dance, CPR, cooking, music
› Procedure for public to influence book acquisition
› More interesting, diverse spaces
› I really can’t think of anything. I have no complaints.
› Put a curb cut at entrance to White Bear
› For what I use my library for, I think it is spectacular. I also think the spaces for other areas I do not use (public computer, children/teen areas, etc). However, I do NOT think food should be available due to the noise it introduces.
› I am happy with Roseville Library. Some wait lists for new materials is too long › Info on how to borrow from universities?
› Clean seating; more tables
› More books on electronic media
› Bicycle parking
› Nothing
› I would like earlier hours
› More comfortable reading chairs in the children’s areas for kids to read in at WBL.
› An “open” space - other than the large meeting room and private meeting rooms for conversations
› More book returns. Waiting in long lines for books to be returned one at a time is tedious.
› None of the above
› Tables to work at out of the traffic pattern
› Easily accessible place for seniors
› Special space for school-age kids (mix of seating, activity/exploration space, plus collections)
› Quiet places for seniors or the handicapped to read on the main floor
› More copies of new books so it didn’t take so long to get them; more available books online.
› Separate noise proof room for children. Not in main area
› More books and reference materials
› Notifications when a book is due. This feature doesn’t always work becoming an unreliable option which has resulted in me having to pay fines.
› I go to Roseville because of Dunn Bros
› Places for the handicapped to read
› Newspapers in more convenient location
› Moving back to an eBook platform supported by all devices. Cloud Library is not supported by the most popular device - Kindle! Since the library made the switch from Overdrive to Cloud, I’m unable to check out books on my device.
› Presentation of new DVDs and books
› Other county services located onsite
› I’d love to see expanded hours.
› I like it just the way it is.
› I would love for the library to have video recording equipment that can be checked out and returned › Nothing, love the Roseville library
› Collections content
› Better book drop off ability both inside and out. We often walk to the library after hours to return books and walking through the drive through is not very safe.
› Again, the library should be a quiet place.
› Area to heat up food, hot water
› I saw that it was possible to promote a hobby via the library. I am a ham radio operator, and I have an interest in doing something for that there.
› You already do a great job!!
› Larger selection of book titles. Please do not cull the older novels so severely.
› Better signs on ends of book rows
› Open more hours
› Drive-up book drop off.
› I just use the library for books and everything is good › Single use bathrooms!!!!!!! I can’t believe this isn’t one of your options! In fact your options, which will skew your results, are awful, for instance, not affordable drink/food, but good quality drink/food! Comfortable seating MUST be leather or vinyl upholstered.
sensory processing friendly spaces and amenities. perhaps you could consult autism speaks or autism society of mn
I like my library. I don’t need it as a place to be taught by the library management about environmentalism, though.
Late fine forgiveness for lower income people.
French
Can’t think of anything being able to opt out of a survey without answering every question
I don’t see a need for improvements in features or services.
Outdoor seating? I don’t know. It seems pretty awesome here.
please eliminate fines, especially for kid books
From upstairs, I can hear plenty of noise from the children’s area. When the noise is children screaming, it is especially annoying. Do something to keep the noise IN the children’s area. Didn’t anybody think about this when the new Roseville library was built?
It would be cool to be able to check out vinyl records.
Events ie music from other countries, tax help, computer education, etc areas where the children and teen could go so the rest of the library are not distracted by their noise website should allow browser or password software to remember the library card number OR (better) we should be able to assign a username that is easy to remember and type in. As currently implemented, both the password and library card number seem to be read as “password” fields.
As I get older (currently 76 y.o.) I will need chairs that I can get out of easily - the chairs at the computers are great for that.
consolidation of library/school district/community services/etc. into one facility/service center with kiosks outsourced Better computers
hot chocolate k cups librarian or other help with devises to download books the books.
More variety in open times among all sites - later closing times on weekends.
1. less noise 2. more instructional information on computers tired of the liberal enabling culture of the library: you are cowards
Nothing I can think of.
More books
I really enjoy the library space. I can’t think of anything missing that I would use.
A Dunn Brothers!
video editing
The only reason I chose the selection was because I was required to do the computer. Roseville is a nice library as is, in my opinion.
calendar of events mailed to house (could do option for email if someone wanted it) - or make this a sign up to receive it bigger religious library section
I think the stupid and sometimes educational comments made by that one librarian during the last 20 minutes before the library closing could be seriously improved or stopped altogether.
I would love a place to sit quietly and watch nature, perhaps a place with large windows and binoculars and info about local birds, plants, etc. Living in an apartment, on the highest floor, all I see is sky. I miss trees and critters and would love a cozy corner where I can study in that environment or read or just observe it from a comfy chair. In my opinion, libraries should be about nurturing learning and appreciation of culture at every opportunity. So more engaged spaces and presentations and exhibits would be nice. Bring in a taste of local museums and observatories, and artisans and writers, and educators, etc. Not just for children or teens, and not just book things.
color photo copier; outside book return is practically useless and inconvenient. Your book return options ruin items.
Survey Question 6 WHAT SERVICES OR FEATURES ARE MISSING OR SHOULD BE IMPROVED AT YOUR LIBRARY? PICK UP TO 4.

› More than 1 copy of a dvd title at the shoreview library. This library is used a lot and it seems the dvd collection is always low compared to the Roseville library.
› I'm more interested in a better website for finding books and reading them electronically
› I would like to have analog games available for check out and gaming events: chess, wei qi, board games, table-top role-playing games (like D&D), etc.
› maybe a tool check out? for DYI use?
› Books
› More community services, resources
› I don't need any improvements. I primarily use the library for borrowing books/tapes.
› Yikes! So I have to answer every question? Nothing I want is missing. Same with expanded hours, below. I marked Sunday just to "give an answer".
› I think more computers in a common space - currently too small and in the middle of library
› just use to pick up/return books
› power tool maker space or check out program
› A QUIET Library with Closed Children’s and TEEN areas.
› The parking lot design at the Roseville branch is quite poor.
› Separarte computers for adults & kids.
› open later on Friday evenings. Seems nonsensical to close when everyone else is out and about.
› computer screens need to be updated/enlarged at Maplewood library (which I use 2nd most often)
› Newer travel guides.
› Some libraries have a quiet computer room, where talking/phone calls are not allowed. Perhaps Roseville could consider such a space.
› good as is
› Attractive artwork or personal collection displays like the White Bear Lake library used to have.
› Decrease in actual CD audio books. Older titles do not get repalced and new books are not available except for E-Audio. Some people do not have the ability to access the E Library for books or Audio. I know budgets are tight but when I have viewed the E-Audio books for some major authors there is a lack of titles and availability. Please keep this in mind when ordering books - elderly or those dealing with money problems do not have the technology that others do. I have mentioned this before and basically got a snide comment in return.
› New York Times newspaper
› Again, no kids outside of their space and it should be separate.
› Availability of new dvds and books, open more hours
› I just go for books and magazines and go home, so the library is great for me, but this question is required.
› I’m glad this library has play space for children. However, I’m of a generation when voices in a library should be quiet. Maybe enclose the play space with glass walls.
› timed close to door parking for quick visits/picking up reserved items etc.
› More computers.
› Better cataloging of DVD’s.
› i love my library
› As per earlier comment, children should have a separate place to play loudly, not with all the other library patrons.
› bigger new book selection
› Board Games
› It’d be awesome to have some more of the creative art programs for kids at shoreview- like the articulture stuff at libraries in St. Paul. Also, St Paul libraries have music concerts at night sometimes, this would be a great use of the meeting space- local artists could come play.
› None of these are necessary.
› Website that works well on a phone
› coffee machine
› I like everything about our library the way it is.
› Is there free wi-fi? Why aren’t there signs telling us this? Why stand in line and wait for the next available librarian to ask this simple question?
› Car ports for cars. In the summer time they could shade cars from the sun, the winter there would be less snow to plow, you could put solar panels on them

› some libraries are so loud b/c of the too open layout so having some open & then closed or half walled space is nice for studying or reading.

› more comfortable chairs to sit at when working on personal assignments

› Private rooms with library provided computers

› It seems fine as it is.

› Perhaps a way to expand the large group room when a very popular has been brought in. But where? I don’t know.

› keep the unmanaged screeching kids in a special area

› as stated earlier, a gas fireplace with chairs/couches would be nice

› open on Sundays and week day evenings until 9PM

› Good as is!

› I think your services here are very good.

› too loud with eagles nest

› I only pick things up, so nothing more is needed for me

› Too few hours

› I’m not sure what features could be useful, but I notice people visit the library who might be experiencing housing or financial insecurities.

› Shoreview Children’s area is great - but refreshes to the areas a couple times a year would be great

› I suggest coordinating with the county social services unit to have an on-site service center for intake and referrals. Also, there is no reason for meeting rooms of a publicly funded building to not be open Saturday and Sunday evenings. Meeting space is crucial to democracy, because the right to associate guaranteed in the First Amendment requires a PLACE in which to congregate.

