

SUMMER BREAK @HOME

with your Library

Tell Your Story

Read. Make. Do. Kit!

Stories are all around us! You have the story of your life inside your head, ready to be shared. This program kit will teach you about the various ways people document their lives, and features activities like zine making and letter writing to help you tell your own stories. It includes the book Same Sun Here by Silas House and Neela Vaswani, a novel in letters between Meena, an Indian immigrant living in New York City, and River, a boy living in the coal-rich mountains of Kentucky.

The activities in the kit will require a few items from home to complete. They include:

- A pen or pencil
- Scissors

That's it! Get creative and use markers, colored pencils, crayons, construction paper and glue, or anything else you can think to make your creations your own. Now let's get started!