› I have been going to the library since before I could read, so I am always happy to see young kids at the library.

› Leave more space for materials

› things are good for me at the library.

› Let’s have some respect for others, keep it down, lower your voice, we had to WHISPER in my day!

› none

› Recent library renovations in the twin cities metro area almost always seem to involve a radical decrease in the number of books. I would be very sad to see this happen to the Ramsey County libraries.

› books closer to the entry way! It is so far to walk to get to the books. Put the computers back there.

› Roseville has a higher demand and usage of DVDs compared to other branches with respect to its allocation, i.e. DVDs are frequently unavailable at Roseville but in stock at other branches.

› Free home online access to Ancestry.com

› Kids space is great - but maybe can be changed up periodically - like a seasonal rotation, it would also be great to have more toddler crafts or activities - ages 2-3 have very limited activities in our community.

› I don’t use any of these areas

› I am happy with the library as is.

› I wish we could continue to improve the audio book section

› Automated materials - somebody has to schlep all the stuff from the entrance book drop back to processing (but until that lot to the south opens up I guess there isn’t room)

› I only pick up books that I requested!

› More signage about location of elevator

› More Book Club services to engage more with popular books

› Adult ed, materials for ESL students

› open more days of the week

› Emphasis on print materials, not electronics. Don’t get me wrong, I have all the devices today.

› Parking as mentioned above

› Advertising events earlier and more frequently

› None! Keep being awesome, and keep expanding the book collection (both hardcopy and ebooks)

› more convenient audio access

› Quiet place to read
WHAT SERVICES OR FEATURES ARE MISSING OR SHOULD BE IMPROVED AT YOUR LIBRARY? PICK UP TO 4.

› Expanded database resources
› no additional services necessary
› It already is a very comfortable place to hang out
› Roseville is amazing. We even have a reading garden so the kids can enjoy the outdoors!
› seniors’ room
› cute single librarians
› I have no additional needs
› I visit Roseville at least once per week; I’m never left wanting. Thank you.
› Signage asking people to be quiet as not to disturb others.
› Staff can be condensing, you ask a question and they act like it is a bother; you would think the head librarian would set a better example for her staff
› better play space for children ages 5-10, rather than just the toddler play spaces featured - also spaces that encourage community conversations, interactions, and creativity for all ages
› Parking
› The library feels very sterile and open. More areas that feel “cozy” like the fireplace area in the children’s room. A place like that for adults would be nice.
› I would very much like to see better security.
› lighting improvements in collection stacks for older patrons
› My complaint is about people at the computers & having a long, loud verbal conversations on their cell phone as if they were sitting in their own home. People generally talking loud about the library; these are Adults. This can be very distracting; especially if I have a project I am working on. What ever happened to using our indoor voices? Could there be signs suggesting this.
› Updated computers, chrome option
› More books
› Nothing
› nothing
› Maybe close off the Teen Space a little more so that the noise from there isn’t so distracting to other patrons in the main library area.
› More sharing between libraries. Some branches do not allow their books to be put on call to other branches.
› More adult programs.
› I wish there was more place to sit in the public areas but not have people so close by. The "desks" by the windows are very tiny and barely have enough room for a laptop or a notebook.
› Longer hours!!
› ILL often takes a long time/ is very unpredictable. Would be great if it were renewable and/ or some information available for when it will arrive to better plan for homeschooling
› more STEM classes for teens at the WBL library- after school/summer activities that appeal to teens- they can’t get to Maplewood or Roseville
› This program required me to select something here. No improvements necessary.
› Free community ed classes-computer skills, etc..
› Love roseville library!
› Easier access to interlibrary loan
› I understand the restroom thing is tough one but having to go outside the actual space to use one with small kids is really hard on a parent especially if they have multiple kids and/ or you have already started selecting books to checkout but aren’t ready to leave.
› Your survey requires me to pick something, but I don’t have something to contribute.
› I think the selection of board books for small kids could be better. In particular I think the Maplewood location’s selection of board books to browse and check out is quite poor.
› Evening hours on Friday and Saturday night
› Coffee shop is nice. Not required of course but nice.
› https://mashable.com/2017/03/01/adulting-101-classes-library/
› Expand learning opportunities, add research capability, have classes to teach kids how to find answers and what capabilities of a true library are.
› Above listed other
› Close the libraries and tell the people to stay home. Too many features should be found at home.
Wasting too much gas going to a library building.
> magazine exchange = place to share old magazines

> Maplewood has a great back yard - would love to see that be incorporated more! It is a bummer the cafe area isn’t able to remain in business.

> Not for me, but there are members of the community who do not worship on Sunday mornings and might appreciate hours starting at 8:00 a.m. A space for socializing for older adults. Places for young families to have private reading time, especially if they are unable to attend current story times. Services for single mothers that accommodate going to school and/or working to support a family.

> More arts displays, not just students but local artists, photographers, etc. Maybe work with Arts Roseville on this.

> Get innovate. You have a big room. Play a movie in that room on occasion. That would be wonderful. There are no movie theaters around anymore.

> change the CD display to make it easier to read the labels - vertical instead of horizontal - to low > ability to make lists on library website > services and features meet my needs as they are

> Curbside drop off and/or handicap curbcut in front of the door. Parking lot is too far away.

> Again easier outdoor book drop off.

> More Judy Woodruff excellent programs

> It offers everything I need, currently.

> devolve some storytelling and juvenile books into the community ala bookmobiles even in urban areas

> Coffee cafe

> Hennepin County Libraries offer 3 automatic renewals. That is appreciated.

> Waiving fines once in a while. I rarely miss returning books or movies, but it’s happened when I’m on vacation or the library was closed due to snow. Please waive the fine!

> Parking

> book pick up from car

> area for only computer use with someone to help if needed

> Our new Shoreview library is great. It has everything I need.

> Can’t think of any > increase e book collection.

> For how my family uses the library, I am satisfied.

> maybe some comfortable seating on the first floor, not just upstairs

> Add another book return please.

> longer hours on Sundays

> Had to pick one --

> Larger collection of books and DVDs; a lot of items I want to borrow that are not available

> I’m content. I love the library. At times it gets a bit busy to find a table, but that is minor. My kids are grown and I used to use and love the children and teens collection. Still great though

> I’m happy with the services I use

> Don’t bring food/beverages into the library, please. An outdoor space with a food truck would be fun, or, like a four season area indoor where people could have food/beverages away from the library materials. Also, it’s sometimes hard to access the librarian when I need an inter-library loan.

> none apply. Am satisfied w current offerings

> Book club that meets on the weekend (or a virtual option of a book club - where a person can participate anytime, and accessible through library website, not social media)

> Open late on Tues and open on Sunday

> Tween focus for those who are too young for teen, yet feeling too old for children’s > longer/ later weekend hours

> Ability to download ebooks to my kindle. I have to use Hennepin County Library Overdrive.

> I don’t think anything is missing for me

> Tutorials for children, and parents on the proper care of materials. Make it fun, like a puppet show, for instance.

> more Book Club in a Bag -- our group has read about 150 of yours > courses on media use, and creative apps - drawing, painting, photography using our devices -- Libraries do a better job than the Apple Store!

› Government books
› I don’t need to use any of these services elsewhere
› learning classes including college accredited classes
› Returns at closer locations would be wonderful.
  that is my greatest challenge
› Outreach library materials at senior assisted living home
› The library location is so convenient for me that I don’t think I’d need to use an alternate location for anything.
› Vhs tapes

  saying using services online at other places?
› access to showers at community center for low income individuals
› Keep library services at LIBRARY

- none
- Classes/programs
- The Library calendar should mention more details about events and programs
- No other services.
- Classes
- None—hate this idea!
- none
- none that's why we have libraries
- I prefer to use the library itself
- Don’t they already have libraries at schools?
- none
- Love the idea of returns to a non-library location which would be closer to my home
- None. Just stop it and direct library resources to the libraries themselves.
- audio book downloads
- This is a great idea! Please have a book return at Cub Foods on White Bear Ave.
- none
- It would be nice to add a gym to the library, not the other way around
- None. I would rather go to the library.
- Offsite tool shop
- Amazon-like locker for library materials (DVDs, books, etc)
- self check in of returning items.
- can’t think of any
- None are necessary.
- The library is so convenient that it’s easy have it hold all services
- What an awesome idea. Thank you for the possibility. :-)
- Would it be possible to put reserved books in a locker, like an Amazon locker?
- maybe a return and hold branch at mall...otherwise it’s ok to have a community place.
- book return drop offs at other locations
- Contracted underutilized commercial spaces (perhaps in exchange for favored tax status for the related time period) funded for community meeting space for nonprofit groups, and for rent to for-profit groups; especially along transit corridors.
- none
- But as I said, it’s pretty darn convenient for me where it is! so this would just supplement hours
- gym
- I would love to be able to pick up and drop off books at alternative locations such as a school or other locations. The library location isn’t overly convenient for me
- I would LOVE Returns at another location. Holds too. Or “drive through holds” - so much easier with little kids then getting everyone out of the car...
- Lynda.com thanks so much for that
- All of these services are available from my personal computer
- do not think these are necessary
- can’t see needing this
- None- I want to come to the library
- none apply. Am satisfied w current offerings
- None, that misses the whole point of going to the library
- I don’t need any of these, and you should allow a “none of these” option. And I don’t need expanded hours, I just checked two boxes to make the survey happy.
- I find the location sufficient
- Really like the full version of Ancestry.com and assistance
- since the library is so convenient for me, I don’t think non-library locations would apply to me.
- SV Community Center
- Programs that relate to a collection of books or popup displays that can be checked out (not sure how the technology for that would work). For example, a rotating display of cookbooks to check out at Kowalski’s in Shoreview. Or trivia night hosted by the library at a local bar and grill.

THINK ABOUT OTHER LIBRARIES OR PUBLIC SPACES YOU HAVE VISITED:
WHAT WOULD YOU LIKE TO SEE AT YOUR OWN BRANCH? LIST THE LOCATION AND WHAT YOU LIKE.

Answered: 614
Skipped: 1557

› Online booking of community rooms
› I would like the librarians to emphasize books and reading rather than computers.
› The remodeled Maplewood kid area is popular
› A more secluded/soundproof children’s area. And posted signs to be quiet. It used to be that the library was a place of peace and quiet. Now most times there are noisy children and adults talking and it is just allowed by library staff.
› Microfilm reader
› Roseville - spacious and lots of lights. Better, softer seating.
› Volunteer opportunities. Community projects to work on as a group. Book groups led by “community reads”. Kids read to dogs or grandparents.
› DMW Office - Roseville
› Book displays/suggestions for what to read for kids and adults
› A library in Las Vegas had a full shelf of Chinese novels, chapter books, picture books, DVDs, DCs, craft books. If possible, it would be nice to expand books in other languages besides Spanish. Multi-cultural books supports multi-cultural communities.
› Small, quiet, comfortable sitting spaces just for reading
I love how family friendly the space is. My kids can spend hours playing and reading books. I think Roseville branch is the best!

- Multicultural/community art and representation in staff (diversity)
- Collections to browse. Young Adult literature. Meeting spaces
- New Brighton is quiet and has better room for studying
- Open till 9 on Friday and weekends
- Nicer, creative bulletin boards
- Honest public resources
- Roseville - better policing of cell phones. Roseville - exceptional book/dvd collections
- Shoreview - book clubs, especially mystery. Mounds view- interviewing classes
- More community oriented space for groups that aren’t elderly or older adults or children.
- I like it here because other libraries had hard seats and more uncomfortable seating.
- Lincley Library [spelling?] --it serves more hours. It has more private rooms for study. It is close to public transportation.
- Art work displayed
- More of what I get and experience here at N. St Paul Library. Can’t say enough about all that work here. Such a pleasure to be able to have them all. Clone them for all libraries!

- Sun Ray Library -- no fines. Every 15 minutes we get $100 of fine. Mayors trying to get no fines!
- Poetry circle at RCL Shoreview was enjoyable. Non-circulating art or photography books. Movie series at RCL Shoreview was also enjoyable.
- North St Paul -- no talking in library! Maplewood -- no talking in library!
- Green living plans - nature.
- NSP Library. Friendly and helpful staff. Quiet environment, usually. Competent staff.
- More free play activities at children’s area North St Paul
- North St Paul expanded hours. Computers in open area before library opens.
- North St Paul - expanded selection of large print books. Including new releases. Thanks.
- I like that the Washington County Library Self-Checkouts allow you to type your card number when you don’t have your card with you.
- Recommend reading list for specific age groups, as well as an option to leave/read reviews on titles
- Would like the North St Paul branch to have more books
- North St Paul: more comfortable seating/space to hang out. Drive up book return.
- Overall, we love the WBL library the best!
- WBL is fabulous! Thank you.
- Maplewood -- playhouse and kitchen
- Shoreview -- many areas to do work. Tables are set up and it’s still quiet enough to work.
- Dunn Bros at Roseville. I really think the WBL is awesome.
- I visit the Maplewood Library on Sundays (for computers) and like the way the foreign language DVDs are in one location. Is that the only library where they can be found?
- Coffee shop would be great!
- Roseville -- Dunn Bros. More kids spaces at Roseville
- I have gained much from the Mounds View Library and Staff. Thank you!
- Mounds view library likes: small and quiet, the staff is helpful, the decor is not visually overwhelming (I have sensory integration/sensitivity problems). Mounds View would like to see: more programming for young adult professionals. More culture and story telling events.
- More guided activities for children: Roseville and Shoreview.
- Maplewood has a large room for special events and class rooms. Large shelf for texts on stocks and consumers library (?)
- I used to go to the Arden Hills library. When it was...
Survey Question 11: WHAT WOULD YOU LIKE TO SEE AT YOUR OWN BRANCH? LIST THE LOCATION AND WHAT YOU LIKE.

- We moved from Carol Stream, IL, and they were a small library but had so many different events for adults and kids. Two times/month free dance classes, seasonal events, fun events for kids: “Cat in the Hat” night, “Hamilton” sing-a-long, Harry Potter Night. Also, craft supplies, a train table, and four times per week story time. The librarians were also much more accessible and interactive with the kids. It got us in the door frequently. The 1000 books before kindergarten was also a HUGE hit and got the kids really excited about coming to the library.
- Maplewood and Shoreview need a coffeeshop (i.e. Roseville)
- Sensory Comfort. Artist lectures. Alternative media (DIY “zines”)
- Maplewood and Shoreview need a coffee shop (i.e. Roseville)
- Maplewood Library is farther from our home than White Bear Lake, but is worth the extra miles. There is a much greater selection of books and DVDs. Both branches have friendly and helpful librarians. A problem for us at both libraries is the manner in which the librettos are placed within the DVDs. They are folded so that one first needs to open the cases and then pulling them at least part way out because the library label partially covers the libretto contents. Our library in Naples, Florida has a more customer friendly method: the libretto is unfolded so that the entire libretto can be read from outside the case without first having to pry the case open to read it. I was told by one library worker that the Maplewood and WBL method is for the convenience of the library personnel to make it easier for them to manage, sort, and catalog the DVDs. It may indeed be easier for the personnel, but it’s not customer friendly. We would much appreciate this issue being considered by the libraries.
- We typically visit other libraries for a variety of children’s activities

- Seeds. More handicap parking. Carts to get books to car.
- Minneapolis Public Library has a warm feeling due to the smaller, beautifully designed spaced. Ramsey County Libraries in general have a more “warehouse type” of a feel. :
- Mounds view needs to be remodeled.
- Check out the periodical displays at the Duluth Public Library or at Grand Marais Public Library -- far superior to ours.
- Roseville coffee shop!
- Createc - St Paul library system
- No specific location. I would like to see new library where I can reserve a room for group study or meeting in advance through online or by phone.
- No St Paul - location
- More drinking fountains
- More toys, puzzles, and activities
- Dakota County in Eden Prairie ---- larger space, maker space, more books and magazines
- More handicap parking. Carts to get books to car.
- We moved from Carol Stream, IL, and they were a small library but had so many different events for adults and kids. Two times/month free dance classes, seasonal events, fun events for kids: “Cat in the Hat” night, “Hamilton” sing-a-long, Harry Potter Night. Also, craft supplies, a train table, and four times per week story time. The librarians were also much more accessible and interactive with the kids. It got us in the door frequently. The 1000 books before kindergarten was also a HUGE hit and got the kids really excited about coming to the library.

Roseville coffee shop was good before it got smaller/ remodeled
I am very pleased with RCL. In fact, I love it! Maybe expand the catalog some overall.
Roseville -- coffee shop/lunch shop
Cafe that serves food
Drive through book drop off!
Bigger children’s play area / more learning things for them to play with Love the emotional feeling of sitting quietly in front of the fire
Overall, all your Ramsey County Libraries are ALL GREAT the summer lunches
TVs, movies, etc.
Libraries in general should use more space for BOOKS, not teen hangouts or child care centers. Babies, kids, and teens are usually noisy and annoying. (Library user since 1955)
Northtown Library (Anoka) has services like help with preparing and filing tax forms, color copier, and their computers have a left click option (allowing you to save images). Northtown is also open on Sundays. Anoka County Libraries also had a great program called “Page to Stage” -- you read the play ahead of time, see it performed, then discuss afterward with director and actors.
Maplewood -- it’s bright, welcoming, warm to everyone, it makes you want to stay, explore books, and read awhile. Same with Roseville location. / More help with returning to workforce. As a source to people looking for short/low cost skills classes. Or refresher classes. Perhaps would be a great start.
I love the quiet and classical look of libraries. I like that the WBL location is carpeted (quieter) with comfortable chairs in the quieter areas.
Galleries -- NYC, Baltimore, LA.
Shoreview -- I like that I can easily see the available “book ---” bags and “binge watching” bags. I wish I could easily see what at all the libraries and maybe even request then.
Outdoor seating during summer months
Board game rentals / borrowing. And, space for group gaming.
More computer resource help and training. / Now usually have to go to another branch.
I like that the New Brighton location puts out the 1 day new releases to be checked out. Being a busy family, it is hard to be back the next day to return for 50 cent rentals.
I honestly have no complaints. I used to use Ramsey, Anoka, and Hennepin County Libraries but now I just come to Ramsey.
I would like the library system to add onto existing buildings rather than build new or completely tear down and rebuild. Shoreview - Maplewood - Roseville are examples where you could have built up rather than new.
Roseville -- like the coffee shop and meeting rooms.
No fees for returned library books
I really appreciate the employment and training services idea.
Really like having a library in Mound View. Thank you.
Location: Moundsview. I love the building and the layout. And, the art outside is wonderful. I feel like the inside could use more of that beautiful art and some extra color. Maybe new paint or a collection of pictures to compliment the nice structure.
A second floor would be amazing. Having more displays of cultural information, historical, events, etc. I would like to see more kids books, a larger kid/art section, organization of different types of books, more colors around the library.
More audio books
We love the outdoor kids space and kids area at the Roseville branch. At both the New Brighton and Roseville locations, we love the big windows. The New Brighton hours are pretty limited, it would be great if they were open on Sundays too.
I like being able to shelf-read rather than having to order; so primarily Roseville. As a former educator, may I suggest literacy services? For English speaking people. The current educational system is appalling. Libraries are supposed to be about words.

› st paul downtown library kids’ area had a little theater that my nieces loved to play with.
› This is an overall comment. The ‘search’ feature of the library computer system is woefully sad compared to Amazon.com. If you search for ‘Scott and Bailey’ you won’t find it. You have to search for ‘Scott and Bailey’. Amazon is much more user friendly.

Survey Question 11: WHAT WOULD YOU LIKE TO SEE AT YOUR OWN BRANCH? LIST THE LOCATION AND WHAT YOU LIKE.

- the building. Maybe a coffee shop could be added as well.
- RCL Roseville has a lot of aerial room- could an art installation be considered? RCL New Brighton is cloistered and tiny; expansion or more open-concept architecture would be wonderful.
- Coffee shop
- More private study rooms—there are only 3 here at SV library! The design of the (old) bldg was much nicer. This just seems like one big box-shaped building—which it is.
- Coffee shop
- Play areas at Washington Cty Library in Wdby. Awesome place for kids & parents in Children's area.
- Nothing I can think of
- Roseville - I like that the Children's area is totally separated so we don't have to worry about being too loud. I also like the outdoor play space for them.
- Card pay for copies
- I love that Roseville has a coffeeshop
- Roseville library coffee shop!
- Shoreview: open late on Friday & Sat. evenings, especially in winter!
- Shoreview: A librarian working in the kids' area.
- Already mentioned
- My parents (retired) have a puzzle room at their library. Large tables, wall of puzzles, chairs. They & their friends love to gather there, have coffee & do puzzles.
- WBL--ability to host bday parties in community room
- quiet
- Stop the noisy teenagers that are turning the library into a shouting arena. Very disruptive to other patrons. Games, running and shouting do belong in a library!
- coffee shop
- Nothing I can think of
- I like the coffee shop at Roseville. Otherwise Maplewood is my favorite!
- For some reason the library can be very noisy at times.
- This is my branch.
- Coffee shop: open Fridays for a few hours --North Saint Paul
- I think our libraries are great in MN!!
- A regular coffee shop/annex--type like at Roseville. These seem to do better than the restaurant concept. Coffee & books just go together. Take down the "All Are Welcome Here’’ signs. Not needed! We know this already--don't get political! Don't do anything else to increase taxes!!
- Maplewood location. Very comfortable and accommodating. However, could greatly benefit from additional study rooms. Very popular area/feature. If there were 12 rooms, all would be full daily.
- Local Artist display with web site to order their goods
- A table to leave GOOD items no longer wanted, and free for the taking of those in need.
- Children “kits” that include books & educational materials (not just puzzles) to provide enrichment for 1-4 year olds.
- I wish we had a drive-thru book drop! Nuts in winter not to have one. Coffee shop/snacks More kid crafts
- It would be nice to have more craft/painting classes for adults--not just for younger people.
- Maker stuff--3D printers, laser cutters
- Less "open"--old Maplewood library on Beam Community member collections--also old Maplewood library
- Coffee shop
- Children too loud--posted signs but NO ENFORCEMENT. Why have rules & think that solves the problem--where is the library staff?? Teen age room--bad behavior--All that $$$ spent on equipment--What a terrible wast of tax payer $$--My $$. Enforcement of rules!!
- Mahtomedi library just had a jigsaw puzzle tournament that was quite fun.
- Coffee shop

- the outdoor area at roseville!
- I am happy with this branch.
See question 5
I think Ramsey libraries are some of the best in the state.
Class on flower arranging 3D Printing & Design Demo Preserving Your Legacy—Hope I can make the presentations scheduled.
A public phone like a phone booth for those who don’t have phones.
I like seeing spines of DVDs and SV, NB, WBL, NSP. It is harder to browse DVDs by cover only at RV, MPL. End up “flipping” through cases and is time consuming. Thanks!
Large meeting room for 10-15 people, free reservations, interactive children's play areas like Ames Library.
Fantastic idea to allow early voting at Shoreview library. Nice convenience and time-saver.
The Shoreview remodel should be the standard for all libraries. --Lots of natural light, with blinds (mechanical) if needed --Lots of seating with electrical outlets --An eye for design! The design makes you want to stay at the library (and copy some design elements for your own home!)
Site to check series or trilogies by authors. Possible availability of previous books borrowed.
Maker space like the Shoreview branch.
Coffee shop
Roseville location has an outdoor area for children.
Computer area away from kids. They get very noisy at times and it is hard to concentrate. Not all adults love to hear kids screaming and loud people. At one time libraries were quiet locations to study and research. Now it’s noise noise noise noise and very annoying. Wish libraries could go back to quiet spaces they once were. It is certainly missed!
Larger collections. New Shoreview library has small collection. Taller shelves would provide more space for BOOKS! Also, Shoreview youth audiobook collection is really small.
I love my Shoreview branch. I would love a wider range of movies and new or a Minnesota author programs or sections. Home school programs!
Coffee shop. Larger play space.
More manga.
Coffee shop.
Coffee shop would be nice but don’t have to have it.
At my WA state library we were able to check out DVD series for 3 ks compared to 7 days at RCL. It was a BETTER policy.
open on lesser holidays.
WBL LIBRARY - IF YOU ARE GOING TO CONTINUE TO CLOSE THE LIBRARY ON SUNDAY'S, AT LEAST HAVE A BOOK DROP THAT HOLDS BOOKS THAT PATRONS DROP OFF. MANY, MANY TIMES I'VE DROPPED OFF BOOKS LATE SUNDAY EVENINGS AND THE BOOK DROP IS OVERFLOWING!
Roseville library is the only one I go to.
Plants, greenery inside like the library in Woodbury.
Area (indoor) to walk.
Public art; space needs to be interesting, not a warehouse. A good interesting library is the Stillwater Library.
More balanced viewpoints in new materials purchased. I have noticed that several materials of one viewpoint have been retired from the library. What has been coming in is a overwhelmingly one sided. Please work hard to provide both sides equally.
nothing to add.
Hennepin County - Maple Grove and Brooklyn Park, Children's area. fireplace (shoreview).
NA.
North St. Paul: a Kuerig coffeemaker! :)
I LOVE, LOVE, LOVE THE SHOREVIEW LIBRARY. IT HAS GREAT EXHIBITIONS WHICH I TRY NOT TO MISS. THIS NEW LIBRARY SEEMS TO HAVE MUCH NEWER BOOKS. THE READING AREAS ARE FULL OF SUNLIGHT.
more collections, larger facility.
Less glaring, more natural lighting. Less of a bare, cold, warehouse-like atmosphere both visually &

Survey Question 11  WHAT WOULD YOU LIKE TO SEE AT YOUR OWN BRANCH? LIST THE LOCATION AND WHAT YOU LIKE.

- Experientially. Roseville staff members are very relaxed and friendly, which is a huge plus.
- Individual study space, quiet area such as at Maplewood or Roseville
- I like that Maplewood is open on Sundays.
- I love my library
- Less sterility, more cozy
- Roseville library more videos!
- Lucky Day Program at Rondo Community Outreach Library (see #3)
- Roseville is a great space, great staff, love the coffee shop
- Climbing for kids. More open area for kids to play
- Bigger room for comfort room
- Wentworth Library, St. Paul has a glass enclosed computer room—makes it quiet. Appreciate the extended computer use that Roseville offers
- Signage to return newspapers to the current rack with the sections in proper order.
- More textbooks, more non-fiction.
- Life plants. Print directories
- Better distribution of DVDs and music material. The way they are display right now is very inconvenient.
- Food options at Maplewood
- Periodical sale—room like book sale—used magazine for; like, 25 cents.
- Collaborating w/ Science Museum as was done previously at Rice St. Library. I volunteered on Sat’s & outreach was amazing.
- More public events, especially on social justice/education
- Here at Roseville, my FAVORITE library by far; it would be great if study rooms were more available, rather than monopolized for hours.
- The Roseville Library has a way better selection but I prefer the Shoreview location.
- Free zoo passes to check out. Free passes to plays or Broadway shows. Free or discounted restaurant passes.
- Bookstore in Seoul, South Korea. It has a huge wooden staircase that people can sit and read books. Children were there to play but they were not loud. It was a comfortable setting to relax and enjoy a nice book. Maybe have small table to drink coffee?
- White Bear Lake—hot coffee, more comfy seats
- Georgetown, Ontario, Canada has electronic checkout where you can check out books using an app on your phone. That’s really nice and convenient!
- Saint Anthony Park—I like Roseville’s children’s space, books & toys & outdoor space way better. Alisa at SAP does amazing story time though—would be cool to check her out & learn from. Very involved, engaging, props, themes, etc. & they do bands & kid’s shows & such that are great. (animals, etc) More than I’ve noticed here. But maybe I’m not paying enough attn.
- Classes—yoga, tai chi
- Renewals at checkout by swiping card (see St. Paul’s system)
- Coffee shop - Roseville Areas where you can work privately that are quiet - Shoreview
- Richfield Library—when I used it, it was so quiet.
- Lake St Hennepin - tai chi class
- More comfy seating, adult quiet space by fireplace
- A mobile website at least.
- I like seeing other types of non-book materials available at libraries - maybe art, specialized baking pans, etc.
- Overdrive. Anoka still has it. Ramsey County Library used to have it and the Cloud Library is good, but it doesn’t work with Kindle e-readers. Also, if you stick with Cloud Library, it would be great if you enabled the request feature. Right now it says Ramsey County Library doesn’t participate.
- Fireplace--nice amenity
- Maker space
- I love you Rosy can service library
- Roseville and Shoreview - ample meeting/study/program space.
- More computer classes
- Roseville
- I like what I’ve seen at the NYC Public Library. If you haven’t seen the documentary “Ex Libris: The New York Public Library” check it out
- Roseville has an amazing children’s section. I don’t think it’s realistic with the space New Brighton has. But a toy update or swap with other branches might be nice.

› Roseville is a wonderful library!
› Concordia library  Late hours openings
› Roseville--just about everything  Great library!
› Drive through
› More study spaces. Separate area for teens. They are too loud and swearing is grounds for having to leave including “Nigga”
› White Bear should have a curb cut in front of its entry so people with mobility problems can get in from the street. It is bad, and am embarrassment, that there is no curb cut.
› I just wish there was snack options. It could even be vending machines.
› I like the way the Shoreview branch displays their DVDs. Side by side, not front to back
› I like that there is a place for young adults to gather a the Maplewood library. I think that would be nice at the White Bear library as well.
› summer reading program for kids and teens
› Keep our nice Maplewood windows! The new Shoreview library is very nice--I love the new, clean and comfy desk chairs; the quieter separation of the teen space. In Roseville, I like the outside garden and stepping stones. Here at Maplewood, I like the larger used book area and the many, many racks for free papers, magazines, info!
› N/A
› Maplewood. More separate kids area so less noisy in adult area.
› Periodicals area for browsing, coffee in area for adults, face out new book displays which are located near the entrance/exit.
› Free ece classes
› I like that you are quiet and have more open hours. I wish you had more tables and chairs where I can sit, write, study, etc. I like that you have comfortable chairs (by a fireplace!) where I can just read.
› Updated children’s area  White Bear -- floor mat
› I would like: “movie viewing rooms” where movies can be checked out and viewed in private library rooms which are equipped with movie view device for up to 2 to 8 people.
› I LOVE the fireplace at the WBL library. We choose that area to read in.
› Roseville has a nice library. I don’t feel like we want for much.
› Roseville: ‘more butterflies’ (from my 8 year old)
› Roseville: I like the open, airy atmosphere of the facility, along with the welcoming and knowledgable staff.
› Adult - Online and at the Library - test and work on my brain skills (I had a TBI & have been on Disability. Nothing to keep my brain active.) I’m getting paid to do nothing. I have problems with anxiety and depression and isolate.
› Cloquet Library has computers for toddlers and children with reading, learning, and drawing programs.I don’t remember if Ramsey libraries have this.
› Many libraries have a quiet place for seniors to read on the main level.
› I would love to see the Maplewood location mirror the Roseville Library make-over. Just more natural elements in the décor.
› I would like to see an enhanced system for downloading audiobooks, RB digital has a lot of problems and it impacts my experience
› Remind people they are in a library... be quiet so others can concentrate in quiet settling.
› I like the library system as it is - no complaints or need to improve much - other than perhaps hours of operation.
› Sound proof area for children
› Maplewood/White Bear Lake: would love some kind of coffee/food option.
› More soft seating to melt into a chair and read for a couple of hours.
› I lived in Orlando, Florida for a time, and the Orange County library system has delivery! You can request your books online and a bookmobile will bring them to your house! You need to return them to a physical library. When we moved I mourned the loss of library delivery. It made the years when getting out with small children is extremely challenging so much easier. I also marveled at how this would affect the elderly and those with limited transportation. When we moved here I wondered how library delivery would change someone’s life, especially in the middle of winter when transportation can be challenging for everyone. I haven’t a clue as to how the Orange County Library managed the delivery system, but I loved it. Maybe library delivery in the winter?

› larger buildings with more resources!
› I would like to see more programming for middle school and high school kids.
› More new books!
› Longer hours and seven days a week.
› Easily accessible quiet areas for handicapped people to sit down and read.
› Roseville New DVD’s presentation Dunn Brothers coffee
› Possibly more hands-on things for kids, like the Brooklyn Park library
› I think the Roseville branch is a great location with terrific services available. In truth, the only thing that stands out is that the library staff isn’t always as friendly and welcoming as I experience at other locations. It’s not major, but it’s the one thing that really stands out.
› Hardwood Creek in Forest Lake frequently displays art.
› I have only seen table-top gaming available for teens, but as a young adult, I can confirm that gaming for adults would attract me to the library more often.
› The expansion at Shoreview should have included coffee shop similar to Roseville. It would increase traffic to library for sure.
› Classes, or maybe just a on-line tutorial on library resources that can be used with a home computer, download books etc. OK, it’s most likely already there. I just need to do it :)”
› Lessons that teach arts, crafts or whatever. Don’t know if I’ve seen them anywhere.
› I am frequently impressed by the size of the Roseville branch’s collection.
› A library I recently visited had a large room for quiet study. I loved this! People who wanted to do group work stayed out and people who wanted to work on their own were able to concentrate.
› Coffee shop at Roseville - I would like to see this at the Shoreview branch. :)
› Coffee shop at Roseville - I would like to see this at the Shoreview branch. :)”
› Maplewood - a quieter area so all taxpayers can enjoy the space. Also, give the employees a longer leash so they can try to keep the library controlled when chaos arrives...
› Consistent schedule (hard to remember which days WBL opens at 1:00); would love to be able to go on Sundays; I would love for Ramsey County to contact Dakota County Library System and implement the “Quick Picks” books which allow people to check out paperback books that and have no specific return date. They have a specific Quick Pick section in the library and books are noted by a bright orange sticker “Quick Picks”…they are great books to take on a trip and return when you are done. I continue to donate books to Dakota County so they can add them to the Quick Pick section. I lived in Dakota County for 57 years and LOVED these quick pick books as well as heard others talk about this. When I moved to WBL and shared this idea with someone at the Ramsey County library they looked at me like I was crazy! Even the Brainerd MN Public library have a Quick Pick section that my 90 year old mother uses!! Something to seriously think about. They don’t use any bar codes they simply have patrons in Dakota County tell the check out desk how many books they are taking. The books are simply put on a shelf in no specific order but in the specified Quick Pick Section. Dakota County keeps track of data on how many books are checked out and the program is POPULAR with patrons.....Thank you for considering this idea.
› Activities to build community - like lessons on how to make an item. I like the Make-It space, and it... would be fun to have a group lesson on something.

- My needs are pretty simple - to get materials, sometimes use the computers or to read. I would just like it to be more quiet; perhaps a little more privacy between the individual computers (mostly for security). I LOVE the library - THANK YOU!!

- I would like to see a place where I can make a complaint immediately.

- A coffee shop with snacks.

- Roseville - vending and/or coin machines

- Copenhagen Library with a beautiful coffee shop open to the library, extended hours that allowed library use w/o full services and diverse design.

- Downtown Minneapolis: research facilities

- Love Roseville just the way it is

- The Shoreview location seems to have controlled noise from children much better. And there is NO STINK from burning coffee.

- Tea and food. Much more quiet areas. The library in Woodbury attached to the YMCA has a nice, large quiet space.

- Magazine exchange (leave one/take one)

- Chinese language books at one of the Hennepin County branches.

- A nice area for coffee/snacks would be nice.

- Ramsey County Library is the best in the state.

- What I previously stated/selected.

- Roseville - enjoy everything; would be great to have later hours.

- Nothing really stood out at any other locations.

- Climbing type play. Outdoor play for kids when nice out all locations.

- more availability of books offered

- Shoreview they have longer evening & WEEKEND HRS also I like the art display that rotates

- United States of America (U.S.A.) Major Big Large Cities Newspapers Rack Column Area Like Besides New York City, Chicago, Los Angeles.

- I love the Roseville Ramsey Co. Library - it is user friendly - includes staff/location/actual library - The programs are insightful - I have lived in a few states and am thrilled with this library.

- More advanced computer programs (Audacity, Adobe video/audio editing)

- Snack machine

- Media center where we can use special computers with photo editing software, transfer old video tapes, record audio and other creative endeavors. Saw this at the Eagan library and loved it!

- Maplewood library is TOO loud and unfriendly/unwelcoming for families, studying, and overall enjoyment. The teen area is a PROBLEM!! Teen gaming on the computers, "hanging out", loud talking and cursing makes it too loud and not welcoming at all!!

- Maplewood Library has better hours than White Bear Lake

- Approachable staff like they have at New Brighton Library. I find New Brighton is always available and friendly.

- Drive through drop off

- Roseville: Adult collection on the first floor;

- Librarian help to get audio book set up on devises. they say they can’t???

- The collections at other than Roseville need expanding: interlibrary loans need more flexibility, like renewal possibility.

- Maplewood, North Saint Paul

- Book club especially mystery

- More study rooms and more librarians to help

- The other place I like to go is the Maplewood Community Center. Maybe more opportunities for physical activity when people need a break from reading or studying? Like the examples I’m this article: https://www.lappset.com/News-and-updates/Blogs-and-articles/10-reasons-why-outdoor-training-is-better-than-a-gym-workout

- None

- Playground

- The kids area closed off so it’s quieter in the adult areas (Roseville Library) Silent vs. Quiet areas (whisper/group work/quiet games, etc.) for adults. University of Minnesota Duluth had every other floor silent vs. quiet and everyone was required to

Survey Question 11  WHAT WOULD YOU LIKE TO SEE AT YOUR OWN BRANCH? LIST THE LOCATION AND WHAT YOU LIKE.

- take calls in the stairway. It was wonderful.
- You have what other libraries have...
- MORE MANGA
- St. Paul public library
- Reading areas
- The Ramsey Public Library - Roseville that I frequent does lack a gender neutral bathroom, which is something that is becoming a standard all across the metro, I see, as it is a conscientious evolution. If you want to catch the curve, you may consider this seriously.
- quiet no food
- downtown MPLS branch, you have to pay for your printed copies before you can print them, there is a pay machine next to the printer.
- I love the quiet spaces at the Stillwater library. It’s not so open like the newer Ramsey county libraries so noise doesn’t travel as easily. It’s cozier and more welcoming to actually read. I like being there. In the newer Ramsey libraries, all I want to do is get my materials and get out of there...
- Minnehaha avenue and snelling library has a good staff. No cell phones/talking allowed enforced.
- Small seated area for coffee and snacks.
- The Roseville Library is the best Library I’ve been to.
- Why can’t I select more than one age range below? My children are 5 and 8. My kids like the outdoor play area at Roseville and the Lego Room at Shoreview. I’d like the Graphic Novel section to be more prominent at every library in every age category, with a sign on top of the stacks.
- More programs for seniors! Quiet areas with computer access!
- We used to live in Arkansas and they have a fantastic library in Fayetteville -- there was a great children’s area with a separate computer space for kids so that it didn’t infringe and compete with the books and other areas. Also, they had a nice area with huge windows were there was lots of comfortable seating and rugs and it was a great place to read aloud and play with kids. Would also be great to have a low barrier to the children’s area so that if you are in there you can let your kids walk (keeping an eye on them, of course), but know that they can’t escape.
- more computers at Maplewood and white bear lake
- Roseville library - Dunn Bros. Coffee
- I don’t think the library has to try too hard to be much other than it is. Our very favorite library (The SPPL Hamline Midway library) is tiny and hardly offers any “extra” services, but it has kind librarians and a cozy library feel. Sometimes it’s okay for a library to just be a library! :)”
- Naples FL libraries-small auditorium holds frequent free concerts, yoga and meditation classes, craft classes etc.
- I think the RCL is pretty good the way it is and doesn’t need much to improve it.
- More new movies and not have to pay .50/day
- I like the attached coffee shop at the Roseville library. I don’t want there to be food and drink allowed in the library, but it is nice to be able to check out a book and read it in a coffee shop. Library and coffee shop should be separate but nice to have next to each other.
- I would like training on the VA Health System at the Roseville library.
- The Roseville library is the best (& busiest) library I have ever used. GOOD WORK!
- More books - I often am not able to find them at this location. I know that we can request but I am reading a book at the time that it comes in and then I don’t want to hold it up for the next person
- More on-line databases, and more that can be accessed from outside the library. Even more important- better user friendly interface. Another thought - if Ramsey County doesn’t have something - quick access to other county libraries that do.
- Roseville: a non-cafe talking/social space would be nice. (Dunnbros is really loud, and I don’t always want a coffee)
- More DVD’s. Having the entire series. If one season gets damaged or lost then be sure to replace it. Frequently clean or repair DVD’s. Too many have horrible large skips and the story is lost.
› Brighter colors—more inviting  More check out desks scattered throughout  Coffee Shop w/lunch options  Outdoor play and reading area that’s safe for kids (Roseville)
› Madison library has a music instrument check out program.
› I love the library, maybe just more comfortable seating and bigger parking lot.
› Seating for group offerings
› More living plants, aquariums, small trees and tv monitor
› online scheduling of meeting space
› Roseville and Maplewood branches are open, on M through Th nights, till 9 p.m. It helps tremendously when I am working in the evenings to be able to stop in then.
› A warmer more inviting atmosphere
› more small study spaces, additional internet options
› Teen gaming space @ Shoreview similar to that of WBL, Maplewood, & Roseville
› Honestly, this one has everything
› This may be out of the box type suggestion, but in the winter, could there be a high humidity room with plants, similar to Como or Mpls sculpture garden?
› I love it as is. Such a great gift to people, Libraries. They should be packed by citizens every day.
› media-consuming area -- watch video, listen to music
› Stillwater, MN -- artwork and displays in glass case
› N/A
› A coffee bar would be amazing, especially given the Eagle’s Nest location it would be highly utilized.
› Can’t think of anything, they’re all the same.
› Roseville location has a really nice Dunn Bros. in its space. Nothing has worked at the Maplewood location, but maybe a bigger name would? I love sitting in the café area and drinking coffee.
› You asked for it. Outdoor seating with shade would be great, either garden-like, with trees, “fences” with vines, or tables with umbrellas or some other method of providing shade...In my wildest dreams a water feature such as a stand alone small fountain would be delightful! ohmygosh I have hit the oldest category!!!  LOL!
› North St. Paul is closed on Friday. I’d like that open.
› Maplewood is very nice - it’s layout is good, décor bright and open - no changed recommended by me
› Cheaper cost at printers.  Hennepin and Anoka county (.10)  St Paul (.15)
› A warmer atmosphere aka St Anthony Park. Roseville is so industrial and cold.
› NA
› North St Paul - Much quieter compared to Maplewood.
› A fireplace at the WBL library. The new WBL library has lost the “coziness” of the old WBL library. It’s now just one big, open, white space so I think a fireplace would help.
› Coffee shop
› I used to love sitting at the old location in the winter, looking out over the lights at the Community Center. I don’t think we can do that with the new orientation.
› George Latimer Library - Saturday live.  Merriam Park library- downstairs area for concerts.
› White Bear Lake, I’d like a coffee place that has a variety of drinks and snacks.
› Better patrons that do not abuse parking and do not leave trash on book shelves.
› I appreciate local artwork and authors featured at the library. I like stopping to unwind after work. A coffee shop would be nice.
› Roseville. Reasonably priced food & beverage options, snack bar; am not a ‘coffee’ drinker during times I visit the library.
› My six children and I frequently visit our library and occasionally visit others in the Twin Cities. We enjoy libraries that are close to other attractions like parks, walking space, or city spaces.
› 1. Free phone charging stations.  2. More seating in front of the windows that have such a lovely view of the city!!
› Rice Street Branch is closest to me, it has limited hours, loud children, and the Wi-Fi doesn’t allow my older ipod to get access to the internet, what I like is the bus stop is right outside the door.

› Mound views - love the kids graphic novel section, well laid out & labeled to highlight the novels my 10 year old would like. New Brighton - separate kids & adult area is nicely laid out & the librarians there are fantastic & very knowledgeable  Roseville - the lighted sticks kids can play with, the separate upstairs with lots of desk & space near windows to study Shoreview - great layout for a library as well.

› Closed in area for loud people,& kids

› book sales

› having north st paul library hours same as maplewood library hours

› I do not like the noisy teen space at the Maplewood Library, and I would not want that at the North St. Paul Library.

› Coffee :)

› Maplewood’s reading area.

› North St Paul - open on Friday

› Valley Branch, Washington Co.--expanded hours

› Computers where you stand to use them and only good for 15 minutes then shut down.

› Starbucks or Caribou Coffee like at Roseville. An art display in the Community Room at certain times of year.

› technology learning center; listening center; art installations, arts and crafts, community garden seating area, rooftop garden, board game night, shared learning rooms, self-check electronic devices, reading porches/gazebo, gift shop  - Middleton, WI “Middleton Library - Austin, TX “Austin Public Library Central”

› A coffee shop and work resources.

› Library hours 9AM to about 6PM Monday through Friday. New Brighton opens before 10AM for special children programs. Some people pound on the door thinking the library opens at an earlier time. Lets end the confusion and have the library doors open at the same time for everyone. I also see when the doors open one person often races to the DVD’s and takes most of the DVD’s available. It is a shame that some are not courteous, perhaps having a limit on checkouts needs to be in effect and would correct this problem

› Other libraries on a single level: access to my frequently used spaces on the ground level.

› It’s not a library space, but I would like the e-book system to be more like St Paul Public Library’s--able to use a Kindle app, easier to navigate digital catalog.

› Smaller, cozier lounge spaces at the Roseville Library like the fireplace room at the New Brighton Library. Maker-space like at the downtown St Paul Library. More inviting outdoor patio space for the summertime, with better sun-protection/shade landscape elements. Low-tox landscaping for pollinators (labeled as such). Master gardener and related program collaborations.

› Inter-Library Loan options for resources outside MELSA system, for more specialized materials. The University of MN libraries have something like this for students/faculty.

› movies are alpha by drama, mystery, action, etc. Easier to find instead of just throwing everything just using alpha. Maplewood Librarby

› Gallery space for art or photo exhibitions. I love it when the Roseville area schools artwork is on display. Could this be expanded to other schools or artists/photographers/potters etc.

› Roseville’s “friends” area

› Movie night

› Roseville Library DVD section should go vertical shelving like Shoreview. Makes browsing much easier.

› Quiet.

› Numerous large, well-filled bookshelves and plenty of comfortable well-lit seating areas are what I like best to see at libraries. Walking into a recently renovated library and finding both greatly diminished is always depressing.

› The WBL library is exemplary--the staff is so helpful!

› This branch is good as is.

› New Brighton. I love the location, especially because it makes it easy for a diverse group of people to have access to the library. I would like this location to have the same or very similar hours to the family service center. It could also be bigger with private study rooms/ carols.
› Cafe/Food options (example Starbucks); more private seating areas. There are currently not enough spaces.
› community events such as a small music ensemble concert, and more events such as the fix-it clinics (though I can’t think of some other type right now).
› Roseville is already amazing, so I’m stretching, but highly thematic children’s room experience. Theme park style. Frankly getting the other branches to Roseville level is more important though.
› Shoreview has a warmer, more welcoming atmosphere
› group meeting space
› I’ve patronned libraries that off board games for families. These would be a welcomed addition for families
› A bigger collection (always need more books! :) but requests are usually pretty quick.
› only go to Maplewood
› More color and visually appealing. The shoreview library is toondull looking and not appealing for a new space. It looks old and not modern. It would be nice to see more things for children to play with like the Roseville library has.
› Ramsey county Maplewood, love the deck, tables with view over wet land. Ramsey co, Shoreview, gallery space for adult artists,
› We really enjoy the downtown St. Paul library though the hours are not as convient for our schedule. They seem to have more of the variety of books that we are looking for an otherwise have to reserve at other libraries.
› Unlimited computer time like Hennepin county.
› Online accounts having the ability to compile a book list
› Highland Park library doesn’t really have adult hangout space
› I think of all the library locations and I have visited most of them, Roseville is the best!! I love the open spaces and yet the small away from others spaces and the designated areas for kids, teens and adults.
› White Bear coffee shp
› I’m pretty happy with the library as it is.
› more books
› Johnson City Tennessee -- more audio books on CD -- different variety from what you carry now -- more popular books
› More plants
› More makerspace opportunities at the Maplewood Library
› Fireplaces; like the preceding Roseville location. And the more multicultural supportive the better.
› Programs that are offered at Roseville , etc.special events( speakers etc) are always at the other locations. Book Pages. Website like Hennepin Co has re: upcoming books
› You do a great job accommodating, already!
› List or shelving that allows you to instantly identify foreign films in DVD collections. (Eau Claire, WI, years ago)
› Maplewood Mall would be an ideal location. I would love to have public computers there!!!
› quiet room to rest and spend time with your kids.
› Coffee shop or snack bar per Main Ramsey County Library in Roseville.
› Shoreview~ The library is very quiet @all times, staff are more aware; the chairs at the computer stations are more comfortable & there are 2 printers near the computer stations. All other libraries I have been at are also quiet.
› Free tax services. Maybe a cafe.
› N/A
› park grove library lots of small tables but hey I LOVE the Roseville library, not much improvement is needed hell its the most visited library in mn.
› Streaming video
› A specific art gallery space like the downtown Mpls location on the Nicollet Mall. I like that after hours events “In the Stacks” at the downtown St. Paul library.
› coffee

› Roseville - Dunn Brothers / Big work tables
› Northtown branch of the Anoka Cty Library has a comfortable reading area in a sunny place. It is very inviting to sit and sample a book to see if you might want to check it out.
› I like Roseville library’s children play area options for all ages.
› Having a website browser like google chrome at the Southdale Library on 70th and York that can load pages on websites that Roseville can’t.
› Hold lockers at George Latimer downtown library
› I would love to have overdrive back. I love to read books on my kindle, even if I have to wait for the books. A bigger selection of books, movies, cds.
› Meditation room for all faiths is what I would like to see. No, I haven’t been to other locations yet.
› I like the space of the Maplewood library. I feel like everything isn’t as crunched together. I like White Bear because it’s within walking distance of my place of residence, but if I’m ever with a friend and we want to do something like write or read, I always go to Maplewood.
› I like the light wall with pegs at the roseville library
› I like the large open spaces and Dunn Bros in the Roseville library. We’ve visited the library in Wausau, WI and they have an AWESOME children’s space that has a smart board, fish tank, bathtub and spaces for kids to do hands on learning.
› Roseville has a return right by the car window which is handy that you don’t even have to get out of the car; New Brighton (I think?) has a kid’s are that’s a little more contained/ half separate room which is great to keep track of multiple kids.
› No fees for children’s overdue materials like at St. Paul.
› See above in the survey.
› Roseville: More BOOKS: the number of books per square foot should be higher than what I have at home. And more OLD books.
› I would like to see improvements to the Ramsey County Libraries website in general. I think the search function needs a lot of improvement, as well as allowing for us to create a log in user name instead of inputting the very long barcode. Also, some improvement to the reserve a book feature on the website and the membership portal. Needs major updates.
› A warmer softer design that makes me want to sit down and read.
› Roseville - the space is light and open but always feels cool to me. Ways to warm up the atmosphere/ environment would be great.
› Solarium
› I would love a space where my friends and I could play dungeons and dragons › Roseville location Friday and Saturday evening hours. It could be a great place for families and teens to hang out on a weekend night.
› I remember seeing more crafts or science activities offered at Other libraries this summer. Wish those were closer.
› Better hours for Mounds View branch. Not enough daytime hours to pick up holds.
› Shoreview: Less grouchy librarians. I can name a handful that I have interacted with. Most are great, but others are quite unfriendly. Makes you not want to interact with those librarians.
› More quiet study rooms  The library gets really loud with kids running around, etc.
› The library gets really loud with kids running around, etc.
› Large play structures- Brooklyn Park library
› Saturday storytimes
› Shoreview: A coffee shop is a nice addition. an area of green space with flowers/green plants to sit in is nice too.
› The Duluth library had a puzzle out for people to work on and also some large version games like Connect Four. Fun and interactive.
› Creative space
› Ridgedale Library - quiet, comfortable seating areas for reading and study
› More blu-ray DVDs and I wish they followed up with the suggestions and/or requests I’ve made. I like that I can request a DVD the library doesn’t currently offer, but none of them have materialized. It’s disappointing.

› Kids area that have larger toys to climb into like the tree or kitchen- maple wood
› Coffee shop, expand children’s area
› Better, more expanded reference library, along with response feature for why donations are or are not accepted.
› WBL: separate children’s area so you wouldn’t feel like you are disturbing the rest of the library. Co-working spaces and small enclosed enclaves to work and read in.
› Return library to classic function and stop movement to turn library into community centers. Teach people how to “find answers” using library capability.
› Hennepin co. Website Free BookPage
› the wayzata and new moundsview branches seems to have more quiet areas
› More comfortable seating in a larger area. Coffee shop or available coffee. Create a space that is comfortable for seniors to gather. Also offer more program choices for children at the White Bear Library. There are more program options for children at other Ramsey Co. libraries.
› Close the branch library and create an easy to use online system.
› water feature, such as water fall
› any that remember what a library is for-not trying to be everything, it’s for BOOKS. also having books on the 1st floor, not up formidable steps. Bill Gates should have built his own computer-libraries, like Carnegie did
› I use to live in the Roseville area, and that is by far my favorite. Now I live in White Bear, however, I find this library has limited hours and I tend to go to the Maplewood location. However the Maplewood location really isn’t big enough for the population that can be there at times. The place gets busy and loud.
› Bigger used book store area,
› Not for me, but there are members of the community who do not worship on Sunday mornings and might appreciate hours starting at 8:00 a.m. A space for socializing for older adults. Places for young families to have private reading time, especially if they are unable to attend current story times.
› The ability to have more books available, although I know space is limited. Would perhaps like to see a solution to having to use the back entrance only during the winter months because of the risk of snow/ice coming down on the front entrance—this is just a minor complaint.
› Shoreview is my branch. (1) I’d like to see history programming on par with what’s available at Roseville. (2) How about some after hours music programming that highlights the musical cultures of the library’s diverse patronage (J.S.Bach on his birthday, classical south Asian for Diwali, etc.) (3) An adult science fiction book club (I’d be all over that!)
› Roseville coffee shop and political speakers, i.e. Prof. David Schultz. Larger parking lot.
› White Bear Lake. Warm, cozy, no homeless people, longer hours, a coffee shop and cafe with food.
› I loved the old Shoreview library, easy access parking, easy access to the staff, the layout of the library, art displays, dual access to parking lot. I don’t like anything about this new one.
› more open hours
› A library like Shoreview’s
› The Roseville Library is already at least a B+!
› Roseville outdoor book drop off
› Coffee shop. Shoreview
› coffee/hot cocoa machine
› My branch is Shoreview and since it is so new there is very little that I see needs updating.
› Roseville - less industrial feel
› variety of books. It Seems like White Bear Lake doesn’t always have the same selection that Maplewood or Roseville/Shoreview has.
Survey Question 11  WHAT WOULD YOU LIKE TO SEE AT YOUR OWN BRANCH? LIST THE LOCATION AND WHAT YOU LIKE.

› I would like more space for the bookstore like we had at the old library.
› New Brighton - it seems to have a somewhat sterile feel upon entering. I love the ‘feel’ of the Ely library. N/B - More private/quiet space for us that ‘need’ more personal space to read. The videos are not the easiest to search through...always have to crane my neck sideways to scan through all the titles which is awkward and I often don’t even bother to look through those on the bottom couple of rows - it’s just too uncomfortable to stoop down.
› Roseville is great, but it seems at or close to capacity during the hours that I’m there, so I’d just say, “more!”
› my main complaint is that Ramsey Co. Libraries no longer support overdrive for my kindle so I have to go through the Hennepin Co. library for that › Book clubs that provide the book for each member. Saw this at the Chesterfield library in the St. Louis MO area.
› Stillwater Public Library - great individual/2 person study rooms (wish it had more too) New York Public Library - great collection of rare newspapers on microfilm Tisch Library at Tufts University - microform readers that allowed one to scan in what one was reading; creating it as a PDF
› Replace audiobook CDs with the self contained audiobooks that St. Paul libraries have where you just add batteries and headphones and you can listen to the audiobook.
› I do like to buy books, perhaps sell books or other materials. I definitely like that Dunn Bros is attached to the library.
› Downtown library in Mpls. public artwork, painting, sculpture, etc.
› story time specifically for older kids like 6-10 year olds with a professional storyteller.
› Shoreview, MN - comfortable, inviting space to read magazines, newspapers, etc. McMinnville, OR - designated “silent area” - no talking, no devices; just quiet.
› Newly added or new release list, book club. Seasonal home/yard care classes or presentations. Various Creative Writing Classes. Farmers Market (Wknds, in parking lot).
› Mounds View: open late on Tues and open on Sunday
› It’s small and simple but meaningful to me: I would like to be able to opt out of a paper checkout receipt. I don’t need or want it, and it wastes resources.
› Expanded voting hours later than 6 pm.
› Roseville: more study and group space
› Maplewood-outdoor deck seating and nature walking path behind building
› Better speakers, programs like at rosedale, but our community room is small for what they draw
› St Paul library offers a lot of free craft classes, like tinker tuesdays. I wish you had that. Also more fix it clinics. I went to one at Roseville but would like more access. My parents’ library in Dakota county has a “lucky you” bookshelf where they have new books that are in high demand, like the kind on rental shelves, but if you see one there you can take it. No reserving or renting, just lucky you.
› More community events, speakers, authors
› Roseville library- huge separate kids play area with toys, outdoor kids area, play kitchen and other toys for kids
› na
› Legos
› We are impressed with selections in cds and dvds at roseville.
› Roseville is a GREAT library
› more cozy, less institutional
› Coffee shop.
› more little cubbies for the kids to curl up in and read
› Minneapolis Central...creativity in book kiosk displays by checkout. Too many to count...less jarring color scheme than the one in Roseville. Can’t STAND that green.
› I can’t think of anything, I’m quite happy with my
I wish the Roseville branch was warmer - more comfortable overall.

I think it would be cool to have a TerraCycle bin. I had seen libraries that do battery or cell phone recycling. I would like to see more of this type of community service at the library or community center (Shoreview). I think it would be great if there was some “creative” space that could get a little messy at times. A well-organized collection of “maker” materials for that space would make it so fun to experiment with. I like the 3d printer, but some lower tech options would be fun too - sewing machine, glue guns, acrylic paints and brushes, canvases, embroidery supplies, etc. I’ve also seen libraries with sound mixing boards and sound proof recording studio space, which would be amazing to have! Things that are difficult to easily have at home would be wonderful to share at the library. A popular service like blue apron delivers meals, but maybe the library could be a pick up spot for CSAs? Grab your CSA and do a recipe exchange? or check out a cookbook? Another popular thing I’ve seen is a clothing swap. People bring in certain types of clothing at a certain day and anyone who comes can take what they need. Leftovers go to charity.

Quilting groups. Foreign policy discussion groups

Food/beverage options & space where it’s okay to relax, read, work and enjoy my refreshments.

Comfy couches to sit and read.

Engagement boards were brought to each of the RCL branches. Library users were invited to write their opinions on what’s next for the library on sticky notes and/or put a sticky note on images that resonated with that they love about the library.

5K volunteers needed! We're seeking volunteers to help out at the May 18 Book It 5K Walk/Run as race marshals. Race marshals are positioned along the course to direct and encourage participants as they walk and run from the Ramsey County Library in Maplewood through Maplewood's Central Park. Volunteers can be any age; it's a fun way for a family or group to volunteer together, but do need to be able to stand for a few hours or plan to bring a chair. Please email rcfriendslibrary@gmail.com by May 14 if you're interested. Volunteers receive free yellow 5K shirts!

We love this! Reduce waste! Don't toss it, fix it! Ramsey County, Minnesota hosts Fix-it Clinics around Ramsey County on a monthly basis. Residents bring in small household appliances, clothing, electronics and more to receive free guided assistance from volunteers with repair skills to disassemble, troubleshoot and fix items. The next Fix-it Clinic is coming up on May 19th at the Ramsey County Library in Maplewood.

Friendly staff. Nice place for a relaxing atmosphere.
This is a relatively new library. The building is well designed including a designated area for teenagers and great staff. The Library is welcoming to everyone including teenagers spending time there after school. There's a Dunn Brothers coffee shop attached for your caffeine fix.

Hi Lonnie,
The library in Roseville has two scanners, they are integrated into our copy machines, one on the first and one on the second floor.

Let us know if you have any more concerns.

There are 2 copy machines with scanning capability at Roseville Library. However, bring a USB flash drive with you because you can only scan to a flash drive, NOT directly to an email or other destination. Once you have scanned to the flash drive, you can then use a public computer to email it. Scanning is free at the Roseville Library.

Do you guys have a printer that prints in color? If so how much is it in color?